Soviet Refuses to See C'wealth Peace Group

First Official Reply by Reds

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today rejected a proposal by the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference to send a four-man peace mission to Moscow, the official Tass news agency reported.

The proposal was presented today by British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan and the envoys from Ghana and Nigeria.

Tass said the Soviet government declined the proposal because it had not been authorized by anybody to conduct talks on a settlement in Viet Nam.

The agency, quoting "available information," said the Soviets told them the peace mission should address themselves to the "victims of aggression"—North Viet Nam and the National Front Liberation (Viet Cong).

★ ★ ★

"They should have also addressed, in the opinion of the Soviet government, the government of the United States with an appeal to stop its interference in Viet Nam," Tass said.

Russia is the first of the three Communist states to give an official reply, although both China and North Viet Nam have made clear in public statements that the mission will not be welcome in Peking and Hanoi.

The three envoys presented the appeal to Premier Alexei Kosygin at the Kremlin. It asked that the prime ministers of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago be admitted to discuss a peace move.

The mission, headed by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, originally was to have included Ceylon but Premier Dudley Senanayake declined on grounds he was too busy.

UNANIMOUS choice as the British Commonwealth's first secretary-general was Arnold Smith, Canada's 50-year-old assistant deputy external affairs minister. His term of office will run for five years.

WILSON DECLINES TO STEP DOWN

LONDON (CP)—After conferring with a Chinese diplomat, Kenya's external affairs minister, Joseph Murumbi, asked Prime Minister Wilson to step down as head of the Commonwealth peace mission. There is no indication, however, that Wilson will do so.

Murumbi and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana held separate talks Tuesday with Hsiang Hsiang-hui, China's charge d'affaires in London. It was understood part of the discussions dealt with the peace mission's prospects of visiting Peking and Hanoi and part with Chinese attempts to persuade the 13 Afro-Asian Commonwealth leaders to attend the Afro-Asian summit at Algiers June 29.

There has been widespread reports in the British press that many of the Afro-Asian leaders are dissatisfied with the choice of Wilson as peace mission leader on the grounds that he is too closely associated with the United States position in the Vietnamese war.

PEARSON UNWILLING

A number of published reports claim that Prime Minister Pearson might be more acceptable to China as mission leader, but a spokesman said Pearson has not been approached and would not favor a change in the existing character of the mission.

Government sources in Ottawa expressed doubt that Pearson would agree to join the mission in any capacity. External Minister Martin reminded questioners in the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday that Pearson originally declined to serve on the mission with Wilson because he felt this would give the group too pro-Western a character.

Canadian government informants said substituting Pearson for Wilson would do little to halt the denunciations from Peking and Hanoi be-

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations said today UN Secretary-General U Thant has agreed to meet with a Commonwealth mission seeking peace talks on Viet Nam.

Dominican Intervention 'Blow To UN'

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin discreetly criticized Tuesday the United States intervention in the Dominican Republic in testimony before the Commons external affairs committee.

Committee members were not so discreet.

Marvin Gelber (L — York South) said the U.S. intervention was a blow to the United Nations and the inter-American system.

The U.S. had turned the Monroe Doctrine inside out. It now wanted to exclude from Latin America not only foreign governments but any domestic government it didn't happen to like.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the U.S. has equated revolution with communism and has reserved to itself the right to intervene when it doesn't agree with the aims of a revolution.

Jack McIntosh (PC — Swift Current—Maple Creek) said he can see no difference between the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and the 1956 Russian intervention in Hungary.

Mr. Martin said the Canadian government believes that unilateral action is not desirable.

The U.S. has been justified, however, in attempting to "clothe its intervention with the international umbrella" of the Organization of American States.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said the dangerous U.S. intervention could not be justified by word-making. The principles of the U.N. charter had been contravened.

Chou Wants Meet Held on Schedule

CAIRO (Reuters) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said Tuesday night his government fully endorses the Algerian government's decision that the Afro-Asian conference should be held on schedule.

Drought-Hit Farmers Shooting Dairy Herds

BRISBANE (Reuters)—Farmers in one of Australia's most fertile districts—Darling Downs—are shooting some of their dairy herds to save them from starving from drought, it was reported today.

The drought is one of the worst ever in the state of Queensland.

Cows worth the equivalent of $112 a year ago are selling for as little as $13.50, said the general manager of a butter factory. In other Queensland centres, sheep are being sold for 14 cents a head.

Over a wide area of New South Wales today, drought conditions eased after a night of torrential rain, gale-force winds and heavy snowfalls. But thousands of drought - weakened sheep died in the bitter conditions.

STUDENTS STAGE RIOTS SUPPORTING BEN BELLA

CAIRO (Reuters)—Police wielding staves today charged and dispersed Algerian students marching on the Algerian ambassador's residence here with cries of "We Want Ben Bella."

Earlier there were clashes between about 50 police and students carrying portraits of the deposed Algerian president in the grounds of the embassy. Another clash came when students tried to march down a main street in the fashionable Zamalek district.

About 20 students were taken into custody by police.

AFRO-ASIAN

Summit Meet Still Doubtful

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

ALGIERS (UPI) — Continuing demonstrations by students backing ousted president Ahmed Ben Bella and growing opposition by many "moderate" countries today threatened the scheduled opening of an Afro-Asian summit conference next Tuesday.

But Algerian officials insisted the summit conference will take place even if many of the 50 leaders who accepted invitations drop out at the last moment. The final decision is expected Thursday when many of the 50 foreign ministers meet here.

The fate of the conference has been in the balance ever since Col. Houari Boumedienne overthrew Ben Bella in a lightning coup in the pre-dawn hours Saturday. Ben Bella was a personal friend of many of the Afro-Asian leaders.

DEATH SENTENCE

(Algerian sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said Ben Bella was sentenced to death during a three-hour "trial" by all members of the new revolutionary council following the coup; a similar report was carried in the Beirut newspaper An-Nahar which said he would be executed at end of the Afro-Asian conference. The new regime has said only he is under arrest.)

Boumedienne sent personal messages to a number of leaders saying the summit conference would be held, and Algerian officials told delegates to the British Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London the meeting would be held.

Earlier, several said they would not attend—including the leaders of Tanzania, Kenya, India and Uganda.

Also, in London, leaders of the Commonwealth's 13 Afro-Asian nations decided today to stand by their earlier decision to call for a postponement of the summit talks.

ASK POSTPONEMENT

Sources said the leaders also planned to tell the new Algerian regime they felt the preliminary foreign ministers' meeting should also be postponed in view of the situation in Algeria.

In the meantime, many foreign ministers were arriving for Thursday's conference. They included those from the United Arab Republic, Libya, Jordan, Yemen and Nepal. The deputy foreign minister of Indonesia and the secretary of state for foreign affairs of India arrived.

Hunger Strike Protests Pact

(Times News Services)

SEOUL—Some 60 opposition members of Parliament today began a 24-hour hunger strike inside the South Korean national assembly.

They are protesting Tuesday's signing in Tokyo of a treaty to establish normal relations between South Korea and Japan.

The hunger strikers, members of the Minjung (masses) party, also decided that after their 24-hour fast they would go to Kimpo Airport Thursday to "block the homecoming" of Foreign Minister Tong Won Lee, who signed the treaty and its associated agreements.

Two top leaders of the party started an indefinite hunger strike Tuesday at the hour of the treaty signing ceremony in Tokyo.

STUDENTS JOIN

About 700 students started hunger strikes against the treaty earlier this week.

The signing came after 14 years of negotiations to establish normal relations for the first time in 60 years between Korea and its pre-war colonial overlord. The treaty must still be ratified by the parliaments of both countries.

The Korean students accuse the government of making "humiliating concessions" to Japan. Leftist opponents of the treaty in Japan contend that it is a step toward a north Asian anti-Communist alliance and a block of unification of North and South Korea.

NO RELIEF

Winds Fan Huge Fire In North

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Winds gusting over the huge Prince George forest district Tuesday night and today gave firefighters no relief in their battle against two major forest fires.

A blaze burning through 3,850 acres of spruce 30 miles southeast of here threatened to jump fireguards this morning as winds gusting to 40 mph fanned embers outside its perimeter.

A B.C. Forest Service official said more men and equipment were being moved into try to keep the blaze, tamed for three days, under control.

Winds pushed the 4,000-acre Finlay Forks fire over fireguards Tuesday night, but the 121 men and 13 bulldozers there re-established control this morning, he said.

Insurance Hike Rapped

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, today accused car insurance companies of being in contempt of the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Shelford said in an interview he was shocked to read that insurance companies announced rate increases effective July 1 before a government investigation is completed.

"Any increase before this inquiry is complete and a report is issued would in my opinion be showing direct contempt for the members of the legislature and the public in general which elected us," he said.

Insurance companies apparently will take no notice at all of the government investigation or of the legislature, he said.

IT'S C-DAY MINUS THREE FOR SHUTTERBUGS

Ready, Aim . . . Fire on Saturday

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

All you shutter clickers . . . get ready. It is C-Day minus three.

Camera Day is Saturday when the Victoria Times opens its National Newspaper Snapshot Award Contest to all its readers who are amateur photographers.

An amateur photographer is one who does not make a major part of his living through taking pictures. To him picture-taking is a hobby.

In other words, if you have occasionally sold a picture to a newspaper or have taken pictures for friends and have been reimbursed for your time and materials, you have not lost your amateur standing.

As a matter of fact paradoxically this is one amateur contest where you'll risk making more money in a minute than you'll earn throughout the year. Your entry in the contest will be shooting for a share of $50,000 in luxurious prizes.

BIG PRIZES

Before you can qualify for the big prizes you'll have to win one of the $10 weekly prizes in one of the three categories—The World in Which We Live, People of the World and Animals of the World.

Further, your picture will have to survive the final scramble at the end of the six-week contest, for grand local winner in one of the classes, with a $25 prize.

If you clear these two hurdles—start studying foreign languages—you may be going on a 30-day around-the-world photo safari, with $1,000 spending money in your pocket.

If you are going to win, whether you are a beginner or an advanced amateur photographer, you might do well

JAZY BREAKS 2-MILE MARK

MELUN, France (AP) — Michel Jazy of France defeated Ron Clarke of Australia by about 20 yards today as he bettered the world record for two miles with a clocking of 8:22.6.

The old mark of 8 minutes 26.4 seconds was held by Bob Schul of West Milton, Ohio.

This was the second world record for Jazy during the month of June. On June 9 he bettered the world record for the mile with a clocking of 3:53.6.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

An old country accent prompted outbursts of laughter at John Diefenbaker's meeting here this week when he attacked the Liberals for their "taint of corruption."

It was prompted by meeting chairman Capt. William Sudbury who told the audience it was time for the "crux of the meeting—nomination of George Chatterton." Only with Capt. Sudbury's country English, the word crux sounded more like "crooks."

Hugh Henderson, who followed him to nominate Mr. Chatterton, salvaged the incident.

"I don't know what the chairman meant about the crooks of the meeting," he said. "I thought we had left them for the Dorion inquiry."

Last week we had a story concerning the authentic restoration of the old mountie barracks at Fort Steele, near Cranbrook — and the gremlins worked it over.

Some readers of early-run papers saw a headline suggesting the new museum there would be built on Fort Street, instead of Fort Steele.

Then the phones started ringing because we had identified the force in 1887 as the Royal North West Mounted. It didn't get the "royal" until 1903.

We have baited our gremlin traps with the words "Tsawwassen," "accommodate" and "Brannen Lake." They love these. This time we may get them.

Judging from a Vancouver report, somebody discovered a way of turning $1 million in worthless bills into $100,000 in legal tender.

And in the process the police came up smiling when their "persistent investigation" apparently located the huge cache of mutilated bills in a Victoria garage.

By now everyone is aware of the daring robbery of the CPR at Vancouver. Thieves made off with a shipment of bills which had been destined for destruction at the mint.

Then they found out that the bank shippers had punched three obvious holes in the bills, making them harder to pass than wooden nickles.

Eventually the RCMP located the money here.

The rest of the story, according to our Vancouver agent, is that somebody went to England and made a deal with the insurance underwriters. Why they would be hurt so badly when the money was apparently worthless isn't clear.

But, as the story goes, they paid 10 per cent of the gross for a tip on the whereabouts of the loot.

And that's the best answer we've heard to the puzzle of how the police found the money.

Dominican Rebels Accept Peace Plan

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The rebel regime accepted with minor changes today by a proposal by the Organization of American States to settle the Dominican conflict.

The rebels agreed to the creation of a provisional government and general elections within six to nine months—key points in the plan of the OAS peace committee to end the nine-week-old rebellion.

There was no immediate word from the rival civilian-military junta as to when it would reply to the OAS proposals.

The committee went into the rebel zone this morning to receive the written reply.

The rebels indicated a softening of their stand that the 1963 constitution must be restored before any provisional government takes over.

The rebels suggested that the bill of rights in the 1963 constitution be incorporated in an institutional act under which the provisional government would rule until an elected administration takes over.

UN Position Dangerously Weak—Pearson

LONDON (UPI) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson, onetime president of the Seventh United Nations General Assembly (1952) said here Tuesday he thought the world body was in a dangerously weak position.

Pearson told the commonwealth prime ministers' conference he hoped the UN General Assembly would be able to meet and not be postponed again because of the dispute over article 19 of the UN charter.

The dispute centred on the refusal of the Soviet Union, among other countries, to contribute to UN peace keeping operations.

Pearson said the absence of Communist China from the world body was a contribution to its weakness and noted it was very important to get on with disarmament talks and to check the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

"If this is not done in the next 10 years or so, there will be more countries who can destroy their neighbors by nuclear means," he stressed.

MUCH PROGRESS

The Canadian leader said it would be an advantage if there could be some organization in which Communist China could take part.

He said he thought the best forum was the 18-nation disarmament conference which he noted had made much progress.

Pearson said he hoped the Commonwealth Conference would issue a statement on disarmament.

Pearson said the world body was particularly important to the small and medium-sized powers.

He explained this was the only forum where they could make their decisions clear.

"To strengthen the UN is the best policy for the small and middle powers who in any case now make most of their decisions there," said Pearson.

Cloud-Seeding Halted By Women

QUEBEC (CP) — Cloud-seeding to provoke rain artificially has been discontinued in Quebec.

The end came June 15 after housewives from the province's Lake St. John region descended on Quebec with an ultimatum for Resources Minister Rene Levesque.

The Lake St. John women called themselves Operation Parapluie (Operation Umbrella) and asserted that artificially provoked rain was giving their children no sunshine to play in and washing out their husbands' crops.

cause the Canadian leader has supported over-all U.S. policy and objectives in Viet Nam almost as consistently as Wilson.

Pearson himself said today any suggestion of a change in mission chairmanship at this stage would not be helpful.

The Canadian leader dismissed as "very hypothetical" the published reports that he might be asked to take over the mission leadership.

He has "lots to do" in Canada and has no plans to join the mission, Pearson added in reply to questions at a Commonwealth correspondents' luncheon.

If the Commonwealth conference had been held in Ottawa or New Delhi, rather than in London, he would expect that the chairman of the conference in those places would be chairman of the mission, Mr. Pearson said.

As for criticism of Wilson's leadership because he is a strong supporter of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, Pearson said representatives of both sides of the issue have to be included.

"You have to have a kind of balance," he said.

He did not know whether the mission, designed to help end the Vietnamese war, would succeed, but he hoped it would get off the ground and urged all the Commonwealth to persist in removing the objections "some have raised to this initiative."

Even if the mission, composed of the leaders of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad, does not succeed, it would be worthwhile to have made the attempt, Pearson added.

Asked whether he believes a government which does not recognize China should be represented on the mission, Pearson said if that becomes an important objection, then it should be taken into consideration.

He said Canada has not extended diplomatic recognition to China, but:

"We sell the Chinese a great deal of wheat. That is a form of recognition. I'm not always sure they recognize us."

to study the essential steps in good photography.

CAMERA HINTS

By reviewing the following suggestions you might avoid common pitfalls:

1. Study and understand the operations of your camera thoroughly and use the appropriate film.

2. Load your camera in subdued light to prevent light-struck or edge-fogged pictures.

3. Focus correctly on your subject. Simple cameras are "fixed" for focus from five feet to infinity. Adjustable cameras are more tricky.

4. Follow the exposure data on the film instruction sheet and set the lens and shutter speeds properly. If you are not sure of the correct settings, bracket your exposures by taking a few shots with settings on both sides of what you estimate to be the correct exposure.

5. Hold your camera still, preferably on a tripod or using some support, such as fence railing, tree trunk or table. Then, squeeze your shutter release slowly — don't punch or jab.

6. Fill the entire viewfinder with your subject matter. Avoid cluttered backgrounds and get close to your subject for impact. Try unusual angles, shooting from above and/or below your subject.

7. Keep a camera loaded and handy at all times. Catch that unusual situation when it happens—candidly.

8. Handle negatives carefully. Fingerprints and crumbled negatives make final prints worthless.

9. Crop your pictures. Most arranging should be done in the camera viewfinder but frequently an even better picture can be made by cropping the negative.

10. Mount your pictures and keep them in a dry place away from direct sunlight where they won't be damaged by unnecessary handling.

Good Pruning Now Will Pay Dividends

By HILDA BEASTALL

The shrubs to prune this week include the weigelas (wy'-jell-a), a most popular group for early summer flowering.

Hilda

Their beauty is waning now, and the earlier blooming varieties should be pruned at once in order to take advantage of late June growing conditions.

The pruning outlined here is more necessary on the young, small shrubs than on ones of four to five feet for instance. The object is to grow a well-shaped shrub full of vigorous branches completely covered with bloom.

The pale pink Fairy which is one of the earliest should have all the flowering branches cut back to where new unflowered growths can already be seen.

With adequate water at the roots, the amount of growth made during summer is amazing. Satisfaction next June is guaranteed when these new branches are loaded with buds and flowers.

The deeper colors of Boskoop Glory and the Bristol Ruby are enchanting against the lighter shades of house coloring, and have the advantage of thriving in the full hot sun of south facing walls.

Bristol Ruby is still blooming, and it will be the end of this month before pruning is required.

The variety Candida, white, seems to need this type of pruning all through its life, to produce enough new wood for making a good show of bloom.

Also, the varigated form W. rosea nana variegata only does well with us if the older wood is cut out each June regardless of whether it bloomed or not. It is of dwarf stature, most attractive when about three feet high and growing in full or near full sun to color the creamy foliage a dull rose by late summer.

Reserve Founder Dies at 89

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Rear-Admiral Walter Hose, CBE, RCN, Ret., one of Canada's most distinguished naval leaders and former chief of staff and founder of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, died at the home of his daughter at nearby Riverside Tuesday.

Admiral Hose, who was 89, had lived in Windsor since 1950. He will be buried with full naval honors Friday.

Born aboard a P and O steamer in the Indian Ocean in 1875, he joined the Royal Navy in 1889 as a naval cadet and served as a midshipman of the main top on the barque-rigged HMS Calypso.

When the Canadian Navy was formed, Admiral Hose was among Royal Navy personnel sent to Canada to man HMCS Rainbow and HMCS Niobe, acquired from the RN in late 1910. He took command of the Rainbow at Esquimalt, B.C., and began recruiting Canadians to fill out his complement.

He continued to command Rainbow until 1913. At that time, four young men from Victoria, who had formerly served in the London division of the RN Volunteer Reserve, approached him for permission to start a volunteer reserve in Canada. Admiral Hose was enthusiastic.

APPROVAL GIVEN

Eventually, informal approval was given the group and 33 young men, mostly Canadians, began to train.

The First World War lent impetus to his crusade and during this period, the volunteer reserve reached 6,000.

Largely because of the persistence of Admiral Hose, who had been appointed chief of naval staff in 1921, RCNVR training etsablishments were founded in 16 Canadian cities.

Admiral Hose retired in 1934.

He is survived by two daughters. His wife, Catherine, died in 1956. A son, Lt.-Comm. John Frederick Hose, died in 1957.

ON CONSERVATION

Chant Defends Gov't Policies

Conservationists are important to the future of British Columbia, said B.C. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, commenting on criticisms of the government by Vancouver Island writer and magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown.

Speaking at a banquet given by the B.C. government to the Canadian Authors Association Monday night, Mr. Haig-Brown said:

"I hate practically everything British Columbia stands for today."

He said the B.C. government was dedicated to short-term projects at the expense of the public welfare.

Said Mr. Chant:

"I believe Mr. Haig-Brown was sincere in his attack on our conservation policies. But I don't think there was much depth of thought behind it.

"His concept of conservation is a very narrow one. It could almost be called parochial. A government must be concerned with the welfare of the people as a whole.

"The school teacher may feel he is the most important member in our community, since he is training the citizens of tomorow.

"But the farmer will say he is more important because, without him, the children wouldn't get enough to eat. It is always a matter of viewpoint—and a government can do no more than try to keep the claims of all groups in perspective.

"Conservationists like Mr. Haig-Brown are important to our future, but they should not be allowed to dominate the whole scene.

"I think the general public is capable of distinguishing between good judgment and political prejudice," said Mr. Chant.

Greek Seaman's Bravery Medal Sent to Consul

A bravery medal for a steward on a Greek freighter, who made a daring rescue after a boat accident off Trial Island in 1963, will be forwarded to the Greek consul in Vancouver.

The medal, awarded by the Royal Canadian Humane Association, was received at city hall today.

It is destined for Constantinos Daskalaskis, 32, who swam 200 yards to rescue Susan Melhuish, 16, of 752 Mann, from an overturned boat.

The girl's stepfather and mother were drowned.

HELLYER DETERMINED TO PROCEED WITH CONSOLIDATION OF TRADES

'Why Should Army, Navy, Air Force Have Separate Cooking Schools?'

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF is in peril—justifiably or otherwise, depending on where you sit—of being absorbed by the navy and army in the planned integration of armed forces trades, informants said Tuesday.

The defence department within the next year plans to reduce the number of trades in the services to 118 from 322. There now are 48 trades in the navy, 212 in the army and 72 in the RCAF.

The department has found that nearly all the tradesmen in the air force—officers are excluded from this analysis—can be integrated with the other two services.

But because many more skills in the navy and army are peculiar to those services, fewer than half their tradesmen can be integrated into a consolidated tri-service trade pattern.

This has raised some question whether consolidation of trades is worth going ahead with but Defence Minister Hellyer is determined to do so.

"Why," asks Mr. Hellyer, "should the navy, army and air force have separate cooking schools?"

Nobody quarrels with the planned integration of primary training and such trades as cooking. But difficulties are foreseen in trying to integrate trades where highly specialized skills are required for different weapons systems.

The defence department study shows that 27.1 per cent of trades training can be readily integrated and another 39.4 per cent with careful planning and development.

This leaves 33.5 per cent of trades training which will have to remain peculiar to the individual services.

But this one-third which can't be integrated—30,755 of 91,906 tradesmen—is not distributed proportionately among the three services.

The navy has nearly 11,000 tradesmen and the army nearly 16,000 whose trades can't be effectively used in the other services. The RCAF has only about 3,900 "unintegratable" compared with nearly 34,500 "integratable" men. There are about 4,800 sailors and 22,000 soldiers who can be integrated.

The Uneasy Markets

ANY STRONG DOWNWARD trend in a country's stock markets is bound to set people wondering if they are in for another recession. And when stock markets all over the free world are sinking the natural tendency is to wonder whether a world-wide recession is to be expected.

In actual fact, as economists never tire of pointing out, stock market indexes are not particularly reliable guides to the economic future and especially not over the long term. That they do, however, exert an influence on the economy is undeniable since a market failure can have the psychological effect of weakening confidence, of causing investors to withhold funds and creditors to call in loans.

This loss of confidence, if it is widespread, can create conditions under which a recession is possible even though all other economic indicators show there is no real reason for it.

The picture in world stock markets is rather glum. Canadian and American markets are down 5.5 per cent and 6.5 per cent respectively from their all-time highs of a month ago. During the same time Japanese and European markets have added further losses to the sharp drops—as much as 53 per cent in Italy and 40 per cent in Japan—which have occurred over the past four years. London, which peaked out last fall, has lost 13 per cent since then, including a 6.5 per cent decline in the past month.

These losses in part can be traced to a combination of domestic and international problems. The attempt by the United States to solve its balance of payments deficit by curbing overseas loans and investments plays a strong role.

Losses result also, and to no small degree, from what might be termed an excess of expectations on the part of investors. It is inevitable in a booming market that many stock buyers hope to make not merely an adequate return on their investment but also a capital gain through appreciation in value of their stock. When it becomes evident that the prices of stocks have overrun the possibilities of short-term capital gains, the boom collapses and prices settle down to more realistic levels.

Most economists are confident that free world governments generally have the knowledge, skill and powers to use fiscal tools and monetary policies to reverse any significant economic downtrend. A levelling-off period might be expectued after nearly five years of exceptional expansion in the free world's economy. But a levelling-off is not a recession, much less the type of deep depression which was experienced in the 1930s, and there is no economist today, whose views are taken seriously, who thinks that the stock markets are signalling desperate days ahead.

Mr. Diefenbaker Blows In

MR. DIEFENBAKER IS MUCH better on the platform than he is in cold type; he is much better with the raking attack than he is in presenting a logical case; and he hasn't changed his mind or his style since he was here last.

Those who heard him speak on Tuesday night recognized the Diefenbaker of the hustings, the Diefenbaker of the long, filibuster-type debates with which he has delayed the business of the present Parliament, the Diefenbaker of the rolling platitudes and the sonorous cliches. But they could have perceived nothing to indicate that this man will again head the government of Canada, even though he may surprise some of his present colleagues by remaining leader of the party.

For Mr. Diefenbaker still has the flaw that is fatal in a government leader. He is long on the surface appearances but short on the basic policies and decisions which a prime minister must master.

He criticizes Mr. Pearson, for instance, for permitting Quebec to gain a much more evident position of autonomy than ever before, yet he does not explain how he would have handled this crucial Canadian problem successfully. All we have to go on is the parliamentary record, in which he apparently would have refused Quebec almost everything it demanded and would thereby have risked splitting Canada into pieces.

It is one thing to charge the members or employees of a government with involvement in scandal. It is quite another thing to twist scandal, as he did, into a deliberate policy of the whole government. And it was certainly hitting below the belt for Mr. Diefenbaker to imply that the Prime Minister and his cabinet members arranged the recent income tax cuts only to provide themselves with a $600 reduction in contrast to the much smaller cuts received by persons on smaller incomes.

This is nothing but political demagogism, at which Mr. Diefenbaker is an expert; it is not statesmanship, in which he fails.

Lower Rates, More Calls

OFFICIALS OF THE UNITED States Federal Communications Commission say that it is yet too early to determine whether a cut in long-distance telephone rates—with an accompanying increase in use of the service—has justified itself economically. The reduced charges have, however, resulted in more conversations between people 600 miles or more apart.

No doubt Americans will wait with considerable interest to learn the degree to which more business compensates for the lower tolls—an interest which could understandably be shared by telephone clients in Victoria and other parts of British Columbia. Here it is hoped the rate-cutting process may prove infectious.

FROM LONDON

By MARTIN DEWEY

Double-Edged Peace Mission

OBSERVERS at the current Commonwealth prime ministers' conference have been so intrigued by the startling ups and downs of the Viet Nam peace mission proposal that they haven't had time to wonder at a develment that is just as startling, if not quite so spectacular. It should be remembered that over the years Commonwealth prime ministers' conferences have become encrusted with a layer of comfortable conventions. One of them, in the words of a recent British government publication, is that "on international affairs no formal decisions are taken and no attempt is made to formulate specifically Commonwealth policies, although it may on occasion be possible to formulate a common view on a matter of major international concern."

Dewey

Another is that what goes on behind conference doors is nobody's business. If the delegates have anything to say to the world, they do so in a final communique in which the various national points of view are tossed into a pot and served up as the blandest possible stew. The working principle has always seemed to be that the less you say the more likely you are to get others to agree with it.

Conventions Shattered

This year, however, both conventions lay in tatters by the end of the first four-hour working session. Not only did Prime Minister Harold Wilson persuade 20 Commonwealth leaders to go along with his daring Viet Nam peace proposals. He also got them to slam the door behind themselves by broadcasting the decision in an opening-day communique.

For better or worse, Mr. Wilson managed in the space of a single afternoon to turn a debating society into an action body; never again, it seems, will delegates to a prime ministers' conference be able to take refuge in the argument that they are not really expected to do anything.

Worst Circumstances

This new, bolder kind of Commonwealth may or may not be a good thing. What is unfortunate, though, is that it is taking the plunge under the worst possible circumstances. The Wilson plan to send a flying squad of Commonwealth leaders to sound out the various governments involved in the Viet Nam conflict may have been the toast of the conference Thursday night. But it has since become a subject of bitterness and dissension.

For a start, many Africans feel they were somehow tricked by Mr. Wilson into endorsing the idea after only four hours' discussion. The British position is that the initiative would have been compromised if it had been kicked around for a number of days. But to some Africans, at least, this explanation is not nearly so attractive as the suggestion that Mr. Wilson wanted a quick victory for domestic political reasons.

Others — again, principally Africans — like the idea of a peace mission but disagree with its present composition. They feel its chances of being received by Peking would be much greater if each participant represented a non-aligned nation.

Unfortunately for this argument, 17 non-aligned nations have already tried their luck with Peking and failed. If there is any virtue in sending of the mission, it surely lies in the fact that it will represent a commonwealth of 735 million people — not all of whom are non-aligned.

A more telling objection heard at the conference is that the mission's timing is bad. On the one hand, the Viet Cong are not likely to want to start negotiations now that the monsoon season has given them the tactical advantage they have been waiting for. On the other, as Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge gauchely admitted at Oxford University on the eve of the conference, "no occidental nation such as the United States can realistically be asked to negotiate when things are not going well."

Finally, delegates are reminded that there is no assurance that a peace mission will have anywhere to go. Initial British feelers to the Soviet Union have seemed heartening, and no news from Red China for the first day or so was taken as good news. But when Peking did speak up, the reference to people who run errands in the interest of the "U.S. imperialist plot for peace talks" was hardly encouraging.

Despite all the objections, however, supporters of the mission insist it will still be sent on its way, whether or not with a replacement for the Ceylonese Prime minister who begged off Friday.

Mixed Blessing

Even for Mr. Wilson the peace mission may well prove to be a mixed blessing. In terms of his own political situation, of course, he can't lose. Even if the idea were finally rejected at the conference, or even if it were cold-shouldered by the Communists, he would still have made the point that his government is capable of independent initiative and that he himself is capable of outmaneouvring and out-dazzling a whole building-full of prime ministers.

But the other side of the coin will come into view this week. Already there is evidence that some African delegates will want to trade on their support for the peace mission when talk turns to Rhodesia. Mr. Wilson may then learn that he has created a double-edged precedent. For the Africans could easily argue that a Commonwealth capable of positive action over Viet Nam should also be capable of positive action over Rhodesia.

The Texans are generous to a fault. An air commodore friend of mine, jostled by a Texan rancher a few years ago, gently protested: "Have a care." Confused by the unfamiliar English accent, the Texan thought he said: "Have you a cow?'"—and shipped him one free of charge, dead and frozen, all the way to England.

From The Times of June 23, 1890:

San Francisco: A meeting of the Council of Federated Trades has agreed to a boycott on Dunsmuir and Sons coal from Wellington on Vancouver Island. The action was taken after the company refused to meet the executive committee endeavouring to settle trouble between the firm and its miners who are on strike. The council also reported a membership of 37,000 in the Pacific region representing 200 labor organizations.

Beatles' Defender

While honoring with the deepest gratitude the fine RAF squadrons who saved us civilians in Britain during the war, I feel that Squadron-Leader Douglas C. Moffitt (late M.B.E.) of Nanaimo owes a public apology to the Beatles.

They have definitely NOT "done more harm than good." Music critics recognized their "Mersey Beat" as good quality from the beginning, and their songs have gained sound musical approval.

They have contributed nobly to the "Oxfam Relief" and been acknowledged personally by Oxford University professors. They have brought money, to Britain when she needed it, and during 1964 they raised Britain to the top of the list in modern "Pop music."

Their fun has been clean and healthy and they have remained comically surprised at their unexpected popularity.

Her Majesty the Queen has shown a happy courage in acknowledging some of the young people of this new era. — E. L. Bartlett, 150 Beach.

Disappointed

Nothing is so important today as the development of international co-operation based on understanding; and this understanding can be developed most easily in the young. That is why so many of us in Victoria are following with great interest (and money) the "International Village" project.

I was very disappointed to read in your paper that the Victoria City Council is to be asked by its finance committee for only $300; and that even this meagre amount may not be forthcoming. Surely our council should contribute at least the same per capita amount given by the councils of Oak Bay and Esquimalt! — David P. Reimer, 1374 Richardson.

Bridge Up

I am a resident of the Albert Head area and as such must travel to and from work over the Johnson Street Bridge.

I am writing to complain of the confusion and delay that the raising of this bridge causes around 8 a.m. Monday to Friday. The chief offender causing the bridge to be raised at this time is the CNR rail ferry Canora.

Each morning, from my residence, I can see the Canora as she heaves to off Brotchie Ledge, between 5 to 6 a.m. The question is: why must she wait all that time to procede to her upper harbor berth and necessitate the raising of the Johnson Street Bridge just at the time when the traffic is extremely heavy. This seems to be a deliberate act for the convenience of a few that inconveniences hundreds.

There is a bridge man on duty 24 hours a day, so there is no need for the vessel to wait until 8 a.m. to go through. —W. A. Webster, 3619 Farhill.

French In School

Globe and Mail (Toronto)

AN awkward problem which faces French Canadians in Quebec in their quest for equality of economic opportunity has been placed before the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturism by the Quebec Chamber of Commerce. Promising French Canadians, the chamber reported, often turn down business transfers or promotions that would take them out of Quebec because their children would lose the opportunity of an education in French.

The problem is one which, because of the nature of Canadian society, can never be completely solved. The vast majority of Canadians outside of Quebec do speak English and there are many areas in Canada where the lack of French-speaking citizens makes it impractical to establish schools in which the language of instruction is French.

Yet there is one step which the English-speaking provinces can and should take not only to make themselves more hospitable to new arrivals from Quebec but to recognize the rights of their own French-speaking minorities. They should establish firmly in legislation that their French-speaking residents have the right to a French-language school wherever there are enough of them to make such a school practical.

Ontario is more advanced in this area than some provinces. On approval of the minister of education, local school boards may, if they wish, establish bilingual classes for their French-speaking residents. The Ontario practice, however, turns what should be a right into a privilege to be granted or rejected at the whim of the minister or the local board.

Legislation establishing French-language education as a right wherever there are enough French-speaking families to make it practical would provide simple justice to the French-speaking people of Ontario and, at the same time, would make it more attractive for French Canadians in Quebec to take advantage of economic opportunities outside their own province.

'It Is an Answer Which May, Regrettably, Cause a Number of Canadians to See Red'

By Maurice Western, From Ottawa

THE new television policy announced recently by Mr. Maurice Lamontagne is based squarely on the principle that the government knows what is best for us. There is little doubt that, from this standpoint, the timing of the announcement was opportune. Parliament was on the same day dealing with a measure reflecting Mr. Gordon's view that the government knows what is best for newspapers. It has been clear for some time, that the government knows what is best for business; indeed, Mr. Lamontagne in listing the reasons for his announcement observed first that "it is necessary to give guidance to the Canadian electronics industry."

Western

This centralization of wisdom is, at first sight, awe-inspiring. Fortunately, the times have produced a measuring stick which enables ministers to determine at a glance what is, or what is not, desirable. Some years ago interested persons began asking the question: What could a world exposition do for Canada? By an almost imperceptible process this question has now been reversed. The accepted test today is: "What can we Canadians do for EXPO?"

The CBC, without the slightest prompting, was able last week to provide Mr. Lamontagne with the answer. We can buy color.

"It is an answer which may, regrettably, cause a number of Canadians to see red. Despite all the vast expenditures of the corporation over the years, there are still second-class citizens who are not served with the black-and-white television services for which they are taxed by the government. The CBC weeps for them in every annual report while pointing out that the percentage is extremely small.

There is the difficulty, mentioned in successive CBC reports, that coverage becomes more expensive the farther it goes. Mr. Lamontagne's announcement carries the obvious implication that the people who have been waiting years for a service will now have to wait even longer than they expected. What goes for color cannot go for the north.

A layman lacking the government's ability to interpret the minds of its citizens, might also entertain doubts that a majority of those now serviced want color so much that they are prepared to invest in it. Television differs, of course, from other forms of entertainment. If one prefers dinner to a movie, one does not have to pay for a movie. But even the tax-payer, who has not the slightest intention of paying out $750 for color; is going to be called upon to pay for color services. There would be no point in consulting him about this because, the government knows best.

As the decision is not one for the individual, the government sees no point in troubling him with cost estimates. Neither does the CBC which has been campaigning for a ten-year charter to end its proper, though embarrassing, accountability to Parliament. Mr. Lamontagne did not even mention a figure until he was questioned and his estimate of $15,000,000 apparently applies only to the Montreal facilities. The usual figure for conversion has been $40,000,000 but this would be only a beginning because the production costs of color programs were estimated some years ago at about 25 per cent above those for black and white.

We need not trouble our heads about these details because the matter has nothing to do with economics and is not even within our control. As the government, following the CBC has now recognized, we are in the play of mysterious outside forces. Color is coming; indeed, it is here, like the spacemen and we must accept it, regardless of costs, discarding any lingering and inhibiting notions we may still have on the subject of free will.

Mr. Lamontagne mentioned a number of considerations which had motivated the government. There is in the United States a "definite shift" to color and 50 per cent of Canadian homes are within the range of American signals. The implication is presumably that we must either buy color or go down the American drain. Oddly, he leaked the information subsequently that the CBC will be advised by the Fowler Commission to proceed cautiously because of costs. Probably, therefore, we will be taxed in order that we may preserve our identity by watching American programs on Canadian instead of on American channels.

But, as Mr. Lamontagne pointed out, there is also EXPO. This consideration is clearly decisive. Either our broadcasters and electronics wizards go to work now or they will not be ready for April 1, 1967. We must not think only of ourselves. Color programs from EXPO are "a necessity" because "three or four other countries have already indicated their intention and desire to make such color transmissions, notably the United States, Japan, Great Britain, and possibly France."

It is thus a sort of international obligation, like our commitments to NATO. Mr. Martin, an accomplished diplomat, might perhaps be able to negotiate us out of this but he is busy with Viet Nam and it is in any event a small matter involving nothing more than the tax-payers' money.

To some outraged Canadians, this case may lack appeal. Fortunately the government, in its wisdom, has thought of them too. It is always open to them to make representations, to which the government will undoubtedly give "consideration" before proceeding with its predetermined course. Mr. Walter Gordon who surpasses all his colleagues in the knowledge of what is best for all of us, has made provision for just this situation in his present budget resolutions.

One of the most interesting of Mr. Gordon's innovations, dedicated to the relief of lobbyists, provides that a tax-payer may henceforth claim a deduction in respect of respresentations to government. He has already indicated that farmers will be entitled to claim for the costs of marching on Ottawa. No doubt many Canadians from Resolute, Tuktoyaktuk and even closer points will be interested in converging on the capital to express their interest in increased taxes for non-existent services.

Unhappily Mr. Gordon's resolution may be, in one respect, deficient. It contains the words "in connection with a business carried on by the tax-payer." This, of course, is admirable for the electronics people who, we may surmise, have already made their representations. But since the tax-payer's business is everybody's business, national revenue may well take the position that it is nobody's business. We have in any event the consolation that it is all for EXPO and that the government knows best.

One minor point should perhaps be noted. EXPO and the CBC have come to enjoy a special place in our new society. It will be recalled that Mr. Gordon was unable to do anything about Saskatchewan potash because he had not heard from the Carter Commission. The university grants system is similarly untouchable because the government awaits a report from the Bladen Commission. This rule cannot, however, apply to the CBC and EXPO. The government is now awaiting a report on broadcasting from the Fowler Commission. But Mr. Lamontagne was in the happy position of being able to lift the veil on what the Fowler Commission will have to say on this subject a month or so hence.

When a matter touches both the CBC and EXPO, it is top priority and above the usual rules in Ottawa.

Must Everything We Build Turn Into a Nightmare?

By WOLF VON ECKARDT
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Historian, philosopher and urban critic Lewis Mumford spoke of two "new worlds" to a joint meeting of North and South American architects in Washington and deplored that one is frustrating the high hopes of the other.

It was a philosophical talk. But it was the kind of philosophy that architects must learn to dream of if the world they build is not to turn into a nightmare.

The first new world Mumford referred to was the geographic one, the Western Hemisphere, the fate of whose cities the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and the Pan American Congress of Architects joined to discuss.

The other, said Mumford, is the new world of science and technics which was opened up at the same moment in history. He found it impossible, he said, to separate the two.

"The archetypal models for our mechanical new world were already in existence when Columbus set sail, and long before the massive industrial changes produced by steam, coal and iron, they had wrought a far greater change, not just in the physical environment, but in the human mind," Mumford pointed out.

At the time this hemisphere was officially discovered and claimed by European governments, the intellectual leaders of the Old World saw in the new "the beginning of a great human transformation."

Their hope, said Mumford, was based on the realization that Old World civilization had once more reached a terminus.

Like others before it, it was founded on a "monopoly of power and authority by a self-appointed minority who treated war, slavery, regimented labor and class exploitation as the necessary price of man's higher development."

"The new world offered the cure of a long ocean voyage and a complete change of scene. And the notion arose that a fresh start might be made by migrating to the Western Hemisphere and beginning life all over again, exploring new habitats, making new choices, followed new paths.

An Illusion

It was, Mumford found, an illusion.

Not that the hope did not have a genuine foundation and by the end of the 19th century this Utopian hope had come to rest on three implicit assumptions:

"First, the biological premise that man's life is closely attached to mature and can be lived fully only by entering into an understanding and loving partnership with nature.

"Second, the mechanical premise that the exploitation of non-human sources of energy, through science and invention, is essential toward increasing man's mastery over his physical environment, and to breaking down the purely physical barriers to further human co-operation and communication on a planetary scale.

"Finally, it rested on the human premise that the goods of every culture, both spiritual and material, must be offered freely to all its members, and eventually to all mankind."

Almost all that is truly original and humane in architecture and planning in the United States derives directly or indirectly from this brief period of integration.

From this common fund of ideas came the fresh forms of park, parkway, and park-like settings for cities, beginning in 1869 with Frederick Law Olmsted's Riverside and culminating, in 1929, in the Radburn, New Jersey, plan of Henry Wright and Clarence Stein, with its equal respect for communal, mechanical, and biological needs.

From the same sources came the domestic architecture of H. H. Richardson, Frank Lloyd Wright, and Bernard Maybeck.

What we have to explain to ourselves now, Mumford said, is why, with our increasing power to exploit natural resources and technological inventions, there has been such a loss of individuality and character in our urban environment.

To illustrate, Mumford asked the architects some blunt questions:

"Why were the old New England towns, even Greater Boston itself up to 1895, better urban forms than the latest Back Bay urban renewal projects?

Why are those Latin-American cities that were built according to the laws of the Indies, with their open plaza in the middle, still a more humane environment than, say, Brasilia?

Did we promise too much for the future or did we forget too much of the past?"

Our cities are not New World cities, in any hopeful sense of the word, just to the extent that this consciousness of natural functions and human purposes is absent from their design.

Deficiencies

When the machine becomes dominant and replaces human choice, variety, autonomy, and cultural complexity, the urban environment that results is both biologically and culturally deficient, Mumford concluded.

Mumford advises us to reverse the present order of our thinking and restore those components of nature and culture that we have neglected in our one-sided preoccupation with financial profits, national aggrandizement, and mechanical power.

"We are not doomed to sleep this nightmare out till its end: we have only to open our eyes to make it vanish," he exhorted.

Malawi Is Not For Sale

ZOMBA — Malawi, one of Africa's most beautiful countries, is also one of its poorest and smallest. There are rebels in the bush, Communist Chinese knocking on the door and African critics on the northern borders.

Prime Minister Hastings Kamuzu Banda can hardly make a move on the African chessboard without displeasing someone.

To export his country's main products, tea and tobacco, he uses Portuguese Mozambique's railroads—"imperialistic" in the eyes of many African nationalists.

Seven months ago six of Banda's ministers were fired or resigned in a resounding cabinet blowup. Banda has charged they wanted him to sell diplomatic recognition to China in return for a $50,000,000 loan.

Five of the ministers have taken refuge in Zambia and Tanzania, trying to queer Banda with his neighbors, with the Organization of African Unity OAU and even with the United Nations.

The sixth minister, Henry Chipembere, has been leading an ineffective rebellion.

Of his brush with the Chinese and subsequent criticism by other African leaders of his failure to recognize Peking, Banda told a reporter:

"Any honest man should admire me for refusing to be corrupted. If other African leaders want to be corrupted, let them. This country is not for sale."

THE GALLOP POLL

Martin Succession Favored

By The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

When Gallup Poll interviewers presented a list to the public of three potential leaders for the Liberal Party, should Mr. Pearson resign, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin won almost half the people of Canada to his support.

Jean Lesage, premier of Quebec, came next with 16% of the voters and the minister of finance, Hon. Walter Gordon, third with 11%.

Greatest support for Mr. Martin (48%) comes from his own native province of Ontario and greatest support for Mr. Lesage (38%) comes from his province of Quebec. But even in Quebec, Mr. Martin is only 1 percentage point behind Premier Lesage.

The question: "Which of these three men do you think would be the best man to succeed Mr. Pearson should he resign as prime minister?"

	Total	Quebec	Ontario	West
Paul Martin	43%	37%	48%	40%
Jean Lesage	16	38	9	7
Walter Gordon	11	5	16	13
None of them	8	8	7	10

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

It would seem that the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party must indeed have his back against the wall when he screams—as he did in this city Monday evening—that Canada is in danger of becoming a republic.

In a spate of unctuous words, he pushed aside the older generation and picked up the youth of our country to save them, he said, from such a political fate.

He labelled the premiers of Quebec and British Columbia as villains in the picture and presented himself as the saviour of the country.

There was nothing in his talk to prove that the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party either unders[illegible] youth or that he has any real knowle[illegible] thinking of British Columbia or Quebe[illegible]

The whole thing reminded one of a person stamping up and down on a rooftop, threatening to jump off . . . to make an end of it all . . . and yet hoping somehow to be saved.

The man who stands on a rooftop and screams does draw a crowd but that crowd is usually there to enjoy the spectacle—not to help.

The leader of the PC Party is playing a strange card when he prates that he and he alone can save Canada from becoming a republic. He forgets the men and women, who sit in government and on other opposition benches, who are dedicated to the same work.

★ ★ ★

He also chooses to forget that the Pearson government, in facing up to difficult problems that were ignored for many years and in tackling and solving questions that other governments considered too touchy, has done much to preserve Canada's solid foundation as a nation—not a republic.

He ignores, although he must know, that while the present government would have found it safer and more comfortable politically to have avoided these problems, it chose rather to accept responsibility and to get things done, if it could.

In a little over two years, this policy has resulted in the settlement of a number of questions which it seemed impossible for the previous Conservative administration to do.

There is the portable, nation-wide contributory pension scheme, that will provide virtually all Canadians with a decent retirement income. The former Conservative government talked about a contributory pension scheme but failed in its six years in office to get one launched.

The former government also failed to set up independent commissions to establish and redraw the federal electoral map.

★ ★ ★

Today, for the first time in Canadian history, we have the report of such a commission, showing ways to give a more equitable representation to all voters.

The present government broke new ground on this continent with introduction of national labor standards providing workers under federal jurisdiction with a good minimum wage, standard hours of work and vacation and statutory holidays with pay.

The Columbia River Treaty has been renegotiated, ratified, and work has now started. This mighty project, that will provide many thousands of jobs, could have been under way in 1961 if dissension in the former Conservative government had not sidetracked it.

Canada now leads the world in integrating and reorganizing its defence forces to more adequately and effectively serve the needs and resources of a middle power with an unexcelled record for peace-keeping duties.

We now have a distinctively Canadian flag, aproved by a majority of members from all parts of the House and proclaimed by Her Majesty the Queen.

The first concerted effort in years has been made to revise parliamentary rules and practises and to bring them more into line with mid-20th century concepts.

And, despite the shouting on Monday evening, the so-called "crisis in Confederation" is being met and friction between Ottawa and the provinces and between the country's two founding cultural groups is gradually being replaced by a common desire to work out existing problems in a spirit of frankness and co-operation.

These American artillerymen of the 173rd Brigade are part of the defence of the Bien Hoa air base in South Viet Nam. Within a few weeks they will be among some 70,000 U.S. military men in the country along with several thousand Australian, New Zealand and South Korean troops.

Americans in Viet Nam Ask, 'Where Are the Canadians?'

By JOHN KIRKWOOD
Times Far East Correspondent

HONG KONG—"Why aren't you guys out here helping us?"

Kirkwood

We were sitting a while ago in the American Army officers' mess at My The, a city in the Mekong Delta about 50 miles south of Saigon.

A furious game of ping pong was being conducted by two energetic young lieutenants wearing Bermuda shorts, a captain moodily crushed a cockroach on the bar with a beer bottle, a group of officers played poker dice for a round of drinks, and the major who asked me the question took a reflective sip from his martini glass.

Question Asked

The question — why aren't Canadian troops in Viet Nam helping the Americans and South Vietnamese battle the Communist Viet Cong?—was asked several times by American advisers I talked to during a month's visit to the war-torn country.

Now, with the Commonwealth countries of Australia and New Zealand sending troops to join the Americans, the question has again been raised in the Far East.

In fact, two visiting Canadian newspapermen passing through Hong Kong recently felt obliged to answer it themselves. Eloquent, but sadly misinformed, one said Canadian public opinion would never permit Canadian troops to enter the war, and the other said it was Canada's duty to send trops to Viet Nam.

Both missed the essential points in answering the question:

1. Canada could never send troops as long as she is a member of the three-nation (Canada, India, Poland) International Control Commission set up in 1954 to police the Geneva Accords on Indo-China.

2. Canada is serving an increasingly valuable role in the conflict by acting as a behind-the-scenes negotiator.

As a member of the ICC Canada must remain removed from the conflict in a military sense, although the Canadian delegation's minority report of a few months ago was highly critical of North Viet Nam's actions in sending troops and arms and ammunition across the 17th Parallel into South Viet Nam.

Any involvement of Canadian troops, therefore, would immediately negate Canada's role as an ICC member and would, of course, serve to add fuel to the Communists' propaganda mill.

It is by negotiation, therefore—both in Viet Nam and in Ottawa and Washington—that Canada can play her part in trying to settle the bloody conflict.

Valuable Role

Although such a role may seem unimportant, perhaps even useless to the American troops who come into daily, vicious contact with the enemy in the swamps and hills of South Viet Nam, its value should not be underestimated.

Just how important this role is has been amply demonstrated in recent weeks with the disclosure that Prime Minister Pearson was at least partly responsible for President Johnson's decision to suspend bombing raids over North Viet Nam for a week last month in the hope (false, as it turned out) that the move might bring North Viet Nam to the bargaining table.

And in Viet Nam itself Canada has tried to talk the North Viet Nam government into agreeing to a peace conference. The peace feeler was, of course, bluntly rejected by Hanoi but must be applauded, nevertheless, as a positive move towards a negotiated settlement.

Meanwhile, however, the anti-Communist forces are steadily assuming a more and more cosmopolitan nature reminiscent to a degree of the West's forces in the Korean war.

The Americans are no longer alone.

The Commonwealth countries are now directly involved in the conflict.

Australia, whose Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies appears to be in complete agreement with everything President Johnson does in Viet Nam, has decided to send 1,000 combat troops, an advance party of which has already arrived, to serve in the same roles as American troops.

New Zealand has decided to send an artillery battery.

Both these moves have created storms of angry protest by opposition parties, labor groups and individuals in Australia and New Zealand and by the Hanoi government and Russia where officials have criticized the Commonwealth countries for clinging to President Johnson's coat-tails.

See Connection

But, considering the ever-present threat of Communist invasion of their own shores, the decisions by Australia and New Zealand are understandable. In addition, both countries see a connection between the Viet Nam war and the Indonesia-Malaysia dispute, a conflict in which both nations are involved also.

Said New Zealand Prime Minister Holyoake recently:

"If Viet Nam is lost, the cost of defending Malaysia could be well-nigh impossible for New Zealand . . . the New Zealand Government needs no persuasion of the grave issues and principles at stake in Viet Nam. It has decided on its course of action after most searching consideration and in the firm conviction that so long as the aggressive conduct of North Viet Nam goes unchecked there can be no hope of lasting peace or better life in Viet Nam and other countrise of Southeast Asia."

American ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman recently stated that the defence of South Viet Nam has now become an international matter, not purely an American matter.

His point is proved by the figures.

In addition to the Australian and New Zealand troops, South Korea has sent 2,000 non-combat troops and will now send an additional force of combat troops; Thailand has sent an air detachment; the Philippines has decided to send 2,000 combat troops, a move which has enraged Hanoi.

Taiwan Eager

Taiwan has expressed eagerness to send troops although it's doubtful if Viet Nam would welcome such a move because of traditional enmity between the Chinese and Vietnamese people.

Japan, however, has decided not to become directly involved, although Prime Minister Eisaku Sato has stated that the Americans are not aggressors in Viet Nam and he favors a negotiated settlement.

Great Britain, of course, cannot become involved in the fighting because she is co-chairman (with Russia) of the Geneva Agreement, and because she is heavily committed to the defence of Malaysia —a costly job which is tying up thousands of British troops and a fleet of 70 Royal Navy ships.

Britain, however, does have a few advisers in Viet Nam and recently a private individual's move to recruit a 1,000-man "private army" of British volunteers to fight there provoked a diplomatic hassle when South Viet Nam authorities stated openly that they were considering the offer of British mercenaries.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the fence, North Viet Nam has expanded its drive to recruit "volunteers" ready to serve in the conflict and the Chinese Government in Peking has joined in by threatening to send volunteer troops to help the Viet Cong guerillas.

Famous Last Words

Sir Edward Marshall Hall
(1858-1927)

This great British judicial figure wrote a few moments before his death: "How utterly incomplete would the best thing in this life be, if the grave were to be the end of all these things! I do believe that our souls are immortal."

Marc Antony
(18-30 BC)

Believing Cleopatra dead, he said: "It distresses me that so great a general should be found of a tardier courage than a woman!" His faithful servant, sworn to slay him, killed himself instead. Before emulating him, Antony said: "Well done, Eros — you show your master how to do what you had not the heart to do yourself."

Red Berlin Still Drab Despite the 'Thaw'

By LEON DENNEN

BERLIN — The "liberal thaw," though late in coming, has finally caught up even with East Germany.

A joke East Germans tell these days goes like this:

On the Western side of the Communist-built wall that divides Berlin a little girl, while eating a banana, shouts to an East Berlin boy who stands on the other side of the wall:

"But you have no bananas."

"You have no Communism," replies the East Berlin boy.

"We will have Communism," cries the West Berlin girl.

"Then you will have no bananas," retorts the East Berliner.

It is true that there is an abundance of bananas (and other goods) in rich capitalist West Berlin. There are none on the Communist side of the wall. But the mere fact that the joke could be told to an American without fear in East Berlin is a sign of the changes that have taken place in Red-ruled East Europe in recent years.

More Tolerable

There is no doubt that Walter Ulbricht's regime, taking a cue from Hungary and Romania, has gone out of its way to make life more tolerable for East Germans. Ordinary people no longer seem as cowed as they were three years ago when I last visited East Berlin. Writers and artists, provided they do not challenge the Marxist-Leninist dogma, are free to experiment with new literary and art forms. The theatre and political cabarets are even permitted to make fun of the regime as long as they add anti-Western propaganda to the merriment.

Jazz and the twist, although frowned upon as expressions of "decadent American capitalism," are everywhere in East Berlin.

The Red regime is even trying to bring back "capitalist" manners. Three years ago, well-dressed men and women were regarded with suspicion as agents of Western imperialism. Now many restaurants and bars ban persons in turtleneck sweaters and work clothes.

Waiters in the more expensive restaurants frequented by Red bureaucrats and Western tourists now wear tails.

★ ★ ★

Yet East German life remains drab.

West Berlin, a capitalist island deep in the Red world, is gay and colorful.

But in East Berlin the housewife is still warned not to demand foods which are unobtainable but to change her diet by cooking dishes such as mashed dried peas, mixed with soya bean flour, in place of potatoes.

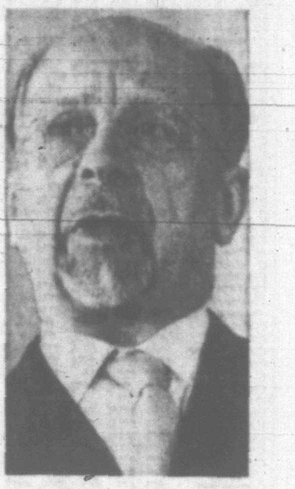
Each day, many East Germans, especially young people, still attempt to flee East Berlin in spite of the wall, the barbed wire and the machine guns that separate it from the Western part of the city.

For the fact remains that East Germany, like Russia's other East European satellites, is still a police state ruled by Walter Ulbricht's fist.

Principles Same

Communist tactics may change, Lenin once said, but the principles remain the same. And bearded Ulbricht, for all his tentative "liberalism," is the most faithful pupil of Lenin.

The Germans' hatred for Ulbricht is only to be expected, but he is hardly popular even with his Russian masters. A Soviet diplomat obviously summed up the Kremlin's feelings about the man when he said to an American: "Do you really like your Germans better than we like ours?"



WALTER ULBRICHT
. . . 'faithful pupil'

But the unscrupulous and heavy-handed Red boss is still useful to Moscow's purposes of keeping East Germany shackled to Russia.

Ulbricht is also faced with the dilemma that confronts Russia's other "liberal" puppets behind the Iron Curtain. He must feed the East Germans small doses of liberalism to make the Red dictatorship more palatable. However, liberalization offers increased opportunities for East German population to promote unity with West Germany.

Pulp, Paper Business Bid By Man.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba has rewritten its Forestry Act for the first time in 35 years in a bid to attract a greater share of the pulp and paper industry, Resources Minister Sterling Lyons has announced.

The new act was passed at the 1964 session of the legislation but was not proclaimed until regulations to accompany it were completed, Mr. Lyons said.

He said the new act substantially shortens procedures to obtain timber rights, provides for 20-year timber agreements with renewal clauses, provides for the transfer of rights from one holder to another, and sets out that royalties will be paid on the basis of timber to be cut.

Permits formerly were for shorter periods and rights were obtained at timber auctions.

There are about 300 timber operators in the province and 2,000 permit holders cutting pulp wood. The Manitoba Paper Co. plant at Pine Falls is the only pulp and paper mill in the province.

Former RCA Chief Heads Oil Giant

NEW YORK (AP)—John J. Burns, who left a college teaching job to become a laborer and later became a $200,000-a-year electronics company president, has been named to head one of the biggest oil companies in the United States.

Directors of Cities Service Co. Tuesday named Burns, 56, to succeed chairman Burl S. Watson when Watson retires at the end of the year.

Running a $1,100,000,000-a-year business will be nothing new to Burns, president of Radio Corp of American from 1957 to 1961. He resigned from RCA then in what appeared to be a policy dispute, although neither Burns nor RCA detailed his reasons for leaving.

Since 1961, Burns has been running a corporation to handle his own investments.

Transit Workers Ask Conciliation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union representing about 150 transit workers has asked the provincial labor department to establish a conciliation board in a contract dispute with Pacific Stage Lines, a subsidiary of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

A spokesman for the Amalgamated Transit Union (CLC) said the major issue involved is the system under which spare rivers are allocatec work.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mining Issues Hit Year Lows on VSE

Mining stocks hit lows for the year during morning trading today on the Vancouver stock exchange. Losses were general in all sections.

Du[illegible] the morning's most activ[illegible], dropped nine cents to 65 [illegible] on 89,000 shares.

Lows were hit by Cariboo, down two at 48 cents, Copper Soo down five to 36 cents, National Explorations off one to nine cents, New Cronin down three to 27 cents and New Imperial down 16 cents to $1.75.

Peel was down two to 14 cents and Rodstrom down five to 23 cents, Rolling Hills down two to 40 cents, Texore down two to 22 cents and Torwest down four to 64 cents.

AT TORONTO industrials had fractional losses after being on the upside in light mid-afternoon trading today.

In the main list, Royal Bank, Canadian Westinghouse and Consolidated Paper each fell ¾ to 74½, 72 and 42½, respectively, while Calgary Power dropped 1¼ to 21 and Toronto-Dominion Bank ⅝ to 63⅝.

Dominion Bridge and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce lost ½ apiece to 26¼ and 64. Aluminium fell ⅜ to 29⅜.

Dynamic Petroleum dropped 5 cents to $1.07 among penny oils and traded 112,584 shares.

AT NEW YORK early gains faded and the market headed lower late this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Loses of key issues ran from fractions to about a point.

A handful of volatile issues posted wider moves, either way.

U.S. Smelting was a 3-point loser on news of a proposed merger with Mueller Brass which lost a fraction.

Control Data also dropped about 3 but Eastern Air Lines rallied with a gain exceeding 2. American Airlines slumped more than a point.

AT MONTREAL stocks were generally lower in moderate trading today. Banks were lower with Canadienne Nationale down ½. Papers were also lower with Fraser off ½. In utilities Brinco slipped ⅛.

AT LONDON the market today maintained the slightly better appearance established Tuesday but business remained small and best prices were not always maintained.

Nevertheless, leading industrials, although off the top in places, often showed small rises on the day.

Firm features included Hawkers and Courtaulds. Reed Paper was a particularly good market, Bowater recovered an early small fall. Tobaccos generally were firm.

Dollar stocks reflected the improvement in trans-Atlantic markets overnight.

BRAZIL PAYS $8 MILLIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co. Ltd. has received in full from Brazil arrears payments of more than $8,250,000 due last year, president J. Grant Glassco said Tuesday.

He told the annual meeting that remittances from subsidiary companies to service their debts with the parent firm also are coming forward regularly. This reflects "the great improvement" that has occurred in Brazil's current payments situation, Mr. Glassco said.

Stock Split By Pipeline Under Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation enabling Interprovincial Pipe Line Co. to make a five-for-one stock split was given second reading in the Commons Tuesday and sent to a House committee for detailed study.

The bill, sponsored by Ian G. Wahn (L—Toronto-St. Paul's), had been under debate for several weeks.

It passed second reading — approval in principle — without a recorded vote after Arnold Peters (NDP — Timiskaming) suggested the company should enlarge the split to make it 50 for one.

Mr. Peters said the announced purpose of the stock split is to open the way for more investment in Interprovincial by individual Canadians. This was a commendable motive and a more honest explanation than offered last year when the company suggested the stock split would provide greater participation by its employees.

"That was a lot of eyewash."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye were lower, while feed grains continued steady in light trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Rapeseed fell to new seasonal lows in all futures traded, and new lows were reached in July flax. The October future equalled the seasonal low. Declines were attributed to recessions at Chicago. Soybean rallies at Chicago stimulated occasional rallies locally.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Island Bought by Mainland Group

By JIM HUME
Times Business Editor

Knapp Island, a kidney shaped beauty spot just off the coast near Swartz Bay, is now owned by E.M.P. Estates Ltd.

Hume

The deal went through a few weeks ago.

Who and what is E.M.P. Estates?

Well, the official address is 1305 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.—the official home of Dueck of Broadway, the new and used car people.

* * *

Could be that the pressures of the mainland are getting Mr. Dueck down and he's seeking the solitude that Knapp Island, and a 100 other islands in the gulf offer the tired and weary.

Susie McConnell Bird, who pens the odd missive for The Times from the Tofino area, drops a line to say that the Interior isn't the only place where mining is booming.

Walty Guppy, she says, and Kenneth Gibson have recently re-staked a copper showing on the Clayquot River at the head of Clayquot Arm on Kennedy Lake.

According to the West Coast scribe, assay returns show 11.6 per cent copper, 1.76 silver and .02 gold with traces of cobalt and nickel.

She goes on to wish Messrs. Guppy and Gibson a lot of luck. And so do we.

* * *

Look forward to some stomach disturbing reading if the authorities go along with a recommendation from the federal food and drugs committee that prosecutions under the food and drug act be given lots of publicity.

The Consumers' Association of Canada is also all in favor of turning the spotlight on offenders and wants major headlines each time a court finds manufacturers guilty.

That they have a case there is no doubt.

In 1964 more than 100 prosecutions by the food and drug directorate resulted in the payment of $25,000 in fines—but few of us heard what for.

Says the CAC: "Adulteration in meat and excess fat in ground beef were two of the major types of prosecution. Thirty prosecutions were for excess fat and sulphite in sausage.

"Probably more effective than prosecutions are the seizures (which can be made under the act) which last year amounted to goods worth $700,000. In addition, goods worth over $81,000 which did not meet food and drug standards were voluntarily disposed.

"It is disturbing to note that in these two categories 30 types of goods (foodstuffs) were seized or destroyed because of Salmonella contamination. In the total of all prosecutions there were 96 reports of food being unfit for human consumption, 30 instances of insect infestation in food and eight instances of rodent excrement in food products."

* * *

Not the pleasantest of reading, but the problem of pure food won't be solved by burying the head in the sand.

If you have a local problem drop Mrs. W. E. Rolls a line at 1695 Cedar Hill Cross Road. She is one of the active CAC members in this area and would be delighted to take up the cudgels in the fight for better products.

* * *

Talking of products, bought an electric lawnmower last week from Tom Billington at Simpson-Sears.

Read an article in a Consumer Report Monday saying that of 26 electric mowers tested only two had passed a variety of tests, safety and otherwise.

My sleek new Craftsman was not among the two.

Funny thing, that, because it worked fine on two rough workouts and appeared as safe as any motor rotary mower.

No fingers or feet missing—yet—and the lawn looks very neat.

STUDEBAKER MOVES AHEAD

VICTORIA, June 23 (DM)—Studebaker announces that it will introduce its 1966 line of automobiles with all new interiors and front and rear exterior restyling.

Gordon E. Grundy, President of Studebaker's Canadian-based Automotive Division, said the 1966 models will feature improvements to increase the comfort, durability and utility of Studebaker automobiles.

The 1966 line will continue to include sliding roof Station Wagons, two and four-door sedans in the Commander, Daytona and Cruiser lines of Studebaker cars.

One major feature of the 1966 Studebakers will be across-the-board use of a new ventilation system as standard equipment. The new system provides a constant flow of fresh air through the passenger compartment, even when all window vents are closed. It eliminates the tendency toward fogging of interior glass surfaces.

The 1966 models are scheduled for early public introduction in dealer showrooms by late September.

The Hamilton, Ontario, factory will close for model changeover and vacations during July. This plant, which employs more than 1,000 salaried and hourly personnel, recently signed a three-year agreement with the United Auto Workers of Canada.

The 1966 model changes will not affect Studebaker's announced policy of providing customers with mechanical running changes during the model year, Grundy added.

During the 1965 model year, for example, Studebaker began installing Transistorized Ignition as standard equipment on one model, the first North American auto manufacturer to do so. The improvement also was made a low cost $42.50 option on all other Studebaker cars.

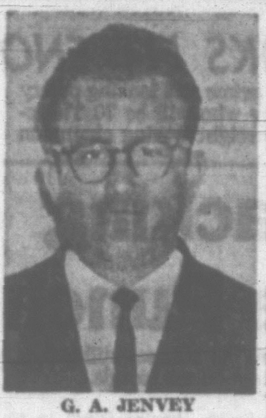
In addition, the Company recently announced addition of three new "running change" safety features on 1965 cars. These included safety door latches, a new accelerator pedal and a safety change in rear axle design.

Studebaker soon will introduce a new air conditioning unit, available on all its cars for the balance of 1965 and through 1966 as well as other utility and convenience improvements.

Grundy declined to discuss details of the 1966 models except to say that the new interiors will be the "most luxurious ever to appear in a Studebaker automobile." He said the 1966 model announcement was an indication of Studebaker's determination to continue its pattern of steady improvement in its automotive product.

The Corporation was pleased to report to the press on April 13 that their first quarter operating profits were up 74 per cent over the first quarter of 1964. This is the fifth consecutive quarter of profits for the Corporation which earned $8,064,934.00 during all of 1964.

SALES MANAGER APPOINTED



G. A. JENVEY

On May 14, 1965, Mr. Jenvey was appointed to the position of General Sales Manager of Hickman Tye Hardware Co. Ltd. Despite the fact that Mr. Jenvey is a young man, he has been with the company for 18 years and is thoroughly conversant with their policies, products and methods of operation.

The growth and expansion of Hickman Tye, together with the development of their H.T.D.M.S. and Pro Dealer plans, will keep Mr. Jenvey and his staff very active in the months ahead.

Mr. Jenvey has been residing at Qualicum Beach, V.I., but will move to Victoria and take over his new position on July 1, 1965.

N.Y. Post Shuts Down In Dispute With ITU

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Post suspended publication today as the result of a labor dispute with the printers' union over automation.

The normally busy newsroom was quiet this morning with only four of the editorial staff on duty. The early morning shift of 40 printers had reported for duty as did the 110-man day shift.

The paper's publisher and president, Dorothy Schiff, had called Bertram Powers, president of New York Typographical Local No. 6, during the night to tell him the printers should not report to the composing room.

Mrs. Schiff suspended publication after Tuesday's final edition. The dispute started with the suspension of eight printers by their foreman when they refused to process tape through a computer.

Powers arrived at The Post today for a brief meeting with the printers. He said no talks with The Post's management were scheduled, but urged a face-to-face meeting "to discuss all the issues involved."

"As soon as the men are put back on the job, we are ready to negotiate," Powers said.

A notice was posted on the bulletin board telling the 1,400 employees—280 of them printers—not to return to work until further notice "except in the case of individual employees who will be specifically requested to report."

The Post had a circulation on March 31 of 337,556 daily and 260,957 on its weekend issue.

Lengthy Talks Fail to End Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grain handlers today move into the fourth week of a strike that has so far cost Vancouver more than $1,000,000 and tied up a third of the port's grain shipments.

Union representatives met with federal investigator Dr. Neil Perry Tuesday for talks that lasted far into the night.

Vancouver's largest grain elevator, which normally handles 5,000,000 bushels of grain a month, has been closed by the strike since June 2.

Six others can be closed any time by the International Union of Brewery, Flour, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers Union (CLC).

A lawsuit brought by Alberta Wheat Pool against the union has been cited as the big stumbling block in union-management negotiations.

Indians Make Believers Out of Foes and Fans

Cleveland Captures 10th Straight Before 66,948

(Times News Services)

Cleveland Indians first made "believers" of their American League rivals and now their long-lost fans are beginning to get the message.

The message is that the dreary sixth-place finishers of 1964 are bonafide flag threats in '65—and it came through loud and clear to 66,948 fans Tuesday night when the Indians came from behind twice to score a 5-4, 10-inning victory over Minnesota Twins.

The triumph stretched the Indians' winning streak to 10 games, their longest since 1961, while the crowd was the largest to see the Indians at home since June 17, 1962. The crowd was swelled by 45,273 members of the Grandstand Managers' Club, admitted on tickets sold at cut-rate prices in a special promotion, but it proved that the team is catching the imagination of fans who virtually deserted it in recent years.

Brilliant pitching has been the key to the success of the Indians, who moved into a second-place tie with the rained-out Chicago White Sox, only ½ game behind the first-place Twins, but it was late-inning home run power that produced Tuesday night's victory.

Duke Sims tied the score with his first big league homer in the eighth inning and then jack-of-all trades Chuck Hinton won it with a homer leading off the 10th. It was the seventh homer of the year for Hinton, acquired from Washington Senators in one of Gabe Paul's big winter deals.

Pirates' Vern Lays Down the Law

Luis Tiant, who pitched a one-hitter in his previous start, went 6⅔ innigs for the Indians but relief pitcher Gary Bell picked up the win for two innings of shutout pitching.

Baltimore Orioles defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1 and then lost 4-2, New York Yankees bounced back from a 6-2 loss to beat Kansas City Athletics 4-2 and Los Angeles Angels topped Detroit Tigers 3-0 in other AL games.

Vern Law of Pittsburgh Pirates, an elder in the Mormon Church who lives by a rigid, self-imposed code of ethics, lists among his cardinal rules:

"I will always have a happy smile for everyone, especially those who like me least."

That's beginning to take in most of the National League.

Law's happy smile was turned loose on San Francisco Giants Tuesday night as he checked them on four hits and slammed a three-run homer in a 6-0 victory. That stretched his winning streak to seven and lowered his earned-run average to 1.59—best among all starting pitchers in the majors.

HAD LOST FIVE

Before starting his streak May 21, the 35-year-old right hander had another string going—five straight losses.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati Reds moved into second place, three games back of the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, by sweeping a doubleheader from St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 and 4-2 while the Dodgers were taking a single game from New York Mets 4-2. Chicago Cubs whipped Milwaukee Braves 6-1 and Philadelphia Phillies belted Houston Astros 7-2.

The Giants were unable to put more than one base runner on at any time against Law and could not get a runner past second base. Law got support from Willie Stargell, who hit his 16th and 17th homers while Law was collecting his first of the season.

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIRLEY POVICH

(The Washington Post)

WASHINGTON—Rick Monday woke up 104,000 dollars richer last Wednesday morning.

The sudden wealth of this 19-year-old sophomore at Arizona State University was conferred on him by, of all people, the unwealthy Kansas City Athletics. They scraped up most of the money by selling their first baseman, Jim Gentile, to the Houston Astros for 100,000 dollars and other considerations.

Young Monday, who plays the outfield, is one of the 823 college and schoolboy players who were tapped by the major league clubs and their farm teams in the newly-devised free-agent draft. He was the first player drafted by any team. The A's won the right to select him, thanks to their own spectacular failure in last season's pennant race when they ousted the Senators from last place.

The young man was understandably regarded as the prize prospect of the lot. His .362 batting average in college ball, garnished by 11 home runs, commended him, as did his superb physique, 6-foot-3 and 195 pounds. He can race after a fly ball and catch it, and also takes his speed to the basepaths.

The man who landed Monday was Charles O. Finley, the A's president, who personally negotiated with him and says he is pleased by his catch. But, ironically, Finley is not pleased with the new draft system the major leagues installed this year. He despises it.

Finley Against Free-Agent Draft

Finley has frequently angered the baseball powers by his flamboyant promotions and efforts to move his Kansas City franchise at the drop of a hint he can make more money elsewhere, but on the subject of the free-agent draft he is on the side of the purists. "It is no good," he says.

Baseball, Finley says, has no right to indenture young lads by a simple agreement among the clubs to arrogate ownership rights to themselves. "It takes away all of the boy's bargaining powers," he says, and he says also that it is in restraint of trade and could bring down the wrath of Congress.

When organized baseball did decide to risk a new government scrutiny of its operations, it went even farther than the practises of the pro football clubs, whose draft they formerly criticized as high-handed stuff. The pro football teams were the first to draft college players without even so much as a by-your-leave.

Option Takes Some of the Heat Off

Baseball had been proud of what it called its player's original right of selection, in contrast to football's system of dictating which team the player must join. Baseball could not deny that a player, once signed, was club property for life or until he was disposed of, but it always underscored the freedom of choice it had given that player in the beginning.

On paper, the football people never exercised rigid life-rights to players. They arbitrarily have been lassoing them since 1935 but always point piously that any player can become a free agent anytime by playing out the one-year option that is included in the standard one-year contract. It has served to help appease the anti-trust agencies.

Now the positions are reversed, with baseball moving into football's former role as the pre-emptory power over young athletes, without the grace of a release clause. It may be the more unsavory because, unlike football, baseball dips down to the high school level, leaving educators to join the protest against it.

Shattered Dreams Payoff for Some

The baseball teams are contending, however, that their new draft system does not absolutely arrogate property power over the players to the drafting clause. They point out the provision claiming him; that he can wait six months and invite offers from other clubs. But boys who think they have a chance to play baseball for money rarely wait. For an eager lad, six months can be an eon.

The 104,000 dollars that went to young Rick Monday is, moreover, misleading. The other 822 young players drafted from schools and colleges will get no sum like this, no matter what may be their ideas when they hear of Monday's windfall. Hundreds were drafted with only scant idea by the clubs that they were major league material, and the average bonus is more likely to be 5,000 dollars, if that much.

There is no place for 823 new players in the majors, even if they had the proper skills, and the pay scale in minor league ball is frightfully low. The 20 big-league clubs who drafted the 823 claimed most of them needlessly in a bare-faced coverup that will leave so many of the youths with shattered dreams.

Torrid Batting Trio Keeps Movers Rolling

Solid hitting by Bob Lumley, Tom Moore and Les Brice at Royal Athletic Park Thursday night enabled Greaves Movers to strengthen their grasp on first place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

Their work with the bats paved the way for pitcher Steve Dunc to breeze to his third victory in three starts—a 7-3 triumph over Independents.

Having his finest year at the plate, Lumley boosted his league-leading runs-batted-in total to 14. He poled a double in the opening inning to drive home Dave Rivers and singled in the seventh to score Tom Moore after the circuit's top hitter had smashed a triple.

Moore finished with two hits to boost his average to .433.

Manager Brice, also swinging a sizzling bat, boosted his bat mark to .377 with two hits.

FACE TRANSPORTS

Brice, whose fielding at first base, hitting and leadership make him a candidate for the league's most-valuable-player award, leads his club against second-place Transport Workers tonight at 6:30.

Swift southpaw George Hemming, who struck out 25 batters in his last meeting with Transports, is slated to work on the mound for the Movers.

CHINOOKS HONE HOOKS FOR INLET'S BIG ONES

Big salmon will be targets of experts Sunday at Saanich Inlet.

Chasing them will be Chinook Club members, competing in their annual derby for the Hugh Clarke Sportsmen's Cup.

Chinooks should know how to go about fooling the big ones. Membership to their club is open only to those anglers who have earned Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association buttons for landing salmon of 20 or more pounds.

Plenty of fishing and hidden-weight prizes are waiting for the Chinooks. Fishing will be from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and regular VSIAA derby rules will be in effect. Entry tickets are available from sporting goods stores and Saanich Inlet boathouses.

Edmonton Probes 'Brutal' Hockey

EDMONTON (CP)—City council has asked two aldermen to investigate what an Edmonton Exhibition Association member called "vicious and brutal" hockey being encouraged here by National Hockey League clubs.

W. D. McLean said Boston Bruins of the NHL and San Francisco Seals are involved in sponsorship of a junior hockey team at Edmonton and "we don't want them in our city."

Aldermen Ivor Dent and Frank Edwards will investigate the control NHL clubs hold over amateur hockey here. Both are teachers.

Without them they belong precisely to their present location . . . the league's basement.

They dropped their 13th game Monday night at Heywood Park, a 10-5 affair, to Carlings. Rick Blake led the winners with a three-run double. Ken Griffith chipped in with a two-run double.

RON JAY
. . . on hot streak

That's why names like Cliff Sepka and Ron Jay pop into the spotlight at regular intervals.

Sepka was the sergeant-major who steered New Westminster to an 11-10 overtime victory over Vancouver on Tuesday.

And Victoria Shamrocks look to Jay for some of the same when the Irish take on Coquitlam Adanacs in tonight's Inter-City League tussle at Memorial Arena. Game time is 8 p.m.

Jay has been a hot bird for Shamrocks. In the past three games, the 26-year-old veteran has picked up 10 points, including six goals, to move into seventh place in the individual scoring race.

Jay has managed to score a point in each of Victoria's 14 games this season.

Sepka, running fourth in the scoring race, scored the 600th goal of his ICLL career to inspire Westminster to its big triumph over second-place Vancouver. The win pushed Westminster four points ahead of the pack.

Sepka's goal, at seven minutes into overtime, made the score 10-9 for New Westminster. Linemate Paul Parnell drove in the winner less than a minute later. Vancouver scored one more with 52 seconds left in overtime to make it 11-10, but further attempts fell short.

PARNELL SPARKLES

Parnell, another veteran, led Westminster with three goals and three assists. Sepka also scored three time and had one assist. For Vancouver, Sid Warick was tops with three goals and one assist.

Les Norman played a fantastic game in goal for New Westminster, holding them in the battle for the first three quarters. Norman finished the night with 37 saves.

It was the third time this year that Vancouver has been involved in an overtime game, and only the first time they had a goal scored against them in the extra session.

East Boxlamen Pull Fast Switch

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Lacrosse League Tuesday night reversed its decision, announced earlier in the day, to accept the suspensions imposed Sunday by the Canadian Lacrosse Association on five British Columbia-registered players who recently joined QLL clubs.

At an emergency meeting of the QLL before a senior league game between St. Pierre Saints and Drummondville Athletics, the directors agreed to allow St. Pierre, which has four of the B.C. imports, to field the suspended players.

St. Pierre told league directors that if they were not allowed to include the men on their side they might as well withdraw from the league.

Drummondville accepted, but went through the formality before the game of lodging a "protest", to keep the records straight. The other clubs in the Eastern Division of the league agreed to adopt this formula in future games with the Saints.

WILL DISCUSS PROBLEM

The three clubs in the Western Division of the QLL have been asked by letter to follow the same procedure. If this is not acceptable to the clubs—Ottawa, Hull and Cornwall—they have been asked to suspend interlocking games until after July 3, when CLA president Carl Madgett of Toronto has agreed to be in Montreal for a full meeting on the problem.

Mr. Madgett's agreement to meet with QLL and Eastern Lacrosse Association officials, however, was given before the QLL gave permission to St. Pierre to field the suspended players.

In Tuesday night's game Drummondville beat St. Pierre 9-7. Five St. Pierre goals came from two of the controversial B.C. players, John Allen and John Hansen. The other two suspended St. Pierre men are Alex McLean and Ray Beech.

The fifth suspended B.C. player, Harry Wooley, who is now with Sorel Titans, was not on the team when it met Caughnawaga Indians following the Drummondville - St. Pierre game. Sorel has not contested the CLA suspension.

Ralston Defeats Doubles Partner

WIMBLEDON (CP)—The big names in the all-England lawn tennis championships had little trouble sweeping past their opponents Tuesday.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, defending women's singles champion, defeated Winnie Shaw, 18, of Scotland 6-3, 6-2, in the first round of the women's singles.

Miss Bueno, top-seeded in the women's play, had a bye in the first round. She is bidding for her fourth Wimbledon title.

In the only other women's games Tuesday, the second day of the championships, Britain's Christine Truman defeated Silvana Lazzarino of Italy 6-0, 6-0.

Third-seeded Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden defeated John McDonald of New Zealand 6-2, 6-4, 6-0.

Dennis Ralston, the top-seeded American, beat his doubles partner, Ham Richardson, 15-13, 9-7, 6-2.

Arthur Robert Ashe, Jr., 22, of the United States defeated Dave Kelso of Australia 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

For the second day in a row, a British Davis Cupper eliminated an American hope.

Bobby Wilson turned the trick, defeating Charles Pasarell 6-2, 8-6, 7-5.

Mike Sangster, also a British Davis Cup team member, eliminated Frank Froehling of the U.S. Monday.

Hawkins Star As Hitters Take Charge

Pitchers have held the upper hand during most of the Connie Mack League baseball season, but Tuesday night the batters took over.

Bats were ringing a merry tune at Marigold Park as Ken Hawkins paced Evening Optimists to a 10-8 victory over Al's Esso.

Hawkins drove in four runs for Optimists, who moved a full game into the league lead. Al Cuthbert stroked a two-run homer for Essos.

ABOARD GOOD OLD MORT . . .

. . . IN SATURDAY'S PLATE

Mud Would Suit Avelino Fine

TORONTO (CP) — Avelino Gomez doesn't want to wish rain on Saturday's 106th running of the Queen's Plate, but the Cuban jockey wouldn't mind just enough wet weather to make the track at Woodbine muddy.

Gomez will be aboard Good Old Mort, one of the favorites in Saturday's 1¼-mile classic for Canadian-bred three-year-olds who likes to run in the mud.

Good Old Mort didn't need mud in winning his section of the Plate Trial Monday at Woodbine, but the results there only added to the uncertainty surrounding the Plate.

This is because Whistling Sea, the only candidate from Western Canada among the dozen or so horses expected to go to the post Saturday, surprised everyone by winning the other section.

Nobody was more surprised than Whistling Sea's owner, Calgary oil-drilling supplier Paul Oliver. He regarded his horse as a sprinter because the horse had run a mile only once and finished fifth. Whistling Sea's successes had all been over seven furlong or less.

No western horse has won the Plate and Whistling Sea will have solid sentimental support from the West. Trainer Roy Johnson is from Calgary and jockey Tak Inouye is from Vernon, B.C.

Gold Old Mort, owned by Ed Seedhouse of Toronto, and Whistling Sea will have plenty of competition.

Among the other favored horses are Flyalong, owned by Tom Hayes of Oakville, Ont., and D. B. Weldon of London, Ont.; Native Victor, owned by the Windfields Farm of Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, and Des Erables, owned by Mrs. Simone Thomas of Montreal, and ridden by Preakness winner Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B.

Native Victor, who didn't run in the trials, still rates as a top favorite because of his impressive victory over several other Queen's Plate candidates last week.

Other horses likely to parade to the post Saturday include Blue Mel, a $32,000 purchase by Phil Boylen of Toronto this spring; Grand Galop, owned by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal; Chop-Em-Please, owned by Mrs. Paul Desmarais of Montreal, and Champlain, owned by Taylor.

TEE TOPICS

By Ernie Fedoruk

Golfdom took a new look at Gary Player on Monday, June 21.

The amiable little guy with forearms like Popeye's caused quite a stir when he gave away $27,000 after winning the U.S. Open championship.

Player's winnings totalled $26,000 but he tossed $2,000 to his 16-year-old caddy and then turned over a $25,000 cheque to Joe Dey, the executive director of the U.S.G.A. Dey was asked to shove $20,000 of the winner's purse towards junior development and the remaining $5,000 to the U.S. cancer fund.

Why?

"I have made most of my money and won most of my golfing fame in this country," Player explained. "I feel I owe this country a great deal. I feel it is my duty to do something for this country and for golf."

If you believe Player—and I, for one, do—it is a reasonable explanation.

Look at What's Around the Corner

Even before winning the Open in the playoff with Kel Nagle of Australia, Player admitted to a modest wealth. Now that the South African is entitled to autograph his name above the notation, "U.S. Open champion," greater wealth is assured. Estimates range from $250,000 (courtesy of the conservatives) to one million.

Player himself has guessed out loud that the Open title would mean "a half million dollars this year alone and another half million by the end of next year."

So what's $27,000 when there's a million just around the corner?

There is no accurate means of measuring the publicity value, but it's a cinch the $27,000 giveaway has more than tripled in worth.

Some critics are bound to declare Player made his grand gesture strictly for publicity purposes. Only Player and his astute business manager know for sure, but I personally think there was a certain degree of sincerity behind it.

This Little Alien Left It at Home

There have been many U.S. Open champions before Mr. Player came along but none has ever, publicly, turned his winnings into another pocket. At least to the extent Player did on Monday.

Not to be forgotten were the remarks of some U.S. pros just before the Open got under way in St. Louis. It was supposed to be a tongue-in-cheek thing, but the American lads pointed out that foreigners were wrecking the nation's economy with their winning habits.

The remarks were obviously directed at the likes of Bruce Devlin, Nagle, Player and Canada's George Knudson.

Could it be that Player was offering a rebuttal? If so, it was a $27,000 reply.

Finally—and perhaps most important—it must be acknowledged that Gary Player did something on Monday that no other giant of golf ever did. That was to give to, rather than take from, golf.

Hot Russell Maintains Four-Stroke Advantage

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Russell of Vancouver Point Grey tied three others with three-under-par 69s Tuesday but held the lead after the second round of the B.C. amateur golf championship.

Russell, playing on his home course had a 36-hole total of 66-69—135 to lead 63 players into the third and fourth rounds today.

Ross Ellison, a 17-year-old high school student, played the best round of his life to score one of the other 69s to go with his 78 Monday.

Jim Sced and Wayne Vollmer, both of Marine Drive, had the others.

Vollmer, who had a 70 Monday was four strokes behind Russell in second place. He is five strokes ahead of the next man, Ian Daniel of Glen Oaks with 144.

Defending champion Bert Ticehurst had a 73-75—148. He was grouped with several others.

STEADY GAME

Russell played a steady game with four birdies and ended the day with 36-33.

Vollmer started with three birdies on the first four holes.

All players with more than 162 for the 36 holes were chopped.

Ricky Kent, 19-year-old Victoria amateur champion, shot a 77 to go with Monday's 74 and has a 151 total, 16 strokes back.

Other Victoria golfers to make the cut were Don Tuttle, 75-79—154, and Joe Evans, 79-83—162, both of Colwood. Gene Koster of Nanaimo made it with 80-76—156.

Following today's two rounds, the eight leading scorers over the 72 holes of medal play go into match play Thursday. Both Friday's semis and Saturday's final will be over 36 holes.

DANCER ALSO SELECTED

Lacrosse Great In Hall of Fame

TORONTO (CP)—A thoroughbred race horse, a driver-trainer of harness horses and a lacrosse great have been voted to Canada's sports hall of fame.

The race horse is Northern Dancer, Canadian-bred winner of the 1964 Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Queen's Plate.

Joseph Cyril (Joe) O'Brien, a 48-year-old native of Alberton, P.E.I., is the standardbred personality.

The lacrosse representative is the late Patrick Joseph Lally of Cornwall, Ont., known to many as the father of the game.

The three were chosen from a field of 23 which was named earlier this year by selectors in each of the 10 provinces.

EARLIER CHOICES

They will join 1964 Olympic rowing gold medallists George Hungerford and Roger Jackson, both of Vancouver; 1965 world figure skating champion Petra Burka of Toronto and the 1965 world champion Canadian four-man bobsled team of Terry Presley of Arnprior, Ont., Mike Young of Port Credit, Ont., Peter Kirby of St. Jovite, Que., and Vic Emery of Montreal. All qualified automatically.

Membership in the hall of fame, founded in 1955 and located on the Canadian National Exhibition grounds here, now totals 118.

MISSED TRIPLE CROWN

Northern Dancer, owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor and trained by Horatio Luro, became the first Canadian-bred to win the Derby and Preakness and missed capturing racing's triple crown by losing in the Belmont Stakes. He scored 14 victories in 18 starts before a bowed tendon forced him to retire to stud last autumn. In less than two seasons, Northern Dancer won $580,647.

O'Brien achieved fame as both a driver and trainer of harness horses. He drove more than 2,000 winners and twice piloted horses to victory in the Hambletonian, the North American classic for three-year-old trotters. His early career was in the Maritimes, but he now lives at the Castleton Farm in Shafter, Calif.

Lally was born in Cornwall in 1867 and died there in 1956 after a 57-year career covering all facets of lacrosse. He began as a player and was active in field lacrosse for several years. He later became a referee and executive. Finally, he took over the operation of a Cornwall lacrosse stick manufacturing firm started by his late brother, Frank.

Dick Pick Named Curling President

Dick Pick, an active executive in baseball as well as curling, has been elected president of the Victoria Curling Club.

He succeeds Morley MacDonald.

Other officers named at the annual meeting were Gar Taylor, first vice-president, and Jack Inglis, second vice-president. Named to the directorate were Helen Edwards, Ken Sturrock, Stewart Mason, Gordon Moore, Keith Dagg and Don Matheson.

In a brief acceptance speech as he took over the reins of the Quadra Street rink, Pick noted that the "past year has been a rewarding one, as our financial statement shows."

Club officials stated the club "neither asks for, nor receives any help from the city other than friendly co-operation."

They pointed out that the club, which leases the land from the city, will this year pay $4,143.85 in taxes, plus business tax of $111.25 and costs of water.

The club, which keeps its building in use all year, not only assisted junior curlers, but allowed other sports groups to use the building at small fees in order to hold money-raising activities.

Home of the largest group of senior curlers in Canada and used by more than 400 students, the club is receiving increasing use as a convention site.

With Him No Other Linemen Necessary

WINNIPEG (CP)—A little more tackle than expected—about 80 pounds more—has dropped in on Winnipeg Blue Bombers' 1965 Western Football Conference training camp.

The scales trembled at 350 pounds for George Anderson, 23, import rookie from Iowa State University.

The Bomber brass was not impressed—Anderson was a little more than they had bargained for.

Coach Bud Grant said Anderson, who towers six feet five inches, weighed 290 pounds when signed to a tryout contract several months ago. The contract provided for a bonus if the mammoth tackle reduced—to 270 pounds.

Anderson puffed through opening sessions Monday night, then said: "I didn't realize I was this much out of shape."

Equipment man Bob Jones dug out a size 42 pair of pants—four sizes too small—with the words: "He's the biggest I've ever seen."

A little too big.

The word is Anderson will be heading back to Iowa soon to resume a high school coaching post.

Lack of Sponsors Threat To Grid Telecasts in West

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto television executive says the inability of a Montreal advertising agency to line up sponsors for telecasting Canadian Football League games in Western Canada has had a disturbing effect on the country's two TV networks.

Gordon Keele, executive vice-president of CTV, said Tuesday that unless the firm (Bouchard, Champagne and Pelletier) meets its commitments, football fans in Western Canada will be without professional football on their television sets.

A CBC-TV spokesman said that, as of last Friday, his network took the position that somebody must pay for the unsponsored portion of any telecast before CBC will agree to a package TV deal.

In Montreal, the ad agency refused to comment on sales pertaining to football broadcasts. Bouchard, Champagne and Pelletier purchased CFL television rights for the 1965 season.

Keeble said obtaining sponsors has always been a problem in Western Canada and that this year would be even more difficult since CTV's telecast schedule was for three fewer games at an increased cost.

He said that BCP paid considerably more for the advertising rights to televise CFL games than did the CTV network in 1964.

The agency paid $475,000 for the TV rights to CFL games in Eastern Canada this year compared to $401,000 (and three fewer CTV broadcasts) in 1964.

Keeble said he didn't have the exact increased costs in Western Canada but assumed they would be comparable.

"We (CTV, CBC-TV and the advertising agency) have agreed on a broadcast schedule, but CTV has requested certain guarantees with BCP," said Keeble.

SUMMER 'SPIEL

Curling Enthusiasts Refuse to Give Up . . .

It's hardly the season but curlers, like old soldiers, never die . . .

For that reason, a limit entry of 48 rinks is ready to start play Thursday in the annual summer bonspiel at Esquimalt's Sports Centre.

Opening draws are strictly for district rinks, including some from Duncan. Off-Island challengers step into the hack on Friday.

First games for all rinks:

BY SEVEN WICKETS

England Wins Second Test

LONDON (Reuters)—English opener Geoff Boycott and former England captain Ted Dexter added 126 in 135 minutes for the third-wicket partnership and helped England to a seven-wicket victory over New Zealand Tuesday in the second cricket Test match at Lord's.

The victory was England's second in the three-match series.

Torrential rain during the night and this morning threatened England's hopes, but the match got under way in mid-afternoon. England, 64 for 1 wicket overnight, had to score 152 runs in 175 minutes for victory, and suffered an early setback when Freddie Titmus was out with only 6 runs added.

But Boycott and Dexter seemed perfectly at ease against the varied New Zealand attack. Boycott reached his 50 in 138 minutes and went on to score 76 before being leg-before to Motz. This wicket gave Motz his third success of the afternoon at a personal cost of 45 runs.

Dexter was 80 not out after making the winning hit—a four—off Reid, who came on for what was the last over.

New Zealand, which lost the first test by nine wickets, have yet to beat England in Test cricket.

Other matches:

At Nottingham: Match abandoned, rain. Warwickshire 208; Nottinghamshire 57 and 129 for 4.

At Buxton: Match abandoned, rain. Lancashire 88 and 128 for 9; Derbyshire 61.

At The Oval: Match abandoned, rain. Surrey 239; Kent 95 for 1 wicket.

At Cardiff: Glamorgan beat Sussex by 8 wickets. Sussex 165 and 106; Glamorgan 189 and 85 for 2.

At Romford: Match abandoned, rain. Essex 151 an 30 for 4; Hampshire 115 for 8 declared.

At Worcester: Match drawn. Gloucestershire 249 and 189 for 5; Worcestershire 322.

At Leeds: Northamptonshire beat Yorkshire by 58 runs. Northamptonshire 139 and 189 for 6 declared; Yorkshire 151 and 119.

Hibs Trounce Regina Squad

REGINA (CP) — Hibernian of the Scottish First Division defeated Regina Concordia of the Saskatchewan Senior League 15-1 in an exhibition soccer game played before 1,100 fans Tuesday night.

Centre forward Neil Martin led Hibernian with five goals. Inside left Pat Quinn scored three times, while left winger Jim Scott, inside right Willie Hamilton and right winger Peter Cormack each scored twice.

Hibernians' forward line played outstanding soccer, both as a unit and as individuals. Time and again they worked through the Concordia defence with slick, short passes.

Concordia is tied for first place in the Saskatchewan league with victories in its first two games.

Arthur Mayse

We have been entertaining this week in our genial city a batch of public speakers so gloom-ridden that it's no wonder the rain clouds are gathering. I refer specifically to Messrs. Haig-Brown, Diefenbaker, and Burns.

Naturally, one doesn't expect joy and mirth from prime ministers demoted to be leaders of the opposition, or from commentators who find themselves for the moment on the dark side of the moon.

But, by golly, when British Columbia's foremost writer decides to get into the act, I feel a protest is in order:

No one has ever accused me of being a bluebird upon anybody's window sill. I can view with alarm when an occasion warrants.

However, I absolutely refuse to agree our province is going to hell in a hand-basket, as author, magistrate, angler Haig-Brown seems to have implied after pocketing a writing award cheque for $1,000 at a B.C. government-sponsored dinner.

* * *

According to reporters there present, the sage of Campbell River was under a delusion. He thought, until reminded by a Canadian Authors' Association official, that the prize consisted of a mere hundred bucks.

If you found yourself all of a sudden nine hundred fish richer than you expected to be, would you then go on to assure an audience that you hated practically everything British Columbia stood for, including a chamber of commerce mentality that favors short-term material gain?

Well, I have spoken on this and that to several Victoria audiences and none has ever tried insulting me with even the shortest-term material gain, unless I count the bottle of after-shave some nice guys in a Gordon Head church club once gave me.

But if someone did sneak up on me with an award big enough to pay my property taxes and buy me a new outboard motor, my inclination would be to sing mighty sweet.

I might go so far as to take a cut at the Bennett government for certain of its more noxious policies. Such dissonances, though, would be but as ice-cream clouds in a summer sky.

As a matter of fact, these remarks by a distinguished British Columbian whose previous performance has earned the goodwill of his fellow citizens puzzle me, even though I share his concern over spoilage of certain natural resources

In Rod Haig-Brown's defence, let me point out that he may have been pulled down by two circumstances that unfailingly turn writer-fishermen or fishermen-writers dour.

One is the losing of a very large trout. When something like that happens to me, I'm snarly for a week after.

Or he may have been suffering from scriveners' block, a temporary malfunction of the inspiration glands which can hurt even worse than losing a trophy fish.

* * *

We can pass over Mr. Burns' utterances, except to note that they were not designed to stimulate faith in the learned professions, and that the voice which delivered them drew more listeners at a dollar a head than did Conservative Diefenbaker for free.

As for the Tory chief, all I seem to have got from him is a new set of worries about the asserted Pearson drift toward republicanism, and our provincial premier's chafferings with Japan.

Personally, I've had all the calamity-hollering I can stomach for one week.

At the risk of being considered a heedless hedonist, I intend to make happy talk, think cheerful thoughts, and indulge in pleasant dreams.

Wouldn't it be dandy, for instance, if some mystery benefactor were to bequeath us each a properly skookum short term material gain?

And if that same day, the United States were to beg wise old Britain to master-mind her foreign affairs?

Or even just to wake up tomorrow morning and find the sun shining?

24 Stricken At Hospital, Food Suspected

Health authorities here are investigating a sudden outbreak of stomach disorders among staff and patients at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Fifteen nurses and nine patients were stricken Monday.

Food poisoning is suspected but cannot be confirmed at this time, said Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, chief medical health officer for Victoria.

"The investigation is still going on. It takes some time to do these tests," said Dr. Whitbread.

He said samples of food and other items are being subjected to laboratory examination.

ALL RECOVER

Meantime, hospital officials stated that all of the victims are now over the illness, which was prevalent Monday.

A statement was issued by the hospital following reports to The Times by individuals who had placed the total of persons affected as high as 90.

The hospital reduced the total to 24, adding that the health board examination had exonerated the kitchen staff and all food handlers of any responsibility.

The hospital statement said the patients afflicted were all from one section of the hospital —maternity.

There was some speculation as a result, that only one batch of food was linked with the infection.

It was pointed out that considerable construction is underway at the hospital and workers had been in the vicinity of the food areas which could have resulted in contamination.

Hospital menus have been "limited" in scope because of the construction, the hospital statement added.

Dr. Whitbread said it was impossible at this time to say when a report would be available on the investigation by his department.

No Need Now

The need for strawberry pickers has slackened due to weather conditions slowing down the ripening of berry crops in Saanich.

National Employment Service officials said they have enough pickers for the time being, but more would be needed with the return of warm, sunny days.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the ratio of men and women in B.C. and in Canada?—M.H.B.

A. In B.C. there are 104 men for every 100 women, according to the 1961 census. In Canada, there are 102 men for every 100 women.

Q. What are the duties of the senior medical health officer of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health?—A.D.D.

A. He administers all medical health programs throughout the area.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

CITY RANKS 21st AVERAGE WAGES

Victoria ranks 21st among Canadian cities in average income earned by personal taxpayers.

A statistical analysis of 1963 income tax returns just completed by the revenue department shows the average income here was $4,660.

Up-Island points did a little better—Nanaimo was seventh with $4,885 and Alberni eighth with $4,871.

On the mainland, Vancouver ranked 11th with $4,811, New Westminster was 19th at $4,673 and Prince George 24th at $4,559.

No other B.C. cities ranked in the top 25.

The highest average income was recorded by Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., the home of Algoma Steel Co., with $5,314.

Two other Ontario cities, Sarnia, chemicals centre, ($5,300) and Oshawa ($5,260), known for its automotive industry, were second and third.

Among major cities, Ottawa was fifth, Toronto ninth, and Montreal 16th.

Navy Postpones Ammo Dumping

The navy's ammunition-dumping program has been postponed because of the near-disaster involving HMCS Laymore, it was announced today.

Navy officials here said the postponement is not the result of the near-foundering of the vessel but because of the time lost in the recovery of the ship.

Laymore was carrying old ammunition to sea last week when mechanical difficulties and heavy seas combined to force the crew to abandon her. She was not returned to port until Sunday.

At the time of her misadventure Laymore still had 700 tons of ammunition ashore waiting her return.

Because of the lost time the vessel will now proceed into a scheduled refit at HMC Dockyard, the navy said.

The condemned ammunition will now be kept in storage at Rocky Point arsenal until next spring or summer when dumping will begin again.

Laymore will complete her refit in November or December, at a season not suited to the dumping project the navy added. She will be transformed into a research vessel for the Pacific Naval laboratory at Hal' Dockyard here.

'SIMPLY SURVEYED THE SCENE'

Car Hors de Combat, Not Dobbin

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A horse which is alleged to have driven a motorist into a ditch was the central figure in a county court action in Victoria Law Courts Tuesday afternoon.

The horse did not appear in court but was described as a three-year-old Welsh pony owned by Robert F. Richardson, 2862 Sooke Road.

"There is no suggestion the horse was an unfriendly beast," said lawyer Brian R. D. Smith, "but it was inadvertently the cause of a serious accident."

$1,141 CLAIMED

Mr. Smith was appearing for Victoria lawyer Louis Lindholm, 2760 Beach Drive. He claimed $1,141 for damages caused to Mr. Lindholm's car when he swerved to avoid the horse and the car crashed into a ditch and rolled over.

The accident occurred on Sept. 12 last at about 9:30 p.m.

Appearing before Judge Montague Drake, Mr. Smith claimed that Mr. Richardson was negligent in failing to keep the horse properly tethered, failing to keep it properly enclosed and omitting to take "all reasonable steps" to ensure that the horse did not wander.

C. O. D. Branson, counsel for Mr. Richardson, denied negligence. He said the horse was tethered with a quarter-inch polyethelene rope. Mr. Smith argued that it was tethered only by a clothes line with a piece of child's plastic skipping rope attached. It was about 20 feet long.

Mr. Smith said Mr. Lindholm was driving west on the Sooke Road, near Mr. Richardson's property, when he suddenly encountered a horse strolling on the public highway.

"He swerved to the left to avoid collision with the horse causing the car to fall into a ditch and roll over."

Mr. Smith said Mr. Lindholm escaped injury but his wife, who was driving with him, sustained slight injuries. The damaged car had to be towed away.

Appearing as a witness, Mr. Richardson said he arrived on the scene soon after the accident.

"What was the horse doing when you got there?" asked Mr. Smith.

"He was simply surveying the scene as anyone else would," Mr. Richardson replied.

ADJOURNED

Mr. Smith claimed that, under the Pound District Act, a horseowner is responsible for keeping his horse properly secured in a pound district.

The hearing adjourned until Friday at 11 a.m. when Mr. Branson will argue that Mr. Richardson was not responsible for the accident.

Reeve Fights Consolidated Court Proposal

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said today the attorney-general's department will be urged to reconsider consolidation of court facilities downtown.

"From an expense, convenience and manpower point of view, we feel this is wrong," he said.

Court facilities now are centralized in Saanich while the city police station and new courtroom are being completed in Centennial Square.

Saanich has a "beautifully-equipped court" which is ample to serve the needs of the municipality and possibly some outlying centres such as View Royal, Colwood and Central Saanich.

Reeve Curtis said indications from the attorney-general's department have been favorable to consolidation of court facilities downtown.

Referring to complaints of city dwellers who now must journey to Saanich for court, he said:

"If it is inconvenient for the city to come out here, it's going to be just as bad in reverse."

Militia Units Off to Vernon This Weekend

About 1,000 members of B.C. Canadian Army militia units will converge on the city of Vernon this weekend to attend annual summer militia training program at Glenemma Camp.

Among the 10 units taking part in the week-long exercises are the Canadian Scottish Regiment of Victoria, commanded by Lt.-Col. M. W. E. Allan and 155 Company Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, commanded by Major J. F. Rowe..

All units will participate in a series of tactical training field exercises and demonstrations to round out their year's training at local headquarters.

The exercises are designed to illustrate the use of modern weapons and tactics in the ever-changing fighting techniques of today's armies.

The 5th (B.C.) Field Battery of Victoria, commanded by Major T. G. Dalzell, will send about 150 men to Wainwright, Alta., for artillery range firing practice.

Hate Literature Left at Houses

Pamphlets Called 'Vicious'

Hate literature is being distributed from door to door in Victoria.

Pamphlets viciously attacking the Jehovah's Witness faith have turned up in at least one section of the city.

In a letter to city council Mrs. Violet Cox, 1712 Kings Road, enclosed one of the pamphlets which had been delivered to her door.

She requested city council do something to control the distribution of such literature.

There is nothing in law to control distribution of hate literature from door to door unless it is vulgar or obscene, say city police.

VANCOUVER

The pamphlets are published in Vancouver and give a post office box as an address.

A note on the pamphlet invites readers to send for a supply of more "informative" tracts and also requests the names of Jehovah's Witnesses to whom the tracts could be sent.

The author, the pamphlet informs, is a working man and has sponsored the printing costs.

"But, alas, we cannot begin to keep up with the demand because of lack of funds," says the tract.

The author calls himself a Christian and invites other Christians to pray that the Lord will send in more funds "so that a million copies of this message can go forth."

The pamphlet takes exception to the Jehovah's Witnesses' interpretation of the Bible and suggests that unsuspecting people are being "deluded and deceived by their pernicious teachings."

"The contents of the tracts are vicious and violent," said Mrs. Cox, "and I should think make a lot of people sick."

Causeway Prattle Doesn't Rattle; 'Worse Back East'

The Causeway ticket hawkers may be worrying Victoria merchants—but the tourists couldn't care less.

That's how it appeared to a Times crew of two who ran the gauntlet of promoters, boosters and pitchmen who greet summer visitors along the promenade today.

Tuesday it was reported that retail merchants' group, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, was undecided whether tourists are being welcomed for themselves or for their money.

Chairman John Cunningham said he found the whole thing "a little offensive."

●

Times staffers Candide Temple and Susan Pelland went to see—and to survey tourist reaction:

"There were quite a few (bus and tally-ho tour salesmen) around. But I guess you just have to ignore them."

"They're just good talkers."

"Nobody twisted our arms."

"We're from Los Angeles. So we're not used to all this nicety."

"It's much worse back east."

"Oh no. We're hunting for tickets instead of being high-pressured."

So said the tourists.

They said also that tour promoters are circulating on the ferries, including the B.C. Ferries, "but you don't have to say yes if you don't want to."

Those who come in with their car don't meet the promoters. But in Black Ball terminal competing tour officials tend to pounce on the visitors some offering cut rates.

They stand on either side as the passengers come up from the ferry handing out pamphlets and taking names, and shouting information on group rates.

●

Most of the tourists seemed placid about it all.

But the exceptions to the rule were four Washington University girls.

Pam, Gay and Candy Dubigh and Robin Mattson were upset.

"They shoved three or four pamphlets at us and followed us halfway down the street hounding us to take their ride.

"One of the guys offered us a free ride, but we didn't take it.

"Sure, they'd take us out for free, but then we wouldn't get back," said Pam.

Some of those bus operators are real operators, they said.

'Take Over' Natural Gas —Strachan

NDP Leader Robert Strachan today said B.C. Hydro's annual report shows the need for government taking over all natural gas production, transmission and distribution.

He also called on the crown agency to cut its retail rates for natural gas.

Mr. Strachan said the B.C. Hydro financial report released this week shows that public ownership of power utilities can mean lower rates to the consumer but that the B.C. utility is keeping its gas rates higher in order to garner more money for the Peace River construction program.

He said B.C. Hydro power customers are paying $13.62 for the same quantity of gas that is sold to customers in Edmonton for $5.80 and in San Francisco for $7.50.

'SOAKED'

The B.C. consumer is being "soaked," he charged:

"First, to force sales of electric power to justify and provide cash for the Peace River development and, secondly, to pay what the traffic will bear to government friend and natural gas monopolist Frank McMahon."

Mr. Strachan said B.C. Hydro has collected $30 million for natural gas that it bought for $10 million.

The BeEtles Poised to Wage War Against Balsam-Attacking Aphid

Thousands of German beetles will be released within the next few weeks in Thetis Lake Park.

The insects will be used to wage war against a bug which some say could ruin B.C.'s balsam forest reserves.

Forestry officials said the threat comes from an insect one-twentieth of an inch long and known as adelges piceae or the balsam wooly aphid.

It has been in B.C. for some time but in the last few years outbreaks have been more serious.

The beetle likes to search out the aphid and eat same.

On Vancouver Island, the aphid has spread from Victoria to Courtenay. They have also been found in balsam stands in the Howe Sound area of the lower mainland.

The province's entire inventory of balsam, estimated at 260,000,000 board feet, is in jeopardy unless a solution to the killer aphid is found, forest experts said.

In charge of releasing the German ladybird beetle—pullis implexus—is entomologist Dr. John Harris of the federal research forestry laboratory, Burnside Road.

The B.C. Forestry Service is also co-operating. Two crews, operating in the Duncan and Nanaimo areas, are conducting surveys to determine the extent of damage. Forester Mike Zachary of Victoria is in charge of this program.

Scientists won't know for some time if the beetle will thrive, multiply and become an effective control agent.

The aphid can be controlled by chemicals, but because it tucks itself away in the hidden recesses of the tree it attacks, chemicals are ineffective when dealing with entire forests.

To break down the fibres of a tree for nourishment, the aphid secretes a fluid directly into the tree, causing malformations in the cell structure.

Sometimes the malformation causes a growth known as "gout," or portions of the tree die through lack of nourishment.

In severe cases, aphids can kill a giant tree in about two years.

Newfoundland and New Brunswick are experiencing serious outbreaks of the insect and over 2,000,000,000 board feet of timber have been killed in Washington and Oregon since 1954.

Freschi Murder

A preliminary hearing into a charge of capital murder against David Robinson will likely be held July 13.

Robinson, a 24-year-old janitor, is charged with the slaying of Susan Freschi, 14, on May 12.

Robinson appeared in Colwood court today and was remanded to next Thursday without a date being set.

HE SEWS! SO WHAT?

So he's the only boy among 19 girls in the Cowichan Basting Belles, a 4-H group.

Richard Mayer, 13, pictured above with his sister, Sylvia, 14, enjoys learning to sew.

So what?

He's no sissy.

In fact he is such a great all-rounder his school is instituting a new award this year.

On Thursday, Richard will become first recipient of a citizenship trophy at Tansor Elementary School. Head teacher Terry Taylor says the award is based on academic and athletic ability

Richard is a star basketball player, and has yet to miss a day's schooling.

In the Basting Belles, he recently won the best project prize. His barbecue apron was chosen over entries by Richard's twin sisters Alison and Sylvia, 14, club president, Margaret, 15, and Eileen, 11.

Why is he a Basting Belle? Because he likes it.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC

DUNCAN—A parade band and a dance band at Cowichan senior high school is the plan of music director E. A. Stannard.

He told Cowichan district school board the proposed marching band would represent the district in other areas. Parents had been enthusiastic, he added.

Mr. Stannard reported he had organized bands at six schools in the area and the last of 21 concerts and appearances is scheduled for Thursday.

Next year, he said, there will be 231 band students—106 at Quamichan, 49 at Mount Prevost, 45 at Bonner and 35 at Cowichan Senior Secondary School.

Mother, Daughter Win Prizes

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A mother-and-daughter team from Maple Bay led the way in a recent flower show here.

Mrs. J. C. Bromilow won trophies for best adult exhibit and also took novice class honors.

Her daughter Judy had best exhibit in junior section and captured the children's aggregate.

Mrs. W. J. Cotsford won three trophies. She was presented with the over-all aggregate trophy, cup for the best exhibit in the decorative section, and an engraved tray for winning the decorative section for three years.

Mrs. Andrew Hallett had the high aggregate in the floral division. The cup for capturing the floral division three consecutive years, 1962-1964, went to Mrs. W. J. Clarke.

David Dougan, 9, won the aggregate trophies in the flower and photography sections, while his sister, Heather, won the third junior award for aggregate points.

The adult photography award went to Ken Bowden.

Decorative and floral classes of the 20th Shawnigan Lake show were judged by Mrs. Louise Freeborn, Mrs. Ina McCade, Miss E. Thompson and Mrs. J. Gilling, all members of Victoria Horticultural Society.

Stan Dakin, Nanaimo; Len Parson and Mrs. Ann Wilson of Victoria were the photography judges and Mrs. R. H. Bevan of Victoria judged junior classes.

Tug Strike Ends

SEATTLE (AP) — The first tugboat strike to hit Puget Sound in 30 years came to an end Tuesday with agreement on terms which will be submitted to union members for their approval. Federal mediator Albin Peterson announced the agreement of nine companies and some 750 tugboat crew members.

GRADUATES FIND JOBS

DUNCAN — Jobs have been found for eight members of the first occupational program graduating class here.

The program sponsored by the Cowichan school board provides students with part-time on-the-job training in gardening, feed mill work, bus maintenance, mechanics, iron works, auto body work and other trades.

Graduates are William Davies, John Dodsworth, James Dunbar, Michael Dyer, Alan Forsley, Ronald Hanson, Robert Seymour and George West.

Child Poisonings Jump 'Alarming'

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN — There was an "alarming increase" in child poisonings here last year.

Administrator Ken Noton of the King's Daughters' Hospital said Tuesday there had been a 68 per cent increase among children under three years of age.

In 1963 there were 25 cases and last year the hospital treated 42 children.

Mr. Noton said: "Families are urged to keep all pills and solutions out of reach of their children."

He listed among the more common dangers: Aspirins, furniture polish, car wax liquid, adult cough syrups, peroxide, camphorated oil and turpentine.

★ ★ ★

DUNCAN—City council criticism of Cowichan High students as litter louts was dismissed Tuesday as unwarranted and unfair.

Council had written to Principal R. E. Lendrum after Ald. Hamish Mutter complained of lunch paper litter in Pioneer Park adjoining the school.

Joseph Frumento, chairman of the board, said many more students used the school grounds than the park and he had never seen the school grounds littered.

Ald. Mutter's criticism was without basis in fact, he said. It was a personal assumption which he should have had the courtesy to discuss with the board.

Council's letter will be referred to the board for reply.

DUNCAN—A committee had been set up to study the need for chronic hospital beds in the area, Ken Noton, King's Daughters' Hospital administrator, said Tuesday.

The committee members will be chosen from the Cowichan, Newcastle and Islands Health Council.

The study will cover the areas served by the Duncan, Ladysmith, Chemainus and Ganges hospitals.

James W. Mainguy, hospitals inspector of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, recently told the council the average need was one chronic bed for every 50 people over 65 years of age.

The King's Daughters' Hospital board has already received approval in principle from the government for a 40-bed chronic hospital.

BROTHER MISSING IN STRAIT

Danny Digs In on Search

World champion tree-climber Danny Sailor, well known for his daredevil participation in All-Sooke Day logging sports, is trying to cheat death again.

He's heading a widespread search for his brother, Bill, 33, missing in Georgia Strait.

Bill and George Gunson, 45, both of Coquitlam area, left on a one-day sports fishing trip Thursday in a white fibreglas outboard boat.

A search by RCAF aircraft and coast guard vessels was called off Saturday. But a volunteer search has continued.

Danny, who now lives at Surrey, has centred the search on Tsawwassen area, Point Robetrs, Crescent Beach and the intervening mud flats.

"We would appreciate it if anyone with a small boat in the area would keep his eyes open. Anyone who wants to volunteer help is welcome," said Danny.

He added, any reports should be made to Air-Sea Rescue.

The missing pair had planned to set some crab traps and the searchers have found one trap off Tsawwassen ferry dock.

Nanaimo Cold-Shoulders Tri-U

NANAIMO—City council here Monday rejected a request for a $15,000 grant to the Three-Universities Capital Fund.

The request, from the main fund committee in Victoria, was for the city to donate $1 per capita per year for the next five years.

It would have amounted to about $3,000 a year.

Council voted 3 to 2 against the request.

The feeling was that local municipal governments are already assuming too large a share of the cost of higher education. Aldermen felt senior governments should be responsible for financing higher education.

Would you believe it?
This is the lowest-priced 4-door hardtop in Canada

And extra excitement goes with hardtop styling — just removing that centre pillar from the windows adds a whole heap of sportiness and good looks ordinary sedans can't match. That's why there's usually a premium on hardtops — except Corvair. We took the premium off hardtop styling by making all closed Corvairs hardtops! The Corvair 500 Sport Sedan costs hundreds of dollars less than any other 4-door hardtop — but you'd never guess it! It has the sophisticated international look that's made Corvair the most talked-about car this year. It has an air-cooled rear engine that loves winter cold and summer heat. It has fully independent suspension — front and rear. It has better steering, handling and braking than ever before. It has all-vinyl interiors, arm-rests, sun visors, electric wipers, lighter, 9 power team combinations . . . everything a Corvair should have. See your Chevrolet dealer. Scouts Plan Coast Hike

It's no more pencils, books or staying indoors for boys of the Hawk Patrol, 5th Garry Oak Scout Troop A.

Now that school is out, they plan to start a seven-day hike up the West Coast from Nitinat to Bamfield on Thursday.

On the way they will study plants and marine life and will make a report to be entered in a national competition for the Vicount Amery award.

According to the rules, the report must be based on an extended hike organized without the help of adults.

Ex 'Boy Wonder' Of Films Dies

SELZNICK
. . . heart attack

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The movie industry today heaped unusually high praise on David O. Selznick, maker of the all-time classic "Gone With The Wind., who died Tuesday of a heart attack at the age of 63.

His death came amid speculation he was ready to return to Hollywood to attempt "something significant." Just what his close friends and associates did not immediately disclose.

Selznick was stricken in the office of his attorney, Barry Brannen, in Beverly Hills about 1 p.m. and was pronounced dead an hour later at Mt. Sinai Hospital. His doctor reported he suffered an acute coronary occlusion.

Selznick was accompanied to the hospital from the attorney's office by his wife, Academy Award winning actress Jennifer Jones.

"BOY WONDER"

Russell Birdwell, former director of publicity for Selznick, said the former "boy wonder" of the film industry had told him he was coming back and "wanted to discuss something significant with me."

The most prominent Hollywood movie makers expressed shock and sorrow at the news of Selznick's death.

"I am heartbroken at the news," said Samuel Goldwyn. "I have lost a dear friend and the world of motion pictures has lost an outstanding talent."

TOP PRODUCER

Darryl F. Zanuck, president of 20th Century-Fox studios, said, "This is a real shock to me. He was a great friend of mine. We practically started together. He was one of the five or six top producers Hollywood ever had."

He once told a friend, "when I die the only thing I want on my tombstone is David O. Selznick who produced 'Gone With the Wind'."

Made in 1939, the picture earned an academy award for Vivien Leigh and starred the late Clark Gable. It stands as one of the all-time box office hits.

$50 MILLION

To get Gable, Selznick said he had to agree to let MGM have production rights. The film grossed $50 million—more than any other.

Selznick was the first producer to win the academy award on two successive years—with "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca." He also received the Irving Thalberg Memorial Award, one of the highest tributes that can be paid to an industry figure.

NOBODY WAVED GOODBYE
All-Canadian Winner
Fox Theatre

This all-Canadian feature film is fresh and unaffected and in every sense a credit to the National Film Board of Canada.

It is touching, amusing, always interesting and often startlingly realistic; in fact acting and camerawork are so spontaneous you often have the uncomfortable sensation of snooping into private lives.

Nobody Waved Goodbye was written and directed by Don Owen with a virtually all-Toronto cast and has been running at two theatres in New York for 10 weeks.

With such precedents, it has received far more support in Canada than earlier Canadian products—and the Fox Theatre was almost full at both showings Tuesday evening.

* * *

The story focusses on the boy (Peter Kastner), his girl (Julie Biggs), his mother (Charmion King) and his father (Claude Rae). Peter and Julie are restless youngsters in a restless world and their mood is set right at the start when Peter says:

"I don't know what I want but it isn't the kind of life out parents lead."

The boy is sharp enough in his criticism of money-oriented people and society, but falls down completely when asked to state his own values. In fact he has none—and that seems to be the main point of the film.

Perhaps the film's weakness springs from this same source. To me Peter Kastner is too intelligent and appears to have too much common sense to go as far astray as he does.

Julie Biggs provides an effective contrast to Peter in that she grows up more solidly despite the tribulations she, too, must undergo.

The black-and-white camerawork by John Spotton explores many Toronto locales with a cold, cryptic clarity that has nothing to do with tourist promotion.

This is a thoughtful film which raises many questions. But it doesn't answer them; it simply leaves the door open for discussion.

NAMED IN COMMONS

'Sex Film' Made by CBC Workers

OTTAWA (CP) — The justice department is passing the matter of the CBC employees in Room for a Stranger to the Toronto police, the Commons was told Tuesday night.

Ralph B. Cowan (L—York-Humber) had just repeated in an adjournment debate a question he asked last Friday about what he described as a sex-orgy film.

Mr. Cowan said he has given police the addresses of CBC employees Ted Leversuch, John Cavall, Phil Styles, Peter Doucette and John Ashley.

He said they helped Independent Film Artists Ltd. of Toronto produce the film at Lakeshore Studios in Toronto.

It featured Jean Christopher, who is on the CBC's Nightcap television program.

Mr. Cowan said his attention had been drawn lifhotetm had been drawn to the film through the periodical Cineworld, "with the accent on cine," which described it as a "stag."

The Liberal member said his first thought was of section 150 of the Criminal Code dealing with obscene matter when he saw the photos and description in Cineworld.

SAANICH FORCE PRAISED

Halt 'Snoopy' Visits, Commissioners Told

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Police commissioners and councillors in Saanich have been warned to cut out snoopy visits to the municipal police force.

In a 58-page report covering all aspects of the force, retired RCMP Supt. John Henry said odd-hour visits in the absence of the chief are a breach of propriety.

This was particularly the case "when the nature and manner of such visits can be construed to be of a surveillance nature."

"Such visits are not calculated to create in the minds of police personnel any respect for those placed in authority over them," said Supt. Henry in his report made public Tuesday night.

Visiting Chief W. A. Pearson on official matters during normal business hours is the prerogative of any citizen, including police commissioners and councillors.

But no subordinate member of the force should be approached without the knowledge of the chief as to the purpose.

Supt. Henry said in 35 years of police work he never experienced such visits.

Improve Morale

He said he made his remarks because he is reluctant to neglect any step that might improve morale.

"The officers and other ranks of the Saanich police force should be trusted to perform their duties without being subjected to questionable methods of overseership," he said.

If police commissioners have no confidence in the chief, "impeachment action should have been taken 'ere to this."

Supt. Henry said there is a correct way for police commissioners to exercise supervision and the rule should never be abrogated without sound justification.

The board, through its chairman, and as a group or by one member if so delegated, may visit or inspect at any time it is deemed necessary for good government of the force.

Observe Standards

A prerequisite to such supervision is to observe "accepted standards" which exist between authority and subordinates.

* *

SAANICH POLICE PROPOSALS

Main recommendations of the Henry report on Saanich police include:

- Increase personnel to 59 from 49;
- Establish a nine-member traffic branch;
- Abolish post of deputy chief when incumbent Joseph Armstrong retires;
- Replace this position with that of inspector;
- Increase number of police cars to 12 from eight and add one motorcycle;
- Acquire a boat with outboard motor;
- Increase radar units to two from one;
- Train one detective in science of fingerprinting and crime scene examination;
- Police department to have its own communications centre rather than fire department handle its calls;
- Increase size of the police force in ratio with population increase, using ratio of 1.04 personnel per 1,000 residents.

* *

The Times questioned the three members of the police commission this morning on this aspect of the report.

Lionel Speller said he has no comment.

Stanley Eden said he only visits the police station during business hours and never without seeing the chief.

Reeve Hugh Curtis, commission chairman, said his visits are restricted, almost without exception, first to the chief, or deputy.

His duties since becoming commission chairman after his election as reeve have been limited to when definite business is transacted or to leave material for the fire or police departments.

Act at Fault

Expanding on his remarks, the reeve said perhaps the Municipal Act is basically at fault because it does not spell out in enough detail the actual duties and limitations which should be placed on the police commission.

He hoped the provincial government will seriously consider expanding on these duties and limitations.

From his own observations and what he has been told, "perhaps some members of police commissions have . . . become involved in the day-to-day operation of the department and have in fact paid visits at any time of the day or weekend."

Such visits undoubtedly placed policemen in a "very awkward position" because although responsible to the commission, they are responsible through superior officers and the police chief.

No One Named

"There has been a very great danger that the chain of command has been disturbed," he said.

Supt. Henry does not name any member of the police commission or council in his report.

The report also touched on another controversial subject, the handling of court fines and traffic ticket payments.

At present, the police staff accepts the fines and the sums are delivered daily to the municipal office.

The report recommended these fines be paid directly to the municipal office and Reeve Curtis said this will be done when the new hall next to the police station is opened in the fall.

Force Praised

Supt. Henry praised the Saanich force in general and Chief Pearson in particular.

The force was described as "alert, industrious and conscientious" and it "need not take second place to any other force in appearance and deportment."

Most of the men have backgrounds of training, discipline and experience "that would make them invaluable to any police department."

Tribute must be paid to Chief Pearson for harmony and esprit de corps within the force, said Supt. Henry.

"Certainly his personal qualities of leadership and knowledge of man-management must have contributed in no small way to this sanguine state of affairs," he said.

7-Week Study

Supt. Henry said the most important question in his seven-week study of the force, requested by the police commission, is the number of personnel required.

Saanich didn't stand up too well by comparison with six cities of about the same population.

The municipality has the greatest area, highest aggregate road mileage and, excepting Oshawa, the largest population.

But it has the lowest number of policemen and the least number of vehicles.

To overcome this deficiency, he recommended adding 10 more policemen when the Saanich force, now 43, reaches the authorized strength of 49 at the end of this year.

He also recommended acquisition of four new cars, a motorcyle, an outboard-powered boat and an extra radar unit.

Reeve Curtis said "we will have to have a very good reason for not adopting" the recommended increase in manpower.

Traffic Branch

The report also recomended establishment of an eight-man traffic branch to handle highway violations and reduce accidents.

Reeve Curtis said the report provides the police commission and council with a "graphic outline" of needs and shortcommings.

No decisions have been made on any of the recommendations because the police commission has only had the report one week, he said.

Whether the recommendations are accepted or not will be decided at future meetings.

DR Rebels Found Executed

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A team of inter-American criminologists Tuesday reported discovery of the bodies of seven rebel sympathizers alleged to have been executed by junta firing squads in late May.

Team chairman Daniel Schweitzer of Chile said the bodies were dug up on grounds of what was once a Trujillo family property which has since become the state-owned Jockey Club on the city's outskirts.

Schweitzer said his group had evidence at least 11 more rebel victims of junta firing squads could be found buried in an improvised cemetery on a farm 15 miles north of the city. He said eyewitnesses to the executions said they were carried out by police forces loyal to junta chief Maj.-Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera.

The criminologists arrived a week ago at the behest of the OAS investigating complaints by both sides in the Dominican dispute.

Old Bomb Uncovered

BUDAPEST (AP) — Workmen at a construction site in this Hungarian capital found an unexploded 1,000-pound U.S. bomb dropped during the Second World War. Demolition experts were called in and the bomb was exploded harmlessly.

PRINCESS BEATRIX

CLAUS VON AMSBERG

Campaign to wed former Nazi officer appears to have been won by The Netherlands crown princess despite public turmoil over her choice. Overnight in The Hague orange swastikas were painted on walls. Anti-German pamphlets have been distributed saying: "Herais Mit Claus" (out with Claus). The engagement is expected to be announced by Queen Juliana on June 28 with a fall wedding.

EYEWITNESSES CHARGE

Prisoners Run Club Gauntlet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eyewitness reports of police brutality to demonstrators jailed in a compound at the State Fairgrounds at Jackson, Miss., were delivered to Congress Tuesday.

Two demonstrators, Maggie Gordon, Lexington, Miss., and Chris Dixon, Holmes County, Miss., both Negroes, told a group of eight House of Representatives members of beatings.

Dr. David M. French, Washington, vice-president of the medical committee on human rights, urged federal action be taken to assure medical attention to jailed victims of the alleged brutality or at least that his group be given access to the compound.

Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce, who directed operations at the compound, said "99 per cent of those accusations are false."

Pierce said Maggie Gordon "assaulted four police officers and put one of them in the hospital."

She was charged with assault.

Nearly 800 demonstrators were placed in the compound last week after being arrested for attempting to stage protest marches to the Mississippi Capitol. They were charged with parading without a permit.

As of Tuesday, police said 304 remained in the compound, the others having been transferred to regular jails or released on bond.

Three members of the commission on religion and race of the U.S. National Council of Churches who returned from Mississippi earlier Tuesday told of conditions in the compound which they described as a "concentration camp."

In a statement, they reported on interviews with more than 100 prisoners in the compound, listing such cases as these:

—A young man, already wounded, kicked in the head by a guard when medical assistance had been requested.

—Women prisoners subjected to "constant lewd and suggestive" remarks and given medical examinations in the presence of "staring police officers."

—Male prisoners forced to run a gauntlet of club-wielding policemen.

—Prisoners since the first arrests a week ago with no blankets and only a single mattress for every three people.

—Medicine prescribed but not delivered.

—Fumigating sprayers used to dispense choking, eye-smarting gases.

"We are absolutely convinced," the three said, "that the primary purpose of the Jackson concentration camp is not to serve as a place of incarceration but rather to serve as a place to break the spirit, the will, the health and even the body of each individual who dared to assemble peaceably to seek redress of grievances."

Dr. June Finer, Chicago, told the House members and reporters that the medical committee on human rights was denied entrance to the compound even to administer first aid.

'Halting of N-Arms Spread Should Get U.S. Priority'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy called on President Johnson today to give "central priority" to efforts to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Kennedy said in a prepared Senate speech that the United States cannot wait for peace in Southeast Asia or for the solution of any other problem to move against the proliferation of nuclear weapons by at least a dozen countries able to produce them within three years.

"The need to halt the spread of nuclear weapons must be of central priority in American policy," Kennedy said. "Of all our major interests, this now deserves and demands the greatest additional effort."

He said the crisis of the moment often pose urgent questions of grave importance to U.S. security, but these immediate problems, and other like them, "have been with us constantly for 20 years—and will be with us far into the future."

MULTIPLIES EFFECT

"Should nuclear weapons become generally available to the world, however, each such crisis of the moment might well become the last crisis for all mankind."

The New York Democrat said the 1963 limited nuclear test-ban treaty had been hailed as the first of many actions for peace "but we have not yet taken the second step."

Kennedy proposed:

That the United States initiate negotiations with the Soviet Union on a non-proliferation treaty in which all countries friendly or other-wise — would get a two-power guarantee against nuclear blackmail.

Tigers Protest Working Conditions!

At a recent meeting of the directors of Tigers International, Sales Executive Branch, a resolution was passed protesting excessive work load and lack of fringe benefits. The President pointed out that where tigers were once a relatively leisured class, they now faced a round-the-clock schedule in promoting such diverse products as breakfast foods, gasoline, automobiles and detergents. Many tigers were suffering from stress and exhaustion. It was noted that many humans had discovered "Black Label Beer" to be a pleasant and refreshing beverage which was particularly acceptable after a hard day's work. A committee was set up to investigate the possibility of including an issue of "Black Label Beer" as part of any future working contract.

Nine out of ten working tigers prefer BLACK LABEL BEER!

MEDICARE APPROVED IN ONTARIO

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government's medical care insurance bill received final approval in the legislature Monday night.

Health Minister Matthew Dymond said earlier the cabinet plans to start the medical insurance plan June 1, 1966.

The legislation provides that all insurance companies or other groups in the province which are in the medical care insurance business must sell standard government physicians' care contracts to all would-be purchasers, whether sick or well, old or young.

NOT COMPULSORY

The government will stipulate the maximum premiums that the insurance carriers may charge. It will not be compulsory for anyone to buy medical insurance, but contracts will be available from the private carriers for anyone who can afford the premiums.

The government will provide a medical care insurance service for low-income groups. The province will pay the full cost of premiums for individuals or families having no taxable income.

For those with low rates of taxable income—up to $500 for an individual and up to about $1,200 for a family—the government will provide subsidies toward premium costs. Amount of the subsidies will decrease as taxable income increases.

Doctors Charge Discrimination In AMA Chapters

NEW YORK (AP) — About 100 pickets, most of them doctors, marched Monday in protest against what they called racial-discriminatory practices by local medical societies.

The demonstration came as thousands of doctors from across the United States were gathered here for the meeting of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association and related scientific sessions.

Organized by a medical committee for human rights, the demonstrators called for integration in organized medicine.

Leaders said it was the largest picket line ever amassed by doctors in the U.S. About 70 per cent of the participants were white.

The AMA promptly issued a statement declaring that pressure tactics hampered rather than helped the progress toward "voluntary elimination of discriminaton in medicine."

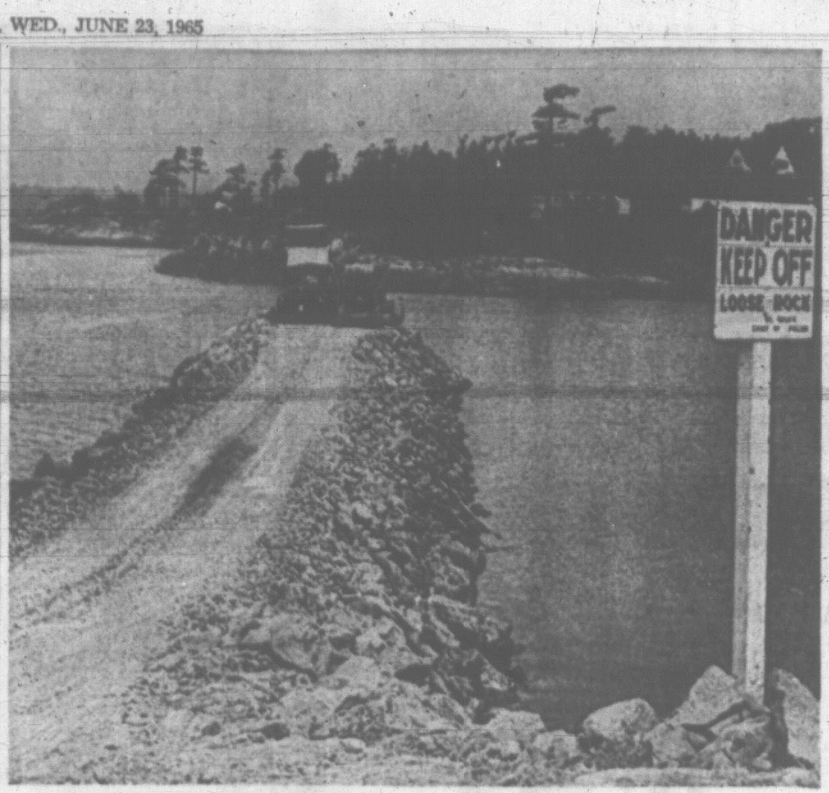
Sask. Road Crash Takes Nine Lives

KAMSACK, Sask. (CP)—Nine persons are dead after a two-car head-on collision Tuesday night three miles west of here on a hard-surfaced highway.

Seven persons were killed in the crash and two died later in hospital. Three others were injured.

RCMP said the collision, between a car bearing residents of nearby Indian reserves home from Kamsack and another vehicle heading into this community, occurred on a straight, level stretch of road.

Police said visibility was good.



PROBING SEAWARD is new Esquimalt breakwater which will give added protection to Fleming Beach, west of Macaulay Point. It now extends 210 feet and will reach out 500 feet when completed in two months. Saxe Point Park can be seen in the background. The breakwater will cost $50,000 and a request for federal aid is now before the treasury board at Ottawa. Two boat ramps and the popular beach area will be improved for recreational purposes by the project, says municipal engineer John Graeme.

Victorian To Show Chevy Coupe

A Victoria vintage car owner will compete in a concourse d'elegance next month at Mercer Island, near Seattle, Wash.

He is Don Richardson, 2236 Greenlands Rd., a member of Victoria Region of Vintage Car Club of Canada.

His entry in the concours will be a 1930 Chevrolet coupe.

A concourse d'elegance is a display competition of antique, classic, sport and vintage cars. The autos will be judged for styling and appearance.

For instance, a bit of dirt on the undecarriage will cost an exhibitor points.

This is the third annual Mercer Island Concours and attendance is expected to top last year's 13,000.

More than 100 autos from throughout the Pacific Northwest will be displayed.

Don's car, although 35 years old, has only 21,000 original miles on it and is still running on the original Seiberling 475-500x19 tires.

He purchased it in 1961 from a car enthusiast in Ladysmith and began to restore it.

He has repainted the auto's body and replated the chrome work. The Chev still has its original upholstery.

And as far as performance goes, it moves as though it was fresh off the assembly line.

In a recent run to Nanaimo, the vintage car's six-cylinder, 55-h.p. engine cranked out 50 mph.

New Treatment Aids Leukemia Sufferers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two children suffering from leukemia have been free from symptoms of the dread disease for two years following use of a radical new treatment, officials of the National Institutes of Health said Monday.

Although the children are not considered cured, they now are leading normal lives and the progress of their treatment is cautiously considered an advance in treatment of an ailment that has meant sure death.

The treatment involves use of four toxic drugs in doses just short of the danger point, and in combination. The fact that the treatment caused remission of the disease in 11 of 15 patients treated, and that it caused cessation of symptoms in four of the patients, had been known to the scientific community.

NO RETURN

But last week in Philadelphia the American Cancer Society learned two of the four had experienced unusually long remissions and after two years still showed no return of the symptoms.

The life expectantcy of leukemia patients, once only a few weeks, has been extended to a year or better with drugs, but an extended or permanent remission of the symptoms has been only a dream.

Under the latest technique developed, the patients are given maximum doses of the toxic substances in a series designed to kill as many of the cancerous cells as possible. The substances had been used before but not in combination.

Previously one drug had been given at a time and when its effect wore off another had to be given. Now, the drugs are given at once in a mass attack on the leukemia cells.

Different types of drugs attack different classes of cells, the spokesman said. By administering all the drugs at once at attempt is made to kill off all the harmful cells at once so the disease may not revitalize itself.

The research is continuing.

RAIN MAKERS HIRED TO AID OTTAWA VALLEY

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP)—An internationally known rainmaking firm has been hired to help relieve critical drought conditions in the Ottawa Valley, Agriculture Minister Stewart of Ontario said Tuesday.

The firm, Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver, Colorado, has been given a three-month contract that will cost $200,000.

However, rain-making requires suitable clouds and these are scarce in drought conditions. The immediate weather outlook for this area calls for sunny weather.

'BERLIN WASN'T SO SIMPLE'

Zhukov Denies Death Blow Delay

MOSCOW (AP) — Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, the Red Army's Second World War commander, has denounced criticism voiced during the Khrushchev era that he had delayed the final strike against Berlin.

Zhukov, former Soviet defence minister, defends himself in the first instalment of his wartime memories, Toward Berlin, published in the monthly Military Historical Journal.

Former premier Khrushchev purged Zhukov in 1957, but the Kremlin's new leaders have encouraged the public rehabilitation of the war time hero. He appeared last month at the 20th anniversary celebrations in Moscow of the victory in Europe.

In his memoirs, Zhukov disputes a contention by Marshal Vassily I. Chukov, a Khrushchev crony who had been Zhukov's subordinate during the war, that the death blow against the Nazi citadel could have been delivered earlier than April-May 1945.

SECURE FLANKS

"Not everything was as simple as V. I. Chukov thinks," Zhukov writes. He says the Red Army had to secure its flanks against large concentrations of German troops in the Baltic Coast area of Pomerania.

Zhukov also denies an assertion by Chukov that Stalin had called Zhukov at the front Feb. 4 and ordered the Berlin assault plans dropped.

Chukov, who became commander-in-chief of the Soviet ground forces late last year, challenged Zhukov's role in the Berlin victory in his memoirs published just before Khrushchev's fall last October.

Close Haven, Priest Told By Church

TORONTO (CP)—A Roman Catholic priest has been ordered by his superior to give up the operation of his New York haven for female drug addicts, prostitutes, lesbians and alcoholics.

Rev. Daniel Egan of the Graymoor Friars said in an interview Monday he had been asked by his unidentified superior to take up other priestly duties because it was thought "my work was getting dangerous."

He was in Toronto to speak at a meeting sponsored by a Toronto version of the New York haven.

He has operated the haven in New York's Greenwich Village for three years and said of his work:

"It may look dangerous from the outside but it's not, if you know the dangers.

"I pray that I will be allowed to return to the haven.

"More than that, I just can't say now."

Declaration on Jews Dropped by Vatican

LONDON (AP)—The Observer says the co-ordinating commission of the Vatican Ecumenical Council has shelved the declaration freeing the Jews from collective responsibility for the death of Christ.

The Sunday newspaper says one reason is to continue good relations with the Arab states.

It says the declaration has been dropped from the agenda for the final session of the council, which reassembles in September.

Policy Agreed

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Tito agreed Saturday on a hands-off attitude toward the coup against Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella, highly reliable sources reported.

Ben Bella was a hero of the Soviet Union, together with U.A.R. President Abdel Nasser, the most avidly cultivated Arab leaders.

BALLOON WORKSHOP PLANNED IN SPACE

SEATTLE (AP)—Two scientists suggest that if "walks in space" become an ordinary part of manned space flights, astronauts may take big plastic balloons along in their duffel bags.

In a report on contributions man has made to scientific studies in space, they say the balloons may be just the thing to help protect astronauts when they leave the comparative safety of their craft to work in space.

The balloons, similar to the 135-foot Echo satellite, would be inflated around the astronaut's work area like a protective cocoon and be tethered to his spacecraft "parked" nearby.

Dr. Julien Christensen, a member of the air force aerospace medical research laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, and Dr. Conrad Kraft, a member of the Boeing Company's bioastronautics organization in Seattle, say the cocoons would reduce the amount of solar radiation affecting the astronaut and expose him to less severe temperature changes as he and his work pass in and out of the earth's shadow.

"Such a balloon would be equipped with an air lock and would eliminate the need for tethering an astronaut while he worked," they reported.

"Tools carelessly dropped would drift only as far as the confines of the sphere. A source of light could be rigged up inside the balloon, and work cycles would not have to be timed by the day-light side of the orbit."

'Worthwhile Trip' To East for Tri-U

Four officials of the tri-universities capital fund have been whipping up interest for the B.C. cause in eastern cities.

City banker W. H. Armstrong Vancouver Island chairman of the fund, says the expedition was "very well worthwhile."

With him on the trip last week were major gifts chairman John Ellis and fund co-chairmen Cyrus McLean and Allan McGavin of Vancouver.

Courtesy calls made to 75 executives brought "some sizable contributions," but amount of the increase will be released only by Vancouver fund officials.

Cities visited included Toronto, Hamilton, Oakville, Oshawa and York Mills.

The trip was paid for out of the officials' own pockets, Mr. Armstrong added, causing no extra dent in the universities fund.

EXPORTER'S SENTENCE SLASHED

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court has slashed a sentence of a $41,000 fine or three years in jail to $16,000 or 18 months against a 35-year-old Ottawa exporter.

David L. Maunder had been convicted March 8 on eight charges of evading federal controls on shipment of goods to Communist countries contrary to the Import and Export Permits Act.

The charges involved shipments of electronic parts to Cuba and of attempting to ship diesel parts to the Soviet Union without a permit.

The appeal court dismissed an appeal against Maunder's conviction. Maunder has been in custody since his conviction.

Big Family Means Status In Ceylon

VANCOUVER (CP)—A former director of the Ceylonese Birth Control Society said Monday that birth control methods are having little effect there.

Mrs. H. W. Bishop told the annual general meeting of the Vancouver Society for Population Planning that cultural reasons explain the high Ceylonese birth rate.

"A large family has always been a matter of status in Ceylonese agriculture," she said. "It showed you could afford it."

Another factor was that the people of the island country were shy about attending birth control clinics—unless the buildings resembled an ordinary medical centre.

Villagers, she said, expressed fear of gossip that would start if they attended such clinics.

He Didn't Mention MBEatles

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson spoke in the House of Commons Monday, without mentioning the Beatles, about the "recognition of those who have been earning foreign currency."

Wilson was asked by an Opposition Conservative M.P., Anthony Kershaw, whether he intended to award membership of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) for export services.

The Beatles, big money earners abroad, got the MBE a week ago in Queen Elizabeth's girthday honors list. A number of other holders have since returned their medals as a protest.

Wilson said, "we have been reading in the press recently of a very considerable number of awards and honors at all levels specifically for export services. I think and I would hope the House of Commons would feel the special citation in the last two honors lists for services to the export trade is something which is to the good of the country and shows recognition of those who have been earning foreign currency."

Centennial Deadline

VANCOUVER (CP) — L. J. Wallace, chairman of B.C.'s centennial committee, said today the deadline for forming community centennial committees is June 20. He said a committee must be appointed and registered by that date for a community to qualify for government grants of $2 per capita toward a centennial project.

PUBLISHERS' REQUEST FOR DELAY DENIED

Gordon Wins Press Law Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon says the government isn't wedded to its proposed legislation to guard against foreign take-overs of Canada's daily newspapers.

But in wedlock or out, he's determined to push it into law as quickly as possible.

Mr. Gordon made this point clear—and won a vote to back it—in the Commons Tuesday night.

Faced with a request from the daily newspaper publishers to postpone final action on his newspaper bill, the finance minister told the House "the government is not wedded to this particular method it has proposed for retaining control of Canadian newspapers in Canadian hands.

"Perhaps there is another method which we have not been able to find. If so, we would be quite ready to consider it."

In fact, if the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association can come up with a better method than the proposal to prohibit advertising expenditures in a foreign-owned Canadian newspaper as a tax deduction, "the government will be prepared to recommend its substitution for the present proposal at the appropriate time in the future."

In the meantime, however, the government is not prepared to put the whole issue aside while the CDNPA tries to find that alternative method.

To do so might open the way for foreign interests to move in the intervening period to acquire more than the 25-per-cent interest Mr. Gordon proposes as a maximum. He wants the present legislation written into law—at least until something better comes along.

Despite some opposition criticisms, the House accepted this procedure in a subsequent vote. By a tally of 102 to 58, it gave second reading — approval in principle—to the income tax amendments embodying the newspaper measure, a somewhat similar provision for magazines and a 10-per-cent cut in personal income taxes.

In the vote, 83 Liberals, with surprise support from 12 New Democrats a well as five Social Crediters and two independents, easily carried the day over 52 Conservatives, three Creditistes and three New Democrats.

The New Democrats had backed the newspaper measure from the outset, but had been highly critical of the magazine proposals, particularly the government's decision to exempt the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest from the penalties against advertising in foreign - owned publications.

CRITICIZED PROPOSALS

Prior to the vote, Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) hammered the government on both the magazine and newspaper proposals.

By exempting Time and Reader's Digest the government was protecting the very two publications against which Canadian periodicals say they can't compete. As for the newspaper measure, the government should admit "this is not the best way to meet this problem."

R. A. Graybiel of the Windsor Star, CDNPA president, commenting on Mr. Gordon's statement about the newspaper bill, said:

"We are disappointed. We asked for time and we didn't get it.

"I should like to repeat a remark made the other day by Clifford Sifton (publisher of Western Canada newspapers) that among newspaper publishers there is great sorrow the government has chosen to go along this road."

BUILDING CEREMONIES

Plaque Honors Old B.C. Regiment

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes Tuesday unveiled a bronze plaque in the Legislative Building rotunda commemorating the regiment with which he went overseas in 1914.

Watched by a small crowd of old veterans of the unit, he pulled aside a purple drape to reveal the memorial to the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles (B.C. Horse).

The unit left Victoria as one of the first Canadian contingents to go overseas in the First World War but was broken up to provide infantrymen when the trench battles began.

Of the 4,552 men who served in the regiment, 3,015 subsequently became casualities including more than 700 who were killed in action. One of their number, Mr. Pearkes himself, went on to win several decorations for bravery including the Victoria Cross. In later life he rose to the rank of major-general and became Canada's minister of national defence.

At a co-incident ceremony, Rear Admiral M. J. Stirling, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, presented a White Ensign from HMCS Beacon Hill to the province. It will hang in the rotunda to commemorate the period when the RCN sailed under the ensign.

Minimum Wage

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister MacEachen said in the Commons Tuesday night he will introduce legislation at this session requiring companies holding federal contracts to pay their employees a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour. The bill also will require the contractors to provide a 40-hour regular work week as required by the labor code.

NOISE HATER OPENS FIRE ON CROWD

BRESCIA, Italy (UPI) — A man who lives in the neighborhood of a soccer field went into a rage Tuesday night because of the noise made by the departing crowd.

He grabbed a shotgun and opened fire at the crowd of several hundred persons.

Six persons were wounded at least 21 were bruised or trampled in the panic. None was reported in serious condition.

The shotgun wielder, Daniels Sala, 40, surrendered to police without a fight. He was questioned at police headquarters, then released to relatives with the recommendation that he be taken to a psychiatric clinic.

Clack Off to Ottawa On Centennial Work

Rod Clack, architect in charge of the city's special projects division, has been loaned to Ottawa for six months work on the Centennial Commission.

His duties which begin in Ottawa next month will include correlating information on planning and beautification so that it can be sent to municipalities across Canada as possible centennial projects.

"This is a fine opportunity for Mr. Clack to get experience on the federal level and his job will be waiting in Victoria when he returns," said Mayor R. B. Wilson.

Mr. Clack's department has been responsible for the design of Centennial Square, Bastion Square and other beautification projects in the city.

Mayor Wilson also indicated there would not likely be any delays over urban renewal grants in the construction of Bastion Square.

The indications are how that 50 per cent of the cost, $140,000 to $160,000, will be coming from Ottawa.

VANCOUVER COUNCIL 'FOOLISH, IMMATURE'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Many Vancouver voters regard their city council as foolish and incompetent, a survey released here said Tuesday.

The survey by Ben Crow and Associates was ordered by Mayor Bill Rathie to find out why ratepayers turned down a five-year, $48,500,000 capital works program last December. Surveyors interviewed 314 ratepayers.

The 40-page report says the program failed because many ratepayers had lost confidence in council. It adds critical electors look at council as "a bickering, arguing, incompetent, indecisive, foolish, immature, petty and myopic group."

The report will be considered by council.

Of Personal Interest

HOST VISITORS

The Victoria Amateur Movie Club was host when members of the Washington State Movie Council Incorporated held a two-day meeting at the Tally-Ho Travelodge last weekend. On Saturday morning, the visitors travelled to Little Saanich Mountain and the Dominion Observatory where Dr. Don Andrews and Mr. Roger Napier showed them the 48" telescope and some of the cameras and equipment used in observatory work. Following a board meeting on Sunday morning a turkey-burger luncheon was held in the lodge's banquet hall.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. McDougall will entertain Thursday on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary in the Polynesian Room of Bickerton Court on Douglas Street, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. The couple was married in Norfolk, Neb., on June 24, 1915. During the past 50 years, Mr. and Mrs. McDougall have lived in Aberdeen, Scotland; Alameda, Sask., and Winnipeg. They retired to Victoria nine years ago. In the city for the anniversary are their two sons, Mr. David McDougall, Winnipeg; Mr. Charles McDougall, Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Reeson, Toronto. Mrs. McDougall's two sisters, who were attendants at her wedding, are also here. They are Mrs. L. Landers, Sun Dance, Wyo., and Miss Veda Rees, Los Angeles.

Parents Here

Here for the marriage of their son, Mr. Ronald T. Bishop, and Miss Marie Milburn Tuesday evening in Christ Church Cathedral were Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bishop of Rochester, N.Y. Also here from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bishop of San Francisco; Mrs. Hans Gruber with Maia and Jonathan from Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Dowsley, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Toole, all of Vancouver.

Luncheon

Mr. Gordon Hallett, visiting examiner in pianoforte for the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, was honor guest when the British Columbia Registered Music Teachers' Association held a luncheon in Eaton's dining room. Miss Noel Smith, local representative for the conservatory, was a special guest. After being introduced by president, Mr. W. H. Gregory, the honor guest gave a short talk which was followed by a question and answer period.

For Brenda Noon

A dainty decorated umbrella held gifts for Miss Brenda Noon at a shower given by Mrs. S. E. Scurrah and Miss Carolyn Scurrah at their Topaz Avenue home. The bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Victor Noon and grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Noon, were presented with corsages of carnations in shades of pink, rose and white and lily of the valley.

A shower cake centred the refreshment table. Guests included: Mrs. Fred McKay, Mrs. Ernie Emmath, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. B. Davis, the Misses Judith Louis, Phyllis Noon, Gaydene Bell, Peggy Thompson, Pat St. Denis, Sylvia Scurrah and Lianne Catt.

MARIE MILBURN IS BRIDE

Trumpeters Play Airs At Evening Wedding

Purcell's "Trumpet Air" greeted bride Marie Elizabeth Milburn as she entered Christ Church Cathedral Tuesday evening for her marriage to Ronald Taylor Bishop. It was played by trumpeter David Fisher. During the signing of the register, Peter Yelland was trumpet soloist and played the 23rd Psalm.

Dean Brian Whitlow conducted the service for the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Milburn, 1530 Ash Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bishop of Rochester, N.Y.

White stocks, pink peonies and delphiniums decorated the cathedral and candles flickered along the main aisle.

The petite fair-haired bride was a picture as she entered the cathedral on the arm of her father. Her floor-length gown, fashioned on A-lines, was of delicate English net over taffeta. Silk-run Alencon lace appliques decorated the high-waisted dress which was fashioned with a bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The full skirt extended to a scalloped square-edged train. Her mantilla veil was of Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, blue cornflowers and freesia interlaced with deep green ivy.

Linen gowns in two tones of pink were worn by the bride's sister, Mrs. Hans Gruber, matron of honor, from Toronto, and Mrs. Lawrance Bishop, the groom's sister-in-law, from San Francisco. Fashioned on A-lines, the dresses were styled with roses on the bodices. Junior bridesmaid, Maia Gruber, the bride's niece, wore a full-skirted pink organdy dress.

Best man for his brother was Lawrance A. Bishop, San Francisco. Ushers were Douglas Toole, Ian Galliford and Bruce Sharpe.

As the newlyweds left the cathedral, "Let the Bright Seraphim" by Handel was played by trumpeters Garven Bruner and David Fisher.

The reception was held in the waterfront home of the bride's parents at Gordon Head. The rooms were decorated with roses and camelias.

Gordon Cooper proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to the Hawaiian Islands, the bride donned a pink lace Chanel suit. Her hat was of petals en tone and she wore strings of fresh-water pearls and white accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Larkspur, Calif.

Engrossed in the demonstration are, left to right, Mrs. Nita Payne, Mrs. D. B. McLennan and Mrs. C. D. Mathias.

Victoria Hand Weavers' Exhibition

EVEN DOGS TAKE PART

By PAT DUFOUR

Fido isn't forgotten at the annual exhibition and sale of work, arranged by the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild. In an attractive display depicting the many sources of wool and dyes used by the members, there's one labelled, "Our Black Labrador." Others claim their source of color to be acorns, blueberries, alder bark, tumeric, tansy and arbutus.

Mrs. Hazel Hodson, chairman of standards reports that one enterprising member made herself a fine sweater from moose hair.

The exhibition is being held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. It was opened Tuesday morning by Mrs. George R. Pearkes and will continue until Saturday.

The guild, which has been in existence for 31 years, has held exhibitions for most of those years. This year's show is among its finest.

Particularly intriguing is a duo-entry which features a fine white wool cape woven by Mrs. Oliver Stanton of Ganges, teamed with a blue and white sheath dress, the work of Mrs. William Higgins. The cape, especially, is bound to catch the eyes of fashion-conscious women, being lifted into the haute couture bracket with its back panel and edging, woven in a design that relies on the texture of raw silk for interest.

One of the least publicized projects of the guild is the members' work with the handicapped of Greater Victoria. In this year's exhibition it's effectively emphasized with the display of weaving entered by the Arbutus Club. Under the tuition of guild members, handicapped exhibitors have managed to present a showing of place mats, pot holders and summer handbags that would have tourists gasping in admiration at any specialty store.

Children, too, are taking their part in this year's show. Each day after school, girls between seven and 16 are giving demonstrations of their weaving skills. Their instructor is Miss Florence Daniels.

Victorians who have not yet "taken in" the exhibition should make a point of putting it on their calendars. There's only one drawback. You'll come away, like me, eager to promote a 25-hour day in order to squeeze in yet another hobby!

Strawberry Tea

The junior choir of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church will entertain guests when the church parish guild holds its annual strawberry tea Thursday in the rectory garden, 4733 West Saanich Road.

Beginning at 2:30 p.m., the tea will feature a sale of home-cooking.

Visits Sister

Mrs. Henry Miller is here to spend several months visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hadden, in their Moss Street home. Mrs. Miller will return to her home in Glasgow, Scotland, at the beginning of August.

Showers Honor Eleanor Swetnam

July bride-elect Miss Eleanor Swetnam was honored at a shower given by Mrs. Peter Robin in her home on Dunn Street recently. Gifts were arranged in a decorated clothes hamper. Corsages of pink sweetheart roses were presented to the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. H. Swetnam, and Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick, the groom-elect's mother.

Guests included Mrs. D. Crowe, Mrs. D. Townsend, Mrs. B. Ivatts, Mrs. G. Parker, the Misses Valerie Gay, Pauline Bradshaw, Sharron McDougall, Pat Thompson, Gail Byers and Gertrude Bogard.

Co-workers of Miss Swetnam from the Bank of Montreal entertained at a surprise shower for the bride-elect. A wedding gift was presented to the guest of honor.

Attending were Mrs. J. Jamieson, Mrs. E. Hrycuik, Mrs. D. Semple, Mrs. L. Mitchell, Mr. J. Walker, Mr. J. R. Elliott, Mr. I. Dyck, Mr. Lou Rossner, Mr. John Thompson, the Misses Bev Nelson and Jane Humber.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Stamp Out Litterbugs With This New Killer

By PENNY SAVER

Are you like me when you travel on a motoring trip? I always go prepared—with lunch, candy bars, facial tissues and what-have-you—and the car is always strewn with papers and all that sort of paraphernalia when I reach my destination. What a mess! Then, there's a major clean-up campaign to undertake—something you don't feel like doing after a hard day's driving.

Well, here's a suggestion. It's a new type of waste-basket made especially for the car. (It's a wonderful idea if you have children . . .)

This basket is unbreakable plastic, fitted with a saddle-like affair of weighted, foam-filled vinyl. This is perfect for placing the basket over the tunnel hump—the raised portion of floor in the front of the car.

Selling for $2.79, the basket is completely water and stain-proof. It's also handy for holding other articles—road maps, pop bottles, and other necessary travel items.

Speaking of travelling, here's something to keep in mind for baby. Diapers seem to be a problem while travelling—washing and drying them is not always the easiest thing to do in a trailer park or when camped out in the back woods.

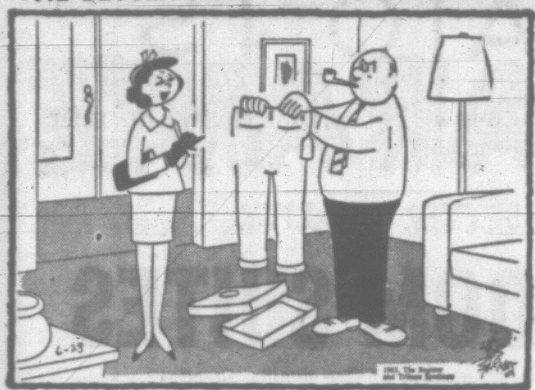
Well, I have discovered something entirely new in disposable diapers. These are made of a newly-formulated cellulose material which absorbs more moisture and is specially sanitized.

A package of 18 is selling for $1.49. They are so soft, they won't harm or irritate baby's skin—therefore less danger of diaper rash. Each diaper is packed in its own little plastic bag for further protection.

To dispose of them—flush 'em away or tuck them in their little plastic bag and put them in the garbage. They take up very little room while travelling, too.

Remember, Penny's number is 382-3131 if you want to know where to shop.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes



"I couldn't remember your size so I told them they were for someone four-fifths of a man high and a-man-and-a-half wide."

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Donation — It was announced that a donation of $200 would be given to the Victoria School of Music by the Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter IODE at a recent meeting held in the Smugglers Cove Road home of Mrs. J. M. Green. Reports were given by Mrs. Peter Bell and Mrs. H. C. Johnston. It was decided to send three children to summer camp. An invitation was read and accepted from Mrs. R. V. Hocking for chapter members to spend a day in her Shawnigan Lake summer home.

Installed—Mrs. D. Weir was installed as president of the Xi Xi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at a recent meeting held in the St. Ann Street home of retiring president, Mrs. M. Jasper. Other officers installed include Mrs. R. Johnson, vice-president; Mrs. R. Leach, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Grehan, corresponding; and Mrs. A. Andersen, treasurer. Mrs. Jasper was presented with a gift. Following the meeting, slides of Fiji, Australia, Suva and Hawaii were shown by Mrs. E. Carey and Mrs. W. Gemmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hiscock, 4155 Oakridge Crescent, announce the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Elva Margaret, to David McLane Murdoch of Dawson Creek. The wedding will take place on Monday, June 28, at 7 p.m. in Centennial United Church.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

My newest pattern has me completely baffled, the neckline is cut for a normal 12-year-old girl and to look at the neck, it wouldn't fit a doll. Why do they do it? Mrs. D.D.

Dear Mrs. D.D.:

So happy you enclosed the piece of pattern so I could check into it. The pattern you have selected has a neck ruffle and this is the piece you sent. It is cut much smaller than the actual neckline of the dress because that is the only way it will fall into a soft ruffle. If it were cut the same size as the dress, it would lay flat like the facing.

In applying the ruffle, machine stitch on the seamline at the neck edge. Clip the seam allowance about every inch clear down to the stitching line. This will release enough fabric so that it can be stretched enough to fit the neckline. Some ruffles are faced and you have a finished outer edge, others are merely hemmed. I have seen a few that are pulled at the edge to resemble an uneven fringe. The neckline treatment of all of these must be treated the same.

WOMEN CAN BE TOPS

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Women have the same opportunity as men to forge ahead in the department of external affairs, Gay Sellers of Ottawa, a member of the department, said Monday.

"There is no limit to the heights to which a woman can rise in the department, she said in an interview. "There are no restrictions on women."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

How to Have Weekend Guests, and Fun, Too

Lowman

Here's how to feel younger rather than older after a weekend houseparty.

This is the time of year when that great institution, the weekend house guest, gets into full swing. Some folks are getting ready to pick up that weekend-in-the-country invitation which was issued last Christmas while others are packing to leave the country for a weekend in the city. Everyone is looking forward to a pleasant time.

Through observation, experience and listening to many conversations, I have come to some conclusions. All hostesses want their guests to be comfortable and have fun. I think the number one requirement to be a good hostess is to be relaxed. If you are relaxed your guests will be too.

Of course I emphasize this because I am a genius when it comes to relaxing. It comes naturally. However this does not mean that a lot of planning and thought does not precede the visit. Plan menus ahead of time and get all the necessary foodstuffs in the house before your guests arrive. Many desserts and jellied concoctions and dips can be prepared days ahead of time. Some smart hostesses I know prepare main dishes beforehand and freeze them.

The important thing is to be able to enjoy your guests. Breakfast is always tricky. Many people would much prefer to sleep late rather than get up early for a large breakfast. Don't be afraid to make house rules. This will relax your friends and you. Tell them they will have to be ready by 9 o'clock for a real breakfast but that toast and juice and coffee will be available at any time. Such simple thoughts make a big difference.

Plan one or two special activities but don't overcrowd the weekend with engagements. Leave your guests some free time, especially if you live in the country and they live in the city. They may long for time to lie in the sun, to take a nap, or a walk, to play a game of tennis, to look at the trees, to relax!

Tell your future guests ahead of time what kind of clothes they will need, for instance, sneakers for tennis, a bathing suit, a fancy dress for a party or a coat for cool evenings.

See that adequate drawer and closet space is available and that there is room in the bathroom for toilet articles. A forgetful guest will bless you if you put a new tube of toothpaste and a new toothbrush, some tissues and a comb in the bathroom.

If you are a compulsive housekeeper try to curb the urge to whisk away barely used ash trays, to plump pillows constantly, or straighten objects which are a bit out of line. This does not reflect a carefree mood.

If you have no help and your guests offer to help you, let them, but with easier things like setting the table or arranging the flowers, not with baby sitting or washing the pots and pans.

HAPPY WEEKENDS!

F.O.E. Women Aid Research

A sum of $8,100 was presented to A. Sims, Vancouver, of the British Columbia Muscular Dystrophy Association, to aid in research at the recent provincial convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the British Columbia Fraternal Order of Eagles, held in Victoria.

A cheque totalling $781 was given to the Heart Fund.

Officers installed for the coming year include: Mrs. H. Clayton, Courtenay, president; Mrs. F. Buchanan, Nanaimo, junior past president; Mrs. M. MacKinnon, North Vancouver, vice-president; Mrs. P. Johnson, Creston, B.C. chaplain; Mrs. M. Cross, Duncan, conductor; Mrs. D. Hunter, North Vancouver, secretary; Mrs. D. Murray, Vancouver, treasurer; Mrs. H. Chisholm, Rossland, inside guard; Mrs. E. Kroeker, New Westminster, outside guard; Mrs. B. Lenarduzzi, Trail; Mrs. S. Sweet, Cranbrook; Mrs. J. Couston, Nelson; Mrs. A. Moyer, Maple Ridge, and Mrs. L. Hobday, Victoria, trustees.

Mrs. P. Farren, Vancouver, was named installing president, and Mrs. M. Cutting, New Westminster, installing conductor.

Host Meeting

The Victoria Ex-Servicewomen's Branch, No. 182, will host the meeting of the South Vancouver Island Zone Council of the Royal Canadian Legion.

The meeting will be held in the Britannia auditorium, 1616 Blanshard Street, on Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

AT IODE COFFEE PARTY

Scholarship Awarded City Organist

The Dulcie Fowler Memorial Scholarship was presented to organist, at a coffee party Sat- David Palmer, well-known city urday presented by the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, IODE. DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Your Life!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for four months and pregnant for two. I am delighted and so is my husband. But here's the problem: From the moment I got my engagement ring I started to get it from all sides. My mother, his mother, my grandmother, his aunts, everyone said, "Now don't go and have a baby the first year you're married!" Then I heard lengthy lectures on the high cost of living and the importance of "getting to know your husband first." I've heard this so often I feel like a complete dimwit for wanting a baby so soon. Now I'm actually afraid to tell anyone. I'm 22 and it's not like I didn't know any better. We both wanted a baby right away. How should I tell people? And what do I say when they make smart remarks? I'm sure no one will believe we planned it.

GOT A SECRET

DEAR GOT: Tell people when you are good and ready. And don't be sheepish. You owe no one any explanations or apologies. A planned child is a gift and a privilege. Enjoy it!

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from the mother who was up in arms over the fact that her child's teacher kept the whole class after school because a "few" children misbehaved, I am up in arms, too. Did it ever occur to this mother that after a confining, active day of teaching, we teachers look forward to a quiet, empty classroom where we are free to plan our next day's work? We don't enjoy staying in after school with students. But believe me, occasionally this is a very effective means of handling an unruly class. Common sense would have led this angry mother to inform the teacher that her child had a doctor's appointment. What good did it do her to sit in her car for a half an hour? We are not clairvoyant. When will the parents learn to co-operate and stop fighting us?

A TIRED TEACHER

DEAR ABBY: Can't "UP IN ARMS" see that the teacher was staying on her own time in order to teach discipline to that group of youngsters? She wasn't getting time and a half overtime! I am not a teacher, but I can remember that 30 years ago that method worked. The teacher didn't know the guilty party, but WE did. No one told the teacher, but the culprit was told by the rest of the class, and it never happened again.

Why, oh why do parents think they are doing their children a kindness by letting them "express themselves"? We must have discipline and consideration for the next person if we are to live healthy, happy, peaceful lives. Proverbs we lived by are unknown to young people. Even the Golden Rule has changed to "Do it to them before they do it to you." No one takes the time to teach our young people moral lessons. Everyone is hurrying—to his grave. Sincerely,

GRANDMA

VICTORIA DAILY NEWSPAPERS

DEVEREAUX HOME MAY BE DEMOLISHED

COUNCIL ACTION SOUGHT

City Inspection Team Condemns 14 Houses

City Council will be asked Thursday to approve demolition of 14 city dwelling houses.

The action came following a tour of the condemned buildings Monday by a committee of aldermen and city officials.

The demolition recommendations included the house at 728 Bay Street which was once owned by the Devereaux family, pioneer Victoria residents.

Owners of the houses will be given 60 days to demolish the buildings which have failed to reach standards set by the city. Owners of four of the houses will be given 60 days to make necessary repairs before their houses are condemned.

In all cases city council will have to approve the recommendations of the committee before any action can be taken.

The committee of aldermen on the tour was accompanied by the fire department inspector, the sanitary inspector and the building inspector.

The dilapidated properties examined by the group included houses on Bay Street, Market Street, two on Vining Street, five on Simcoe Street, Parry Street, Stanley Avenue, Sayward Avenue, Denman Street, Chambers Street, Nanaimo Street and Green Street.

Dorion Leak Source Shielded by Newsman

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says reporter George Brimmell has been questioned by RCMP but refused to reveal the source of his information about his story dealing with the Dorion report.

In a Southam News Services dispatch from Ottawa, The Province says Brimmell was questioned by RCMP Inspector Jean Paul Drapeau about the story, which gave what it described as a preview of Chief Justice Frederic Dorion's conclusions.

The Province says Brimmell "assured Drapeau . . . that the story was not based on mere speculation."

". . . The source of the report's contents was not Andre Desjardins, counsel to the Dorion commission, with whom he (Brimmell) had spent last Thursday evening," the dispatch says.

"Brimmell volunteered this information because circumstantial evidence might bring Desjardins under suspicion at the source."

The Province says the questioning of Brimmell was witnessed by Charles Lynch, chief of the Southam News Services.

The Dorion commission was conducting a judicial inquiry into possible wrongdoing by persons in high places in the federal government.

Lana Weds Again

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Lana Turner, Hollywood's original sweater girl, has taken a California businessman as her sixth husband. Robert P. Eaton, 34, wed the 44-year-old blonde actress at his father's home Tuesday night.

Poor Housing 'Contributing To Disease'

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) —Hundreds of families are living in substandard housing and this is contributing to much of the disease in the territories, Dr. G. C. Butler, of Ottawa, told the Northwest Territories Council Tuesday.

Dr. Butler, director of territorial health service division, said in his annual report the government's philosophy of housing was out of date.

"We have provided the smallest housing units to indigent families, irrespective of the size of the family, with the result that the occupants have not even the minimum of air space requirements stipulated in the territorial health regulations."

Tuberculosis, enteritis, pneumonia and skin diseases, all health problems in the territories, are directly associated with housing, he added.

'TOO HIGH'

The death rate among Eskimo children is higher than any other group in Canada—93 per 1,000 births in 1964—and Dr. Butler said the death rate among white children in the territories still was too high.

His report showed 35 white children in every 1,000 under one year died in the territories last year "and the rate for Metis and poor whites would probably be much higher than the Eskimo rate."

Dr. Butler said there has been an improvement in housing in the last four years and he understood it would again be greatly improved in a program now being prepared by the northern affairs department.

He said any housing "crash program" should include the non-native indigents in the north, "many of whom are living under worse conditions than the native population."

Three Jumped Silently to Death As Doomed Boat Drifted in Lake

GIMLI, Man. (CP) — A 20-year-old construction worker who can't swim told Tuesday of plunging into Lake Winnipeg three times in vain attempts to save friends.

Halli Johnson was the only survivor among six people who set out Saturday night for a pleasure cruise on the lake.

He said from a hospital bed in this town 50 miles north of Winnipeg the water was calm when the outboard motor on the 18-foot fishing skiff was cut back too quickly. A wave splashed over the stern, and the motor was thrown overboard to keep the craft afloat.

Later, a squall developed, the three men besides Johnson jumped over and drowned, a child perished and the boat floated ashore.

PASSED OUT

Johnson said he then dragged the child's hysterical mother ashore, then passed out.

The woman apparently returned to the partly-submerged boat, in which the body of her husband lay. Searchers found her body inside the boat alongside her husband's.

Dead are Richard Spring, 23, of Washow Bay, Man.; his wife, Velma, 22; their son, Richard, 2½; Allan Johannson, 18, of Riverton, Man., and Gary Mowat, 20, of Loon Strait, Man.

Johnson is under treatment for fatigue and exposure. He was at Riverton, 20 miles north of here, for the weekend.

The party set out from Riverton to travel to Loon Strait, on the east side of the lake.

In Loon Strait, near the shore, "Gary throttled the motor too quickly, and a wave came over the back," Johnson said, They started drifting until about five miles out.

STARTED TO RAIN

It had started to rain. "Then Gary panicked," Johnson said. "He jumped overboard and disappeared.

"The boat drifted all night. . . ."

Sunday morning, Spring, without a word, jumped from the boat.

"The skiff was then out of sight of land," Johnson said. "I dragged him in, but he had already drowned.

"Then we drifted north. It was still raining. The waves were very, very high. I don't know how high, because I've hardly ever been in boats."

Later Sunday, Johannson jumped overboard.

Johnson said none of the three spoke a word before jumping into the water. The boat was drifting with the stern sub merged and the bow section above water.

BABY DIED

"Then, late Sunday, the baby died," he said.

The boat drifted up the shore near Loon Strait Monday morning.

"I placed the child on the bank and dragged Velma up on the shore. She was hysterical.

"Then I must have conked out.

"I must have slept for about four hours. When I awoke she (Velma) was gone. I thought she had tried to walk inland.

"I tried to walk but I couldn't get very far. Then three men came and found me. It must have been about 10 a.m. I never saw the woman again."

Johnson, who dived into the water after the three men, said "I can't swim at all. I guess I must have learned when I had to."

ALABAMA A-G OPENS WAR ON KLANSMEN

MONTGOMERY (UPI)—Alabama's attorney-general declared war on the Ku Klux Klan Tuesday, calling Klansmen "hooded killers . . . dedicated to civil disorder."

Richmond Flowers said his office had opened a full investigation of the Klan, which he said was a politically powerful organization with far more members in Alabama than the 2,500 usually estimated.

Flowers, a frequent critic of Alabama Gov. George Wallace's racial stands, criticized Alabama voter registration laws as "not adequate at all."

'FOR THE NEXT WAR . . . USE THE BEATLES'

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Gaetan Jarry, former lieutenant-commander in the Royal Canadian Navy, has sent a telegram to Defence Minister Hellyer renouncing his membership in the Order of the British Empire.

"For obvious reasons would you inform Her Majesty the Queen of my resignation from the Order of the British Empire and would you see that my name is erased from this very distinguished order," says the telegram, made public today.

It adds: "For the next war, do not count on me—use the Beatles or the beatniks."

'Mass Hysteria, Over Pesticides

VANCOUVER (CP) — Proposed British Columbia legislation restricting sale of pesticides is an unnecessary product of mass hysteria a Vancouver chemical manufacturer said Tuesday.

Jack Later, president of Later Chemicals Ltd., made the comment during a panel discussion of the Agricultural Pesticide Technical Society of Canada, one of several affiliated societies of the Agricultural Institute of Canada meeting here this week.

He said the British Columbia government plans to introduce new legislation early next year to amend the Pharmacy Act to provide stricter control of the sale of pesticides.

"The government has got itself entangled in this mass hysteria," Mr. Later said. "It's been stimulated by newspapers who appeal to the lunatic fringe of people who cause all the trouble."

"A lot of time, money and effort is being expended to fight a problem that doesn't exist," Mr. Later said.

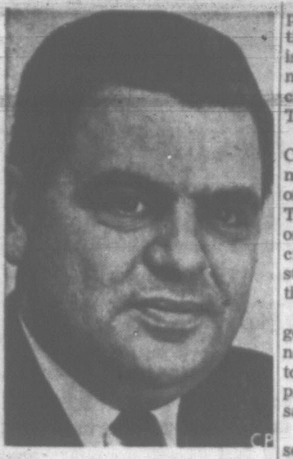
There are no records of deaths or even ill effects from the eating of foodstuffs due to contamination by pesticides, Mr. Later said.

"The purpose of this legislation hasn't been proven yet. The whole chemical industry is disturbed that such legislation could come about for an industry with such a clean record."

The government was willing to implement restrictions on the sale of pesticides while simultaneously building bigger and better liquor stores to sell a product which resulted in death and blight and caused 75 per cent of automobile accidents, he said.

W. O. Keefer of Penticton, regional manager of Niagara Chemicals Ltd., said the public has been overly frightened and confused by sensational publicity.

"Each pesticide incident brings a storm of comment—mostly misinformed," Mr. Keefer said. "The provincial government has moved in this atmosphere."



DUPUIS
. . . appears July 6

Quebec MP To Answer Charges

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—Defence lawyers for Yvon Dupuis have served notice that they will resume their efforts July 6 to have influence - peddling charges against the former federal cabinet minister thrown out.

Lawyer Raymond Daoust made the announcement in court Tuesday after Mr. Dupuis was ordered to appear July 6 for voluntary statement, a stage in Quebec legal proceedings at which the defence may attempt to show cause why the case should not go to the trial stage.

In practice, the defence usually waives voluntary statement and proceeds directly to trial. But Mr. Daoust said he will call witnesses and present his case in an attempt to have the charges dismissed.

Mr. Dupuis is charged with having asked for and received $10,000 in 196[illegible] to support an application by Roch Deslauriers for a provincial charter to operate a racetrack at nearby St. Luc.

Judge Andre Regnier committed him to voluntary statement on the strength of evidence presented during 10 days of preliminary hearing in March and April.

RESIGNED FROM CABINET

Mr. Dupuis, 38, was the youngest member of Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet when he was appointed minister without portfolio in February, 1964. He resigned from the cabinet last January at the prime minister's request but still represents St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville in the Commons.

The proposed racetrack was to have been built in his riding and Deslauriers has testified he handed Mr. Dupuis $10,000 in cash to use his influence in support of the application.

In a last-ditch bid Tuesday to have the charges dismissed at preliminary hearing, defence laywer Roland Blais argued that Deslauriers' testimony was full of contradictions and that there was no direct evidence to support the assertion that he gave the money to Mr. Dupuis.

Queen Seeks New School For Charles

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, 16, heir to the British throne, may become a student at a school where the uniform is blue jeans and naval sweater.

Sources close to the Royal Family said Tuesday the prince's mother, Queen Elizabeth, soon will visit Atlantic College and if she likes it, the prince may enrol there next fall.

Located near Bridgend overlooking the Bristol Channel, Atlantic College was founded by German-born Dr. Kurt Hahn, who also founded the prince's present school, Gordonstoun.

Atlantic is a junior college which prepares boys for university. Many of the boys at the college are foreigners and from various social levels.

If he passes his examinations, Charles should finish at Gordonstoun in mid-July.

Three Postal Unions Sign Merger Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—The leaders of three national postal unions signed an agreement Tuesday night, which, if accepted by their 19,000 members, will leave the federal government bargaining with one big union.

The presidents and secretaries of the Canadian Postal Employees Association (10,500 members), Federated Association of Letter Carriers (7,800) and Canadian Railway Mail Clerks Fedeartion (500) signed the agreement which calls for the 20-year-old Postal Workers Brotherhood of Canada to:

". . . apply for certification as bargaining agent for the group of employees known as the mail handling group."

The three organizations, all affiliated with the Canadian Labour Congress, have belonged to the brotherhood since 1945 but it served only as a sounding board for common problems.

Leslie Hood, president of the postal employees association, termed the signing a "step forward for all postal employees . . . a major step towards organic unity of all postal workers in Canada."

The three must seek ratification of the agreement at national membership conventions this fall and next spring but all leaders are confident their members would accept the new-look brotherhood.

Behind the signing is the federal government's decision to introduce collective bargaining and arbitration procedures with civil servants early next year.

WITHDRAWAL from further duty in the Jack Ruby case was announced Monday by U.S. district Judge Joe B. Brown in Dallas, Texas. Soundly criticized by the defence in his handling of the Ruby trial last year, and the subject of a dismissal suit, Brown announced his decision in a simple statement with no comment. No successor has been named.

Convicts End Strike

PETROS, Tenn. (UPI) — Seventy-three convicts ended a 20-hour sitdown strike inside a penitentiary-operated coal mine Tuesday and filed out behind four supervisors they had held hostage. Eight guards, armed with pistols and shotguns, watched as the rebellious inmates emerged from the deep shaft that bores about two miles into the rugged Cumberland Mountains.

Lesage Hits Oil Probe Licence

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage expressed indignation in the legislature Tuesday over a federal grant to a Calgary-based company for undersea gas and petroleum exploration rights in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The Quebec premier said his government is "shocked" by the federal government decision awarding the rights to the company.

"It would be difficult to do more to provoke the indignation of the people of Quebec."

The company is Pan-American Petroleum Corp.

Immediate reaction of the provincial government was to grant a similar licence to the government - owned Hydro-Quebec "to explore for gas and petroleum in the St. Lawrence River and in the whole region which perrtains to it."

Dangerous Beliefs About Tires!

"If you're driving fast, pressure builds up anyhow, so don't add air now." Is that good summer-driving advice? Is a "super deluxe" a better tire? VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1965—PAGE 33

NDP Beaten On Indian Bill

Separate-Nation Status Urged As Chiefs Seek More Land, Money

OTTAWA (CP)—Pressure on behalf of Canada's Indians was brought to bear both inside and outside the Commons Tuesday.

An attempt by New Democrat MPs to beat back a government bill setting up an Indian claims commission to iron out difficulties sprouting from old treaty rights was trampled in a 153-to-13 vote.

And in a meeting with Citizenship Minister Nicholson on Parliament Hill Indian leaders were told that the minister did not have authority to confirm that the tribes constitute a separate nation and are entitled to huge land parcels and contingent mineral rights.

New Democrat speakers during the Commons debate maintained that the current bill did not offer enough safeguards for Indian rights. Their amendment suggested a complete revamping.

But all other members present voted against the NDP amendment and the bill was given second reading—approval in principle—and sent off to a special committee. New Democrats called "on division" to record their opposition.

Before their delegation met with Mr. Nicholson, Indians of the five-nation Iroquois confederacy paraded before the Parliament buildings. They carried placards reading "abolish the inhuman Indian Act" and "British - Canadian governments, hands off mineral royalties."

"We have our own nation and the white man has no right to make laws for the red man," said Chief Louis Hall of the Caughnawaga reserve near Montreal, spokesman for the Indians.

The few royalties that had been set aside for Indians went into a fund controlled by the government, he said. "They give with the one hand and take away with the other."

The marchers distributed copies of a letter the band sent to Governor - General Vanier claiming Indian rights to nationhood and lands were confirmed by a proclamation by King George III in 1763. Mr. Hall said the proclamation recognized Indian rights to one-third of the value of mineral rights.

The delegation that met the minister pressed for confirmation of separate-nation status for Indians. Mr. Nicholson said he couldn't give it.

He said he would walk out of the meeting if the delegates kept pressing this point.

"We're not getting anywhere," one Indian commented. "I didn't invite you here, this meeting is at your request," Mr. Nicholson shot back.

Tom Barnett (NDP — Comox - Alberni), who moved the NDP amendment in the Commons, said his feelings were of "sorrow, rage, shame and disappointment" when he saw the latest bill. It was as inadequate as the original one introduced in 1963 and withdrawn in the face of criticism from Indians and the Commons Opposition.

The current bill proposed to set up a claims commission and an appeal court. But "the onus is going to be upon the Indian people themselves to establish that they have a claim or claims." This was "a reversal of the situation that should prevail."

'DEAL IS UNFAIR'

Frank Howard (NDP — Skeena) said there could be no fair settlement of Indian claims "until the Indian people themselves feel they have been given a fair deal."

The current bill forced Indians "to submit to rules which they may not be able to observe and which stack the cards against them."

The bill set a three-year time limit for claims to be submitted. Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said there should be a rider allowing an extension. He also suggested the government should do something for Eskimos because they had lost their birthrights without signing treaties.

East Indians Jailed For Pickaroon Fight

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Four men were sentenced Tuesday to a total of 42 years' imprisonment for a fight last October which left a 26-year-old man crippled for life.

The men were convicted of causing bodily harm with intent to wound, disfigure or maim by using logging tools called pickaroons in a fight which left Bhag Singh Toore seriously injured.

Mr. Justice M. M. MacFarlane sentenced Kehar Singh Braich to 12 years in jail, Balwinder Sing Sidhu to 10 years, Jagdev Singh Sidhu to eight years and Gurnam Singh Sandhu to four years.

He ordered concurrent terms of two years each for possession of offensive weapons.

COMMITTED Tuesday to voluntary statement Oct. 5 in Quebec court was Leonard J. (Red) McLaughlin, president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada Ind. on charges of conspiracy in March on Ottawa 20 months ago. Under Quebec law McLaughlin may not attempt to show causes why he should not be sent to trial.

Errors Made In Setting Of Exams

QUEBEC (CP) — Education Minister Gerin - Lajoie confirmed Tuesday mistakes had been made in the Grade 11 physics examination paper set by the department of education.

He added the students taking the examination would not suffer because of the mistakes.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie was commenting on a report published in La Presse Tuesday that examination papers in the science course prepared by the provincial department contained errors.

The education minister said the errors were confined to the physics paper.

"Out of 60 questions, about six or eight conveyed a false impression through errors partly the fault of the setter and partly that of the printer."

Mr. Gerin - Lajoie said the mistakes were discovered several days ago and steps were immediately taken. In all of the papers containing errors, the sections affected were completely written off and will not be counted for final standings.

Two Private Bank Bills Sent to Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons broke a minor log-jam Tuesday and sent two private bills incorporating new chartered banks to committee for detailed discussion.

The bills setting up the Laurentide Bank and the Bank of Western Canada had been stalled in the House in the face of a combined New Democrat-Creditiste filibuster.

In a surprise move, however, the two bills were given second reading, approval in principle, and referred to the Commons committee on finance, trade and economic affairs with nary a voice raised against them.

The 13 Creditistes, who had proposed amendments to both bills to set them aside for six months, were all absent from the House when the bills passed. En route, their amendments were defeated by a voice vote.

New Democrat spokesman Arnold Peters (Timiskaming) said his group still considers the bills raise several controversial questions. But the NDP was willing to let them go to committee where witnesses could be called to testify on various aspects of the legislation.

The New Democrats had been stalling action on the two bills on grounds a third measure proposing a new Bank of British Columbia should be assured equal treatment.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JIM JACOBY

Jim continues the discussion of Blackwood where we left off yesterday.

Jim: "The follow-up Blackwood bid of five no-trump is a demand to partner to tell how many kings he holds. He responds six clubs to show no kings; six diamonds to show one king; six hearts to show two kings; six spades to show three and six no-trump to show all four kings."

Opening lead—♠ Q

Oswald: "Today's hand shows the advantage of using the five club response to a Blackwood four no-trump to show either four aces or no aces. The bid is slightly ambiguous but no one should ever go wrong because it should be a cinch to tell from the previous bidding which number of aces partner is showing."

Jim: "After North follows his one club opening with a jump raise from one heart to four hearts South knows that North will show up with at least one ace so when he bids four no-trump and receives a five club response he is sure that North holds all four of those nice cards. South also wants to know about the important king of hearts and is able to bid five no-trump. North responds six diamonds and South is able to bid a grand slam with complete confidence."

Oswald: "It is important to point out that if North had bid five no-trump to show all four aces there would have been no way for South to check on that one missing king and he would have had to guess whether or not to bid six or seven."

Jim: "As a finale I would like to point out that South should bid seven no-trump rather than seven hearts. With four aces and the king of hearts located in his partner's hand South could count 13 tricks at no-trump."

QUALICUM BEACH

Live here and spend your vacation at home. The owner of this sand and sea resort lodge is unable to operate this year because of pressure of business in Edmonton. He came into our office and said—SELL! He and his family have had tremendous enjoyment of this select property for the past 10 years and he regrets having to make this decision to sell. He has no delusions of grandeur regarding value, as a result, this prime beach front property is bargained for immediate sale. Accommodates 50 guests (in lodge and cottages) plus a 4-bedroom, 2 bathroom residence. Hurry before he changes his mind. Unbelievable at only $70,000. Free and easy terms. A exclusive listing. I. E. Channel 6 will sign on early to carry the race via Early Bird satellite. The race will be scheduled from 6:45 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. The local station will sign on early to accommodate this feature and then revert to test pattern until normal Saturday morning sign-on time. Channel 4 will also carry the race.

★ ★ ★

Channel 4's live Early Bird transmissions of the U.S.-Soviet track meet from Kiev July 31 and Aug. 1 are scheduled for 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. each day . . . NBC-TV has scheduled a David Wolper special, "The Incredible World of James Bond," for an hour on Nov. 26, with Sean Connery, who plays the Ian Fleming hero in the movies, as the host.

Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox says his studio was approached by television for a possible three-hour special showing of his movie, "The Longest Day," about D-Day, but he maintains the film won't be available to television for five years . . . The apparent test film of "Hercules," the projected Joseph E. Levine series that failed to make the network schedule this fall, will be shown for an hour in color on ABC-TV Sept. 12, the night before the season begins.

★ ★ ★

Austin Willis has been signed to play the male lead role of Commodore Fox, a retired Royal Canadian Navy officer, in Seaway, the new TV series about the St. Lawrence Seaway, being made in Canada and to be telecast on CBC-TV this fall. He, by the way, has some naval experience, having joined the RCN in 1941 where he acted and narrated in a number of navy documentaries.

★ ★ ★

A new variety show makes its debut on CBC-TV Wednesday, June 30, from Winnipeg. Swing Ding will feature Aubrey Tadman and Len Andree, two of the 'Peg's leading entertaining lights . . . Barbra Streisand's one-woman musical special of April 28, which left this column undecided about her multi-talents though she received raves from other critics, has been officially set for an Oct. 20 repeat by CBS-TV.

★ ★ ★

Danny Thomas and Sammy Davis will be the west and east coast hosts, respectively, for NBC-TV's Emmy Awards program Sept. 12 . . . ABC-TV is reported interested in having Davis star in a drama series in the fall of 1966 . . . Victor Borge will star as the well-known comedy character Mr. Belvedere, the genius Mr. Fixit, on CBS-TV's Summer Playhouse July 12.

ON FABULOUS QUALICUM BEACH

Live here and spend your vacation at home. The owner of this sand and sea resort lodge is unable to operate this year because of pressure of business in Edmonton. He came into our office and said—SELL! He and his family have had tremendous enjoyment of this select property for the past 10 years and he regrets having to make this decision to sell. He has no delusions of grandeur regarding value, as a result, this prime beachfront property is bargained for immediate sale. Accommodates 50 guests (in lodge and cottages) plus a 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom residence. Hurry before he changes his mind. Unbelievable at only $70,000. Free and easy terms. An exclusive listing. L. E. KIRK, EV 5-6741.

PLANNED FOR IMPORTANT PEOPLE

Match this against any similarly priced home you've seen and you will agree this one boasts more comfort and beauty per room than any other in Victoria. There are 4 bedrooms, a very large family room, 3 full bathrooms. Even the kitchen with its many cupboards in French motif oozes with appeal. 3½ miles from town in beautiful Gordon Head. Owners forced to leave for Regina. Priced at $23,900 — terms of course. J. J. WILLIAMS, EV 5-6741.

WATERFRONT

Delightful waterfront at its best on a well secluded, treed lot. This area abounds in extra large fish. I'm told, and this just isn't another "fish story." Designed for the owners as their final home, every bit of detail was given close scrutiny to make sure this was to be an outstanding property and home — however, sickness has changed their plans. A lovely living room with fireplace greets you from the entrance hall with large view picture windows. Good sized dining room. Knotty pine kitchen with dutch door. 3 good sized bedrooms, 2 full baths. Large finished rumpus with stone fireplace in the full basement. Extra large view sundeck. On a most delightfully landscaped lot with lots of stonework. Double carport. Clear title, this property can be handled with $20,000 down. Full price $36,000. Aged Picket At AMA Meet For Medicare

NEW YORK (UPI)—Opposition to a federal program of medicare for the aged was voiced strongly in an American Medical Association committee hearing Tuesday.

Outside, about 500 oldsters—men and women sweating in 89-degree heat — picketed and chanted.

"Two . . . four . . . six . . . eight—AMA co-operate!" went the cry of men and women marching on the sidewalk of the Americana Hotel.

Inside, a committee of the House of delegates of the AMA 114th convention held an open hearing on resolutions concerning the medicare legislation slated for passage in congress.

The bill would provide hospital and nursing-home care under social security for persons over 65. Nine of the resolutions advocated non-participation by AMA member doctors in the medicare program—in effect a boycott—if it were passed.

VOTING TODAY

The 233 registered members of the house of delegates, policy-making body of the AMA, will meet today to vote on a report to be submitted by the committee on legislation and public relations, to which these and other resolutions had been submitted.

The picketing of the house of delegates was sponsored by the congress of senior citizens of Greater New York and by retired members of two labor groups.

The pickets carried signs bearing legends such as: "We want medicare now," "medicare will bring the genius of American medicine to more elderly people," "RX—medicare now," and "AMA hierarchy spends millions chasing 'socialized bogeymen.' "

The AMA is an organization of 206,000 doctors in 54 states and territories. Its new president, James Appel of Lancaster, Pa., has urged co-operation with the medicare program if it became law.

A student of Oak Bay High School and Victoria College, he later he recived his BA and MD degrees at the University of B.C.

U.K. SCIENTIST SAYS

Modern Agriculture Kills Off Wild Bees

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Wild bees are being exterminated by modern agriculture and insecticides, Dr. Eva Crane of London, Eng., a leading scientist in the study of bees, said today.

Dr. Crane said the nests of wild bees are destroyed when land is plowed and the job of pollination is left to honey bees.

She said in many cases the wild bees are the better pollinators—especially for alfalfa seed production.

Dr. Crane said world-wide attention was being focused on an experiment being conducted on the nearby farm of Frank King.

Working with the provincial government, Mr. King has imported from Washington State a large number of Alkali bees which live in the soil.

Dr. Crane said if these bees fare well in the soil and climate of the Kamloops area, alfalfa seed production in this area will be greatly accelerated. She said these bees have a particular fondness for alfalfa.

Dr. Crane is director of the Bee Research Association, an international body that collects information on bees from 80 countries.

Baluik Collects In Vermont Open

FAIRLEE, Vt. (CP) — Stan Baluik, centre with Providence Reds of the American Hockey League, collected $650 Tuesday when he won a sudden-death playoff to capture the 11th annual Vermont golf open.

Baluik, 29, of Port Arthur, Ont., who now lives in Lincoln, R.I., parred the first extra hole while Huston La Clair of North Falmouth, Mass., went one over.

'Keen Eye for Essentials . . . They Only Seem Casual'

By DESMOND BILL

VICKY
. . . "one-man" show

Vicky Husband took a camera with her when she went round the world on her own but she didn't need it.

Tuesday night at Victoria Art Gallery more than a hundred persons could see why.

They were guests at the opening of an exhibition of her drawings and water colors.

The drawings were made during the world tour she made the hard way. Some had already been seen when they were printed in the Victoria Times.

But the showing at the gallery did more justice to her work than black-and-white reproduction in the paper.

SKETCHES

These visual impressions of what she saw are not finished paintings—only sketches on the spot during her travels. But they reveal, in the words of Colin Graham, "a keen eye for essentials . . . they seem casual but actually there is a remarkable ability to single out the important elements in a scene."

At 24, Miss Husband is one of the youngest persons ever to have a "one-man" exhibition at the gallery. She made the round-world trip alone.

But she make it sound easy.

She grew up in Victoria, left at 17 to study fine arts at UBC. For five years she studied art history, painting and interior design at both UBC and the University of Washington.

But she still says, "I'm not an artist or a painter. All I try to do just now is draw. I'm not what you would call a natural artist. I have to work at it.

"I work at it because I want to be creative. I can't expiain it in words. Maybe that is why I want to paint . . . to express what I can't put in words about things and people."

When she left college she had only one ambition—to go around the world. She went to Japan as a summer exchange student, stayed on for six months.

Then she took off—for Hong Kong, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaya, Ceylon, India, Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Egypt, Greece and then through Western Europe.

YOUTH HOSTELS

She stayed at youth hostels, slept in trains and on beaches, hitch-hiked and lived out of a packsack and a carrying bag. Wherever she went she sketched. Her painting was her passport.

"People were intrigued . . . curious about a girl on her own sitting drawing in some out-of-the-way place."

The gallery-goers who saw the drawings Tuesday night were intrigued too. They bought 11 of them. And the gallery purchased one for its permanent collection.

FORMER Ceylon beauty queen Manel de Silva will marry a Roman Catholic priest who says he found celibacy a "martyrdom." Rev. Noel Crusz, 41, says he will ask Pope Paul to release him from his priestly obligations so that he may marry Miss de Silva who was Miss Ceylon in 1963 and who now is a teacher. Miss de Silva had no comment when asked about the marriage plans.

7,500 Sign Pollution Petitions

Petitions are still being circulated by Portage Inlet and Gorge residents protesting additional pollution of the area.

Howard Roberts, spokesman for the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association, said this morning close to 7,500 persons have signed the petitions.

A block of 5,500 names was presented to the Pollution Control Board last week.

MORE TO COME

The additional names have been and will continue to be presented to the board as the association receives them.

The petitions refer specifically to the Pollution Control Board's approval of additional discharge from the Northridge subdivision and the government's application for a treatment plant for the planned Retarded Children's Hospital.

DOUBLE DISCHARGE

At Northridge, off Carey Road, the plant will double its discharge to 70,000 gallons daily of pital is planned near Colquitz Creek, which empties into Portage Inlet.

The Retarded Children's Hospital is planned near Colquitz jail and the treatment plant, with capacity of 90,000 gallons daily, would discharge into a Colquitz tributary.

C. Saanich Holds Up Lease Bid

Central Saanich council Tuesday tabled for further consideration an application to increase a Brentwood marina foreshore lease from five to 21 years.

All other marinas in Brentwood Bay have five-year foreshore leases.

Reeve Gordon Lee said Anchorage Boathouse is seeking to extend its foreshore lease before carrying out some improve-

"We should look into this further," said Coun. Tom Michell. "If we approved a 21-year lease and the owner sold his marina a year later for health reasons, we would be criticized."

Council also dropped plans for a bylaw banning the training of falcons in the municipality.

AWAIT NEW RULES

Coun. Ray Lamont said council should wait until the B.C. game branch has completed new regulations to control the training and use of falcons in B.C.

A bylaw to tighten fireworks regulations within the municipality was tabled for further discussion.

At present the sale of fireworks is allowed on Oct. 29, 30 and 31.

Coun. Michell suggested the sale of firecrackers be allowed for one day only.

One Big Union Group Protests Presence on Subversive Lists

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Fifty years ago a radical labor group was setting North America alight with a revolutionary message.

This month, the ghost of the Industrial Workers of the World stirred as the last remains of the once-strong syndicalists appealed their presence on the American government's list of subversive organizations.

For those who knew the Pacific Northwest and the First World War, the IWW — better known as the Wobblies—probably meant one of two things:

They were either a bunch of foreign troublemakers, shouting anarchy and waving guns;

Or they were pioneers of modern industrial unionism, dreamers of a utopia where the workers own the world and where wealth is distributed equally among everyone.

Once, the Wobblies mustered 100,000 members, conducted free speech fights across the continent, organized migratory workers and fought oppressive conditions.

Today, succeeded by changing conditions and politically-conscious unions, the Wobblies are but a memory, though they still maintain a dwindling office in Chicago.

The Wobblies jumped into life 60 years ago when a group of socialists, unionists, anarchists and others met at the founding convention.

"We are going into the gutter to get at the mass of workers and bring them up to a decent standard of living," declared William (Big Bill) Haywood, a miner and prominent IWW leader.

TEXTILE MILLS

The Wobblies organized in the mines, textile mills, logging camps, farms, docks and ships. Locals were established as far away as Britain, South Africa and Australia.

The constitution declared the working class and the employing class have nothing in common and there can be no peace while millions are hungry.

"Between these two classes a struggle must go on until the workers of the world organize as a class, take possession of the earth and the machinery of production and abolish the wage system."

The constitution foresaw workers organizing into One Big Union "forming the structure of the new society within the shell of the old."

SIT-DOWN STRIKE

The Wobblies helped pioneer the sit-down strike and other techniques, jail-ins—during free speech fights when they were arrested till they filled the jails—and the organization of workers according to industry, not according to their skill within that industry.

The industrial union concept was reborn in the 1930s with the rise of such unions as the United Auto Workers, International Woodwerkers of America, United Steelworkers—even the American Newspaper Guild.

The Wobblies met fierce opposition everywhere. At times they were violently suppressed and killed. Repressive laws succeeded in no small measure in curbing them.

In the Pacific Northwest, five Wobblies were killed when sheriff's deputies fired on them while the ferry Verona tried to dock at Everett in 1916.

Wobbly Wesley Everest was lynched in Centralia after a 1919 armistice day march when parading citizens attacked the IWW hall.

Ironically, Everest himself was a veteran.

THREE VICTIMS

At Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Seattle, a gravestone marks the spot where three of the Verona victims are buried—Hugo Cerlat, Felix Baran and John Looney.

Although the IWW failed to achieve its high aims of a workers' utopia, it left more than a heritage of industrial union techniques.

Also left to posterity were a rich variety of folk songs and poems.

The best-known balladeer was Joe Hill, a Swedish immigrant who composed such songs as The Preacher and the Slave, attacking preachers for offering only "pie in the sky when you die"; Casey Jones—the Union Scab, and Rebel Girl.

The man who wrote North America's best-known labor song was Ralph Chaplin, a prodigious producer of songs and poems for the IWW, who died in 1961.

LABOR ANTHEM

He wrote Solidarity Forever, the anthem of the North American labor movement, during a coal miners' strike in West Virginia in 1915.

But Joe Hill is the best remembered, because in life as in death he seemed larger than life.

Just before he was executed in Utah on a much-debated murder charge, he declared in a telegram: "Goodbye. Forget me. Don't mourn. Organize."

A later folk song, in which the singer dreams Hill is alive, memorialized the balladeer.

"Takes more than guns to kill a man."

"Says Joe I never died."

His songs are still sung, most recently in a half-hour CBC show devoted to him.

"We never forget," said friends of Hill upon his death. His songs ensured that, even as the Industrial Workers of the World flickered back on the scene this month attempting to get off the subversive list.

'Don't Expect Good Pictures From Mars'

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Mariner 4 spacecraft today was headed for a picture-taking mission toward the planet Mars under "excellent" conditions, but the public was warned not "to expect too much" of the photographs to be sent back to earth next month from a distance of about 134 million miles.

Scientists at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory which controls the spacecraft — launched last November from Cape Kennedy—said the pictures of Mars may not reveal much firm information on the mysterious red planet's surface.

Some scientists feel there is a form of life on the planet but this question may not be answered by the 21 photographs which, if all goes well, Mariner 4 will send back to earth, beginning late July 14.

One radio signal from Mariner 4 will take 12 minutes to reach earth at the speed of light. Each picture will take eight hours and 35 minutes in transmission.

Initial pictures of Mars may be available "within two or three days" after July 14 but a complete set of the photos — with scientific interpretation — may not be available for "weeks or months," according to Dr. William H. Pickering, JPL director.

Scientist Probes New Disease At Potato Farm

A federal scientist is investigating an outbreak of a disease on a Saanich potato farm, the first infestation of its kind in Canada other than in Newfoundland.

The farm was placed under quarantine following the discovery of golden nematode—a microscopic worm which attacks spuds, tomatoes and egg plants.

Plant pathologist Dr. Phil Campbell of Ottawa is attempting to determine the extent of the infestation and the measures required to deal with the problem.

Assisting him are two nemotologists.

The spread of golden nemotode would reduce considerably B.C.'s potato crop.

While the disease can be controlled, it is regarded as one of the most serious pests of potatoes. It can be transported from infested fields in the soil or on the roots of ther plants.

The disease exists in Newfoundland and in several European countries.

Argos Get Four Then Lose Pair

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference Tuesday signed four players but lost two.

The Argos, prepared to start regular training camp at nearby Aurora with 48 players reporting, learned that fullback Jon Rechner and guard Dick Aboud are retiring.

Signed are fullback Jim Vollendwider, halfback Jim Rountree, flanker Len Chandler and end Jerry Wilson.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jeff Makison, age 10, of Anderson, S.C., for his question:

What do we mean by life?

Generations of scholars have pondered the mysteries of what we call life. Man now lives in the Age of Science. With new research skills and superfine instruments, our scientists seek the secrets of life in the miniature world of atoms and molecules.

Everyone knows that the mysterious quality of life is possessed by elms and elephants, by rabbits and rosebushes, by mice and mosses. Every up-to-date student also knows that we share our world with countless things that are too small for our eyes to see. Modern scientists know that the mysteries of life are to be found at the infinitesimally small level of molecules. And these researchers into the nature of life are called molecular biologists.

They have learned a lot about life but by no means not all. We must change many of our old ideas in order to follow them and be ready to grasp the new discoveries that will come. We know that all living things grow and multiply. But so do non-living crystals. Living things take energy and carry on other activity with chemicals around them. But a non-living fire also carries on chemical activity with fuel and air around it. Living things react and respond to objects around them. But non-living dynamite also reacts when triggered by a detonator.

Life of Cell Complex

The basic qualities of life may be found in separate non-living things. But all of them are present and operating together in every microscopic living cell. And every lofty tree and whopping whale is built from a multitude of these self-operating little cells. This living material is made from the same basic elements as the non-living world of rocks, air and water. But its complex molecules carry on constant chemical activity with each other and with the non-living materials around them.

Past scholars had many strange ideas about life, but the scientific truth is far stranger. Life is possible because of interelated processes carried on constantly within the busy cell. The imagination is staggered by the number and the complexity of these chemical activities.

Most substances within the living cell are compounds of common elements. Water, a compound of hydrogen and oxygen, makes up 65% to 90% of most living plants and animals. Compounds of hydrogen and carbon are also plentiful. In the cell these common non-living basics are specially arranged to interact and carry on the astounding processes of life.

Swim Pools Closed

GRIFFIN, Ga. (UPI)—Swimming pools and youth centres at two city parks were closed Tuesday in the face of new integration attempts. Twenty-one Negroes were arrested when they tried to use the facilities.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

NEW YORK—Britain's angry young playwright, John Osborne, is refusing to sell the film rights to his new play, "A Patriot for Me," unless Maximillian Schell is signed to recreate the role he plays in London. The play is seen in a private club for a scheduled six-weeks run. Most movie producers would be delighted to hire Max for a picture, but they're probably burning the midnight oil wondering what to do to make the script suitable for public consumption . . . Sydney Chaplin's exit from the cast of "Funny Girl" (first predicted here) was far more complicated than the formal announcements made it seem. Lawyers were in on the deal, and it was rather a sticky wicket.

Rumors are spreading that all is not fab with Lee Remick and Bill Colleran . . . Several tough Harlem hoods who blew a bundle betting on Sonny Liston have spread the word uptown that if they run into the ex-champ in this locale, he'll have his last fight with them—no TV cameras around.

The movie "The Knack," which has no story to speak of, was filmed in no studio to speak of and without any stars to speak of. Yet it won the Cannes Film Festival Prize as best picture of the year. (Are they trying to tell us something?) . . . If you think Broadway is deserted after midnight, you should see the World's Fair after 9 p.m.

The windy city certainly seems to be interested in "the real Jean Harlow." On opening day of the Joe Levine "Harlow," 23,000 people trekked to the Chicago Theatre to catch the first public performance of the cinema, and 20,000 had to be turned away. But the lines continued around the block for hours and hours.

Don't you yearn to catch this performance? Dagmar playing the Ethel Merman role in "Gypsy." She's doing it in Summer stock . . . The American Medical Association is financing an intensive search for a cigarette that will be "absolutely safe." They will experiment until they find the ingredients that are anti-people, then go from there to eliminate them without affecting whatever taste it is that smokers yearn for . . . Former Governor and Mrs. Thomas Dewey quietly celebrated their 37th wedding anniversary at the Leopard Restaurant.

Anna Magnani, in one of those statements explaining why she turned down several offers to write her memoirs: "I'm the sort who must tell the truth and I'd only get sued for all I'm worth. I might even be jailed for telling what I know."

Golly, Anna, you've got a best-seller there!

One of the first wedding presents Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Christopher (Sybil Burton) received after their marriage was a huge pot of "she-crab" soup from the proprietor of the Boat House, directly across the street from Arthur. It seems that for weeks the happy couple had been ordering that specialty every time they went over to get away from it all . . . "Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines," which drew fantastic raves from the critics (it's the first 20th Century-Fox picture in years to win unanimous approval from the New York writers), pulled in $10,000 at the box office in one day. It's taking off like another "Around the World in 80 Days."

Carroll Baker hired private guards to keep the photographers and fans from disturbing her during her three-months stay on the French Riviera. (In a $14,000 a season beach pad.) So what's she been doing? She's been going out playing the social butterfly of the coast, posing for pictures everywhere she goes. But she does say that "in 10 years" she plans to do a Garbo and vanish from films forever.

Geraldine Chaplin has hired a flock of high-priced press agents to announce that she doesn't believe her publicity — especially about her romances. She is quoted as saying that when the right man comes along "nobody will have to twist my arm to get the news—I'll shout it from the rooftops." (Wonder where she picked up all those Americanisms. In the mimeographing room maybe?)

New Branch Set Up For Older Scouts

OTTAWA (CP) — The Venturers—a new branch of the boy scout movement aimed at helping older scouts find more adventurous activities—is moving into full swing across the country.

Main purpose of the new division, tried on an experimental basis in several provinces for a year or so, is to provide programs for boys in the 14-17 age groups who often are restricted because 11- and 12-year-old scouts are less mature.

Robert Milks, assistant director of program services at the boy scout national headquarters here, said in an interview Tuesday an example of activities planned for Venturers was an eight-day canoe trip in Algonquin Park last week by a group from Ottawa.

"That might have been impractical for the younger scouts," he said.

Other Venturer groups have already taken up gliding and go-carting, Mr. Milks said, and one Montreal group has set up a co-educational driver education course.

Mr. Milks said it is expected more co-educational activities will be included in Venturer programs such as dances, beach parties and sleigh rides. This was being done in the United States by the Explorers—groups of boys of about the same age.

He said 150 boys from across Canada have been invited to a conference at Banff, Alta., this October to suggest activities to attract boys from both inside and outside scouting.

The official Venturer uniform — tested and enthusiastically approved by Canadian scouts at the 1963 world jamboree at Marathon, Greece — includes a tan shirt worn either open at the neck or closed with a neckerchief, green pants, either long or short, and a matching green beret.

Mr. Milks said he anticipates that as many as 25,000 of Canada's present 100,000 scouts will join the Venturers by the start of 1966.

THIRD-CLASS CRUISERS they called them officially when HMS Satellite and HMS Champion came to Esquimalt Harbor about 1894. Three cargo ships are in background. Esquimalt became Royal Navy base in 1865. It wasn't until 1910 that first Canadian ship, HMCS Rainbow, was stationed at the base. Canada decided to form its own navy the year before.

IT'S ARMED FORCES DAY SATURDAY

ESQUIMALT'S THE PLACE

One Big Day to Salute 100 Years

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

The 100-year-old partnership linking Esquimalt, the navy and the sea will be honored Saturday.

The days of wooden ships, canvas sails and men with hearts of oak will be recalled with pomp, ceremony and festivity.

For it was June 29, 1865, that Esquimalt was proclaimed as a base for Her Majesty's ships of the Pacific Fleet and a proud and tradition-spiced era began.

They'll All Help

The municipality, the navy, the army and the air force each will take a hand in shaping Armed Forces Day to fit the historic significance of the anniversary. It is the first Armed Services Day held in B.C. and replaces the "open houses" of previous years.

On the day that the white ensign first was raised on the shore establishment, Esquimalt already was well known to the RN. British ships had been using the harbor since 1846.

And before that, ships of the Spanish navy found shelter there, the first was Princess Real, a sloop which came in July 1790, under command of Don Manuel Quimper. He called the harbor Puerto De Cordova.

In 1844 the Royal Navy's HMS Modeste put into Esquimalt. In 1846 came four others under British admiralty orders.

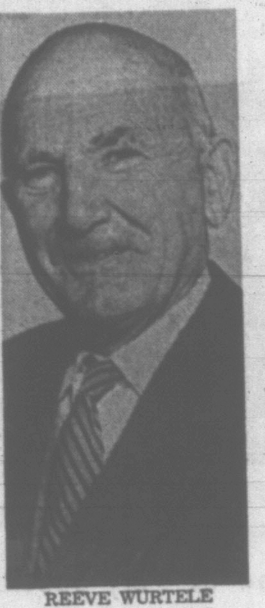
50-Gun Frigate

The first British man-of-war to be based in the harbor was HMS Constance, a 50-gun frigate. She put into the harbor on June 24, 1848.

Following the Constance, British ships of all commands and armaments came visiting Esquimalt until in 1865 the Royal Navy base was decreed officially.

Though the town grew slowly Esquimalt became more and more important as a naval base.

At the Imperial Defence Conference in London, in July 1909, Canada undertook to create its own navy. In 1910 the RN's Esquimalt base became the home of the first Canadian warship stationed on the Pacific Coast—HMCS Rainbow.



REEVE WURTELE
. . . you're invited

Officials, community organizations and individuals will celebrate the 100th anniversary.

Esquimalt Lions Club will start with a pancake breakfast beginning at 7:30 on the Plaza parking lot on Esquimalt Road.

A parade featuring bands, marching groups, floats and decorated cars will follow at 10 a.m. Marshalled by Royal Canadian Legion, Esquimalt Dockyard branch, the parade will form at Head Street and Old Esquimalt Road.

Headed by a naval color party and guard, the parade will proceed down Head Street, along Esquimalt Road to Admirals Road, left to Lyall and left again to Bullen Park.

The parade will be followed at 11 a.m. by children's races at Bullen Park. Prizes, trophies and ribbons will be awarded to winners in the parade, sport events and other contests throughout the day.

Diving Display

At noon the navy will put on a diving and demolition display off Saxe Point Park.

RCN divers from Colwood will simulate a beach clearance demonstration. Divers will swim from a boat to shore to clear approaches of "mines."

Then they will return to the craft to detonate small explosives near the shore.

One diver will be left at sea to be picked up in an air-sea rescue demonstration. The show will last more than an hour.

Royal Canadian Engineers' school at Chilliwack will feature a display of light and heavy bridging. A field workshop will also be shown.

Royal Canadian Signals will be operating a mobile field teletype between the Dockyard and Vancouver. It will be housed in a large van on A Jetty.

No. 5 Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery Militia, Victoria, will be going through gun drills with an army 105-mm howitzer.

At 1 p.m. there will be a mothers' softball game at Bullen Park.

A tree-planting ceremony will follow at 1:45 p.m. on the grounds of Esquimalt Municipal Hall. Reeve A. C. Wurtele will officiate.

Open House

From 2 to 4 p.m. HMCS Qu'Appelle and HMCS Jonquiere and the USS Twining will present an open house at HMC dockyard. The naval technical school will be open to the public.

At 3 p.m. a cairn commemorating the anniversary, will be unveiled at Dockyard in a ceremony attended by Reeve Wurtele, Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast and Dockyard Commodore H. A. Winnett.

Sealed in the cairn will be copies of the local newspapers with stories of the U.S. astronauts' space walk and the Department of National Defence's integration plan.

Included also will be a list of all officers currently under Pacific Command, a Dockyard phone book and 12 photographs of the naval establishment.

Flypast

While the unveiling ceremony takes place RCAF Comox and VU 33 (RCN Air Arm) will stage a fly past. Included in the flight will be three Voodoo jet interceptors, three Neptunes (anti-submarine) and three Navy trackers.

Esquimalt Garden Club plays a part in the afternoon events with a rose show from 2 to 7 p.m. at Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street.

Sports in the afternoon features a softball game at Bullen Park between the Esquimalt Juveniles and HMCS Grilse crewmen.

Children's bands and drill corps competitions begin at 5 p.m. on the Sports Centre parking lot.

The day's activities will reach a peak at 7 p.m. with tennis matches and a lacrosse game at Bullen Park and a 90-minute variety concert on a stage at the rear of the sports centre.

The variety show will feature local singers, dancers and musical instrument artists.

Two Bands

To round out the day two bands will provide dancing music starting at 9 p.m. Square dancing will take place at Jubilee Hall and open-air dancing on the sports centre parking lot.

Carnival rides and food concessions will be in operation all day at Bullen Park. Tea will also be served from 2 to 4:30 p.m. by the Esquimalt Women's Institute and Golden Age Club at Jubilee Hall.

A sunset ceremony originally planned for 8:30 has been cancelled due to earlier commitment by all Greater Victoria cadet corps.

Reigning over all the celebrations will be Esquimalt May Queen Sharlene Streeton. She will be accompanied by her two princesses and her two maidens of honors.

Laymore Saga to Be Relived As Naval Inquiry Under Way

Three days and three nights on a gale-lashed Pacific are being re-lived and re-constructed this week.

Rear-Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast, called a formal naval board of inquiry into the Laymore incident late Monday afternoon.

And hearings began Tuesday at HMC Dockyard. The inquiry is not open to the public or press. A naval spokesman called it a "family affair."

It is not known if a statement of the board's findings will be released when the inquiry, which could extend over several days, is completed.

The four-man board is headed by Capt. W. P. Hayes, commandant of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

NIGHTMARE TRIP

It is investigating in detail the routine ammunition dumping mission of the Laymore which turned into a nightmare.

The Laymore set out Wednesday under tow to the auxiliary vessel Clifton to carry 149 tons of obsolete ammunition to an area about 35 miles off the Island's west coast.

It had completed a similar journey earlier in the week without incident.

But Thursday the two vessels were hit by raging seas and winds gusting to 70 mph. Laymore's rudder jammed and the towline to Clifton broke.

Laymore's role in the operation was that of a barge. Her engines were inoperative because she was undergoing conversion to an oceanographic vessel.

Her 17-man crew jumped over the side to a life raft and were rescued by the Clifton crew after taking a tremendous buffeting by towering seas.

The munitions-laden ship then drifted 100 miles south before divers from HMCS Mackenzie got a line secured to her.

Laymore returned to Rocky Point Sunday afternoon and her cargo was unloaded Monday. She is undergoing repairs today at HMC Dockyard.

When the repairs are completed and a complete survey of the ship is made, she will continue her explosives-dumping trips.

TROUBLESOME

The inquiry is not aimed at matters of a disciplinary nature, a navy official said today.

"It is an automatic follow-up to any incident of a troublesome nature involving personnel and equipment.

"Like any large corporation, the navy plans a thorough investigation.

"The four-man board will review the towing project, weather conditions, stowing of the ammunition, distance travelled and the area of the dump site," he said.

Principal witnesses will include Laymore master Capt. John E. Francois, Cmdr. H. J. Wade of Mackenzie, Capt. Gordon Brown of Clifton and Capt. Robert Hooper of the tug Heatherton.

'Unethical To Boycott Medicare'

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. James Z. Appel, newly installed president of the American Medical Association, says it would be unethical and an act of bad citizenship for doctors to boycott the medicare program if it becomes law.

He urges co-operation by doctors if medicare is enacted, but he promises to continue the AMA's fight against the system.

Appel, a 58-year-old general practitioner and surgeon of Lancaster, Pa., was speaking to the AMA's House of Delegates, which makes policy for the association.

The medicare program now in Congress would provide hospital and nursing home care under social security. It has passed the House of Representatives and Appel said it probably will pass the Senate.

Appel said the medical profession "must actively participate" in the development of medicare rules and regulations, and co-operate with both the letter and intent of the law if the program is enacted.

New Map Cuts Four Sask. MPs

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan representation in Parliament is reduced by four members to 13 and the names of only five present constituencies are retained in the report of the electoral boundaries commission made public today.

The independent commission recommended boundary changes for all present constituencies. Regina City and Saskatoon, the only ridings with a basically urban population, were renamed and expanded to include agricultural areas as part of a plan to combine rural and urban people in all constituencies.

Progressive Conservatives hold all 17 seats in Saskatchewan. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's Prince Albert constituency keeps its name and remains about the same size in terms of area but its population will increase to 72,254 from the present 58,493.

Still Openings In Kinette Swimming Class

Victoria youngsters wanting to learn to swim still have a chance to register in Kinettes-sponsored classes to be held next month.

Officials have announced there are still openings in the courses scheduled for July 5 to 17 and July 19 to 31.

Water at the Kinsmen Gorge Park, where the classes will be taught by qualified Red Cross instructors, is tested twice a week for pollution by Esquimalt health authorities.

To be eligible, youngsters must be at least seven years old by the end of 1965, and must pay a $2 registration fee.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Lee Barkley at EV 8-5309.

COQUITLAM SCORCHED

Prober Calls Council 'Incredibly Stupid'

COQUITLAM (CP)—A government commissioner reporting on a controversial sale of municipal land here has termed the municipal council "incredibly stupid" and the conduct of Reeve James Christmas "reprehensible."

Commissioner Gilmour Clark was called to hold an inquiry in March after Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stepp complained of misuse of land by municipal assessor William Joyce.

Municipally-owned property located next to Joyce's home was purchased for use as a carport for $150. The sale was passed by council June 30, 1964.

Joyce, with municipal clerk Frank Pobst, was suspended when the report went to the provincial municipal affairs department.

The report says Reeve Christmas' appraising the land Joyce wanted to buy was like one trustee setting a price for another trustee.

"I do find . . . certain conduct on the part of the reeve to be reprehensible. I have indicated that I think his assuming the role of appraiser was indiscreet to say the least," said Mr. Clark.

"My finding with respect to council as a body is that it has been incredibly stupid but, with the exception of the reeve, I have found no fault with the individual members except insofar as they have contributed to the general stupidity . . .

'ONE-MAN SHOW'

"It is impossible to read the transcript (of the hearing) without getting the impression that the municipal government is largely a one-man show. Undoubtedly, this has its origin in the earlier days of Mr. Christmas' tenure of office when municipal government was conducted, I am given to understand, in a more casual manner.

"At the present time, however, . . . it would be my view that such conduct is outdated. This is a matter which can safely be left to the electorate."

The report recommended the suspension of Joyce and Pobst, a reprimand for building inspector Theo Wainman, the disposal of the property within 60 days and a change in the Municipal Act to deal with sale of municipal land to municipal officers or servants.

Reeve Christmas said later he expects a special council meeting will discuss the report criticizing the council he has headed for 21 years.

STUDENTS STAGE RIOTS SUPPORTING BEN BELLA

CAIRO (Reuters)—Police wielding staves today charged and dispersed Algerian students marching on the Algerian ambassador's residence here with cries of "We Want Ben Bella."

Earlier there were clashes between about 50 police and students carrying portraits of the deposed Algerian president in the grounds of the embassy. Another clash came when students tried to march down a main street in the fashionable Zamalek district.

About 20 students were taken into custody by police.

AFRO-ASIAN

Summit Meet Still Doubtful

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

ALGIERS (UPI) — Continuing demonstrations by students backing ousted president Ahmed Ben Bella and growing opposition by many "moderate" countries today threatened the scheduled opening of an Afro-Asian summit conference next Tuesday.

But Algerian officials insisted the summit conference will take place even if many of the 50 leaders who accepted invitations drop out at the last moment. The final decision is expected Thursday when many of the 50 foreign ministers meet here.

The fate of the conference has been in the balance ever since Col. Houari Boumedienne overthrew Ben Bella in a lightning coup in the pre-dawn hours Saturday. Ben Bella was a personal friend of many of the Afro-Asian leaders.

DEATH SENTENCE

(Algerian sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said Ben Bella was sentenced to death during a three-hour "trial" by all members of the new revolutionary council following the coup; a similar report was carried in the Beirut newspaper An-Nahar which said he would be executed at end of the Afro-Asian conference. The new regime has said only he is under arrest.)

Boumedienne sent personal messages to a number of leaders saying the summit conference would be held, and Algerian officials told delegates to the British Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London the meeting would be held.

Several earlier have said they would not attend—including the leaders of Tanzania, Kenya, India and Uganda.

Also, in London, leaders of the Commonwealth's 13 Afro-Asian nations decided today to stand by their earlier decision to call for a postponement of the summit talks.

ASK POSTPONEMENT

Sources said the leaders also planned to tell the new Algerian regime they felt the preliminary foreign ministers' meeting, due to open in Algiers Thursday, should also be postponed in view of the situation in Algeria.

In the meantime, many foreign ministers were arriving for Thursday's conference. They included those from the United Arab Republic, Libya, Jordan, Yemen and Nepal. The deputy foreign minister of Indonesia and the secretary of state for foreign affairs of India arrived.

Others present included Chinese Communist foreign minister Chen Yi and the foreign ministers of Communist North Viet Nam, North Korea and a representative of the "National Front for the Liberation of South Viet Nam (the Viet Cong)."

HARD-RUNNING OUTFIELDER

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Provincial police are seeking an outfielder on the Fort William industrial farm baseball team who took off after a line drive Tuesday—and kept going.

Herbert Alexander Smith, 38, serving a short sentence for false pretences, loped into the brush after a hard-hit ball about 6 p.m.

Food Dropped

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Army helicopters today dropped food and supplies to families isolated by heavy snowfalls in mountainous districts of South Africa's Cape Province.

Marshals Cut Chains

NEW YORK (UPI)—Federal marshals dragged 15 civil rights demonstrators from the main entrances of the federal courthouse today after cutting chains linking them to windows and door grilles.

Red Congress Delayed

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party has decided to break its rules and postpone a party congress, indicating indecision or even disagreement among the leaders on basic questions, informed sources said today.

Levees Threatened

GREAT BEND, Kan. (UPI)—The Arkansas River, running nearly three feet above its highest crest in history, threatened today to top levees protecting this west central Kansas community.

UNANIMOUS choice as the British Commonwealth's first secretary-general was Arnold Smith, Canada's 50-year-old assistant deputy external affairs minister. His term of office will run for five years.

First Official Reply by Reds

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today rejected a proposal by the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference to send a four-man peace mission to Moscow, the official Tass news agency reported.

The proposal was presented today by British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan and the envoys from Ghana and Nigeria.

Tass said the Soviet government declined the proposal because it had not been authorized by anybody to conduct talks on a settlement in Viet Nam.

The agency, quoting "available information," said the Soviets told them the peace mission should address themselves to the "victims of aggression"—North Viet Nam and the National Front Liberation (Viet Cong).

★ ★ ★

"They should have also addressed, in the opinion of the Soviet government, the government of the United States with an appeal to stop its interference in Viet Nam," Tass said.

Russia is the first of the three Communist states to give an official reply, although both China and North Viet Nam have made clear in public statements that the mission will not be welcome in Peking and Hanoi.

The three envoys presented the appeal to Premier Alexei Kosygin at the Kremlin. It asked that the prime ministers of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago be admitted to discuss a peace move.

The mission, headed by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, originally was to have included Ceylon but Premier Dudley Senanayake declined on grounds he was too busy.

Dominican Intervention 'Blow To UN'

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin discreetly criticized Tuesday the United States intervention in the Dominican Republic in testimony before the Commons external affairs committee.

Committee members were not so discreet.

Marvin Gelber (L — York South) said the U.S. intervention was a blow to the United Nations and the inter-American system.

The U.S. had turned the Monroe Doctrine inside out. It now wanted to exclude from Latin America not only foreign governments but any domestic government it didn't happen to like.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the U.S. has equated revolution with communism and has reserved to itself the right to intervene when it doesn't agree with the aims of a revolution.

Jack McIntosh (PC — Swift Current—Maple Creek) said he can see no difference between the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and the 1956 Russian intervention in Hungary.

Mr. Martin said the Canadian government believes that unilateral action is not desirable.

The U.S. has been justified, however, in attempting to "clothe its intervention with the international umbrella" of the Organization of American States.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said the dangerous U.S. intervention could not be justified by wordmaking. The principles of the U.N. charter had been contravened.

Chou Wants Meet Held on Schedule

CAIRO (Reuters) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said Tuesday night his government fully endorses the Algerian government's decision that the Afro-Asian conference should be held on schedule.

WILSON REFUSES TO STEP DOWN

LONDON (CP)—After conferring with a Chinese diplomat, Kenya's external affairs minister, Joseph Murumbi, asked Prime Minister Wilson to step down as head of the Commonwealth peace mission. There is no indication, however, that Wilson will do so.

Murumbi and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana held separate talks Tuesday with Hsiang Hsiang-hui, China's charge d'affaires in London. It was understood part of the discussions dealt with the peace mission's prospects of visiting Peking and Hanoi and part with Chinese attempts to persuade the 13 Afro-Asian Commonwealth leaders to attend the Afro-Asian summit at Algiers June 29.

There has been widespread reports in the British press that many of the Afro-Asian leaders are dissatisfied with the choice of Wilson as peace mission leader on the grounds that he is too closely associated with the United States position in the Vietnamese war.

PEARSON UNWILLING

A number of published reports claim that Prime Minister Pearson might be more acceptable to China as mission leader, but a spokesman said Pearson has not been approached and would not favor a change in the existing character of the mission.

Government sources in Ottawa expressed doubt that Pearson would agree to join the mission in any capacity. External Minister Martin reminded questioners in the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday that Pearson originally declined to serve on the mission with Wilson because he felt this would give the group too pro-Western a character.

Canadian government informants said substituting Pearson for Wilson would do little to halt the denunciations from Peking and Hanoi be-

Drought-Hit Farmers Shooting Dairy Herds

BRISBANE (Reuters)—Farmers in one of Australia's most fertile districts—Darling Downs—are shooting some of their dairy herds to save them from starving from drought, it was reported today.

The drought is one of the worst ever in the state of Queensland.

Cows worth the equivalent of $112 a year ago are selling for as little as $13.50, said the general manager of a butter factory. In other Queensland centres, sheep are being sold for 14 cents a head.

Over a wide area of New South Wales today, drought conditions eased after a night of torrential rain, gale-force winds and heavy snowfalls. But thousands of drought - weakened sheep died in the bitter conditions.

JAZY BREAKS 2-MILE MARK

MELUN, France (AP) — Michel Jazy of France defeated Ron Clarke of Australia by about 20 yards today as he bettered the world record for two miles with a clocking of 8:22.6.

The old mark of 8 minutes 26.4 seconds was held by Bob Schul of West Milton, Ohio.

This was the second world record for Jazy during the month of June. On June 9 he bettered the world record for the mile with a clocking of 3:53.6.

Hunger Strike Protests Pact

(Times News Services)

SEOUL—Some 60 opposition members of Parliament today began a 24-hour hunger strike inside the South Korean national assembly.

They are protesting Tuesday's signing in Tokyo of a treaty to establish normal relations between South Korea and Japan.

The hunger strikers, members of the Minjung (masses) party, also decided that after their 24-hour fast they would go to Kimpo Airport Thursday to "block the homecoming" of Foreign Minister Tong Won Lee, who signed the treaty and its associated agreements.

Two top leaders of the party started an indefinite hunger strike Tuesday at the hour of the treaty signing ceremony in Tokyo.

STUDENTS JOIN

About 700 students started hunger strikes against the treaty earlier this week.

The signing came after 14 years of negotiations to establish normal relations for the first time in 60 years between Korea and its pre-war colonial overlord. The treaty must still be ratified by the parliaments of both countries.

The Korean students accuse the government of making "humiliating concessions" to Japan. Leftist opponents of the treaty in Japan contend that it is a step toward a north Asian anti-Communist alliance and a block of unification of North and South Korea.

NO RELIEF

Winds Fan Huge Fire In North

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Winds gusting over the huge Prince George first district Tuesday night and today gave firefighters no relief in their battle against two major forest fires.

A blaze burning through 3,850 acres of spruce 30 miles southeast of here threatened to jump fireguards this morning as winds gusting to 40 mph fanned embers outside its perimeter.

A B.C. Forest Service official said more men and equipment were being moved into try to keep the blaze, tamed for three days, under control.

Winds pushed the 4,000-acre Finlay Forks fire over fireguards Tuesday night, but the 121 men and 13 bulldozers there re-established control this morning, he said.

Insurance Hike Rapped

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, today accused car insurance companies of being in contempt of the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Shelford said in an interview he was shocked to read that insurance companies announced rate increases effective July 1 before a government investigation is completed.

"Any increase before this inquiry is complete and a report is issued would in my opinion be showing direct contempt for the members of the legislature and the public in general which elected us," he said.

Insurance companies apparently will take no notice at all of the government investigation or of the legislature, he said.

IT'S C-DAY MINUS THREE FOR SHUTTERBUGS

Ready, Aim . . . Fire on Saturday

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

All you shutter clickers . . . get ready. It is C-Day minus three.

Camera Day is Saturday when the Victoria Times opens its National Newspaper Snapshot Award Contest to all its readers who are amateur photographers.

An amateur photographer is one who does not make any major part of his living through taking pictures. To him picture-taking is a hobby.

In other words, if you have occasionally sold a picture to a newspaper or have taken pictures for friends and have been reimbursed for your time and materials, you have not lost your amateur standing.

As a matter of fact paradoxically this is one amateur contest where you'll risk making more money in a minute than you'll earn throughout the year. Your entry in the contest will be shooting for a share of $50,000 in luxurious prizes.

BIG PRIZES

Before you can qualify for the big prizes you'll have to win one of the $10 weekly prizes in one of the three categories—The World in Which We Live, People of the World and Animals of the World.

Further, your picture will have to survive the final scramble at the end of the six-week contest, for grand local winner in one of the classes, with a $25 prize.

If you clear these two hurdles—start studying foreign languages—you may be going on a 30-day around-the-world photo safari, with $1,000 spending money in your pocket.

If you are going to win, whether you are a beginner or an advanced amateur photographer, you might do well

Transit Workers Ask Conciliation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union representing about 150 transit workers has asked the provincial labor department to establish a conciliation board in a contract dispute with Pacific Stage Lines, a subsidiary of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

A spokesman for the Amalgamated Transit Union (CLC) said the major issue involved is the system under which spare rivers are allocated work.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mining Issues Hit Year Lows on VSE

Mining stocks hit lows for the year during morning trading today on the Vancouver stock exchange. Losses were general in all sections.

Dundee, the morning's most active trader, dropped nine cents to 65 cents on 89,000 shares.

Lows were hit by Cariboo, down two at 48 cents, Copper Soo down five to 36 cents, National Explorations off one to nine cents, New Cronin down three to 27 cents and New Imperial down 16 cents to $1.75.

Peel was down two to 14 cents and Rodstrom down five to 23 cents, Rolling Hills down two to 40 cents, Texore down two to 22 cents and Torwest down four to 64 cents.

AT TORONTO industrials had fractional losses after being on the upside in light mid-afternoon trading today.

In the main list, Royal Bank, Canadian Westinghouse and Consolidated Paper each fell ¾ to 74½, 72 and 42½, respectively, while Calgary Power dropped 1¼ to 21 and Toronto-Dominion Bank ⅝ to 63⅜.

Dominion Bridge and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce lost ½ apiece to 26¼ and 64. Aluminium fell ⅝ to 29¾.

Dynamic Petroleum dropped 5 cents to $1.07 among penny oils and traded 112,584 shares.

AT NEW YORK early gains faded and the market headed lower late this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Loses of key issues ran from fractions to about a point.

A handful of volatile issues posted wider moves, either way.

U.S. Smelting was a 3-point loser on news of a proposed merger with Mueller Brass which lost a fraction.

Control Data also dropped about 3 but Eastern Air Lines rallied with a gain exceeding 2. American Airlines slumped more than a point.

AT MONTREAL stocks were generally lower in moderate trading today. Banks were lower with Canadienne Nationale down ½. Papers were also lower with Fraser off ½. In utilities Brinco slipped ⅛.

AT LONDON the market today maintained the slightly better appearance established Tuesday but business remained small and best prices were not always maintained.

Nevertheless, leading industrials, although off the top in places, often showed small rises on the day.

Firm features included Hawkers and Courtaulds. Reed Paper was a particularly good market. Bowater recovered an early small fall. Tobaccos generally were firm.

Dollar stocks reflected the improvement in trans-Atlantic markets overnight.

Stock Split By Pipeline Under Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation enabling Interprovincial Pipe Line Co. to make a five-for-one stock split was given second reading in the Commons Tuesday and sent to a House committee for detailed study.

The bill, sponsored by Ian G. Wahn (L—Toronto-St. Paul's), had been under debate for several weeks.

It passed second reading — approval in principle — without a recorded vote after Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) suggested the company should enlarge the split to make it 50 for one.

Mr. Peters said the announced purpose of the stock split is to open the way for more investment in Interprovincial by individual Canadians. This was a commendable motive and a more honest explanation than offered last year when the company suggested the stock split would provide greater participation by its employees.

"That was a lot of eyewash."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye were lower, while feed grains continued steady in light trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Rapeseed fell to new seasonal lows in all futures traded, and new lows were reached in July flax. The October future equalled the seasonal low. Declines were attributed to recessions at Chicago. Soybean rallies at Chicago stimulated occasional rallies locally.

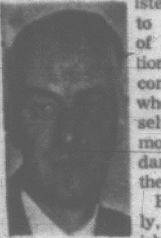
Arthur Mayse

We have been entertaining this week in our genial city a batch of public speakers so gloom-ridden that it's no wonder the rain clouds are gathering. I refer specifically to Messrs. Haig-Brown, Diefenbaker, and Burns.



Naturally, one doesn't expect joy and mirth from prime ministers demoted to be leaders of the opposition, or from commentators who find themselves for the moment on the dark side of the moon.

But, by golly, when British Columbia's foremost writer decides to get into the act, I feel a protest is in order:

No one has ever accused me of being a bluebird upon anybody's window sill. I can view with alarm when an occasion warrants.

However, I absolutely refuse to agree our province is going to hell in a hand-basket, as author, magistrate, angler Haig-Brown seems to have implied after pocketing a writing award cheque for $1,000 at a B.C. government-sponsored dinner.

★ ★ ★

According to reporters there present, the sage of Campbell River was under a delusion. He thought, until reminded by a Canadian Authors' Association official, that the prize consisted of a mere hundred bucks.

If you found yourself all of a sudden nine hundred fish richer than you expected to be, would you then go on to assure an audience that you hated practically everything British Columbia stood for, including a chamber of commerce mentality that favors short-term material gain?

Well, I have spoken on this and that to several Victoria audiences and none has ever tried insulting me with even the shortest-term material gain, unless I count the bottle of after-shave some nice guys in a Gordon Head church club once gave me.

But if someone did sneak up on me with an award big enough to pay my property taxes and buy me a new outboard motor, my inclination would be to sing mighty sweet.

I might go so far as to take a cut at the Bennett government for certain of its more noxious policies. Such dissonances, though, would be but as ice-cream clouds in a summer sky.

As a matter of fact, these remarks by a distinguished British Columbian whose previous performance has earned the goodwill of his fellow citizens puzzles me, even though I share his concern over spoilage of certain natural resources

In Rod Haig-Brown's defence, let me point out that he may have been pulled down by two circumstances that unfailingly turn writer-fishermen or fishermen-writers dour.

One is the losing of a very large trout. When something like that happens to me, I'm snarly for a week after.

Or he may have been suffering from scriveners' block, a temporary malfunction of the inspiration glands which can hurt even worse than losing a trophy fish.

★ ★ ★

We can pass over Mr. Burns' utterances, except to note that they were not designed to stimulate faith in the learned professions, and that the voice which [illegible] drew more listeners at a dollar a head than did Conservative Diefenbaker for free.

As for the Tory chief, all I seem to have got from him is a new set of worries about the asserted Pearson drift toward republicanism, and our provincial premier's chafferings with Japan.

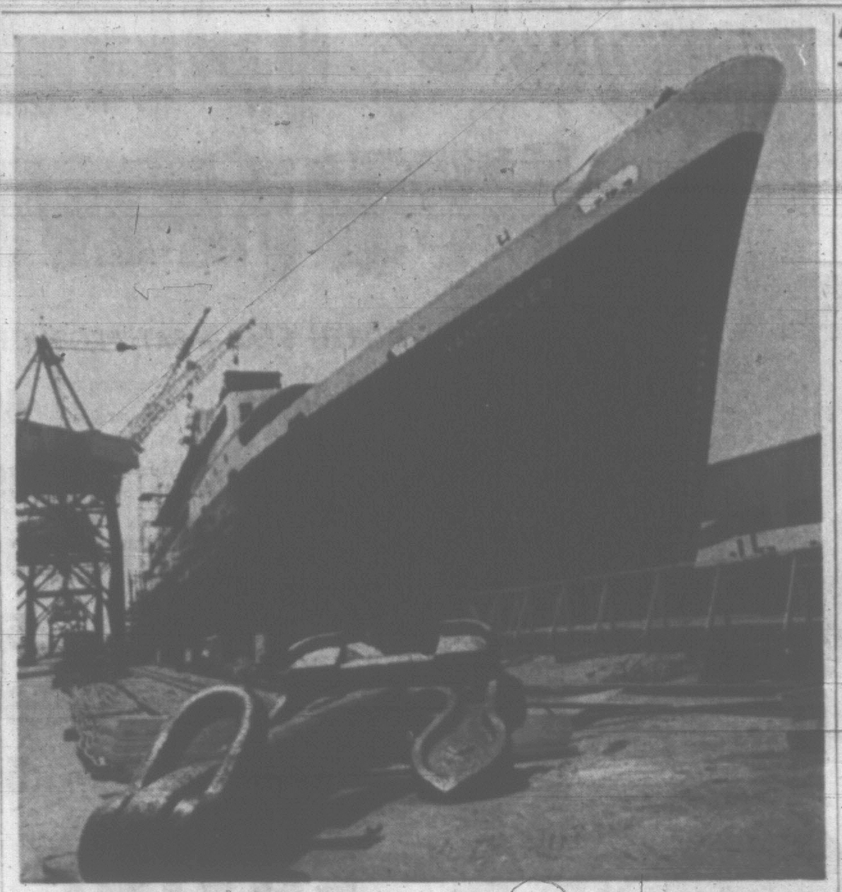
Personally, I've had all the calamity-hollering I can stomach for one week.

At the risk of being considered a heedless hedonist, I intend to make happy talk, think cheerful thoughts, and indulge in pleasant dreams.

Wouldn't it be dandy, for instance, if some mystery benefactor were to bequeath us each a properly skookum short term material gain?

And if that same day, the United States were to beg wise old Britain to master-mind her foreign affairs?

Or even just to wake up tomorrow morning and find the sun shining?



NEW WEATHERSHIP which will ply between Victoria and Station Papa in the Pacific, CCGS Vancouver is poised for launching Tuesday at Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd., North Vancouver. Most modern weather and oceanographic ship in the world, the 404-foot ship is to have powerful new radar and other electronic gear which will bring her cost to about $11 million. Her post is 900 miles off the B.C. coast.

24 Stricken At Hospital, Food Suspected

Health authorities here are investigating a sudden outbreak of stomach disorders among staff and patients at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Fifteen nurses and nine patients were stricken Monday.

Food poisoning is suspected but cannot be confirmed at this time, said Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, chief medical health officer for Victoria.

"The investigation is still going on. It takes some time to do these tests," said Dr. Whitbread.

He said samples of food and other items are being subjected to laboratory examination.

ALL RECOVER

Meantime, hospital officials stated that all of the victims are now over the illness, which was prevalent Monday.

A statement was issued by the hospital following reports to The Times by individuals who had placed the total of persons affected as high as 90.

The hospital reduced the total to 24, adding that the health board examination had exonerated the kitchen staff and all food handlers of any responsibility.

The hospital statement said the patients afflicted were all from one section of the hospital—maternity.

There was some speculation as a result, that only one batch of food was linked with the infection.

It was pointed out that considerable construction is underway at the hospital and workers had been in the vicinity of the food areas which could have resulted in contamination.

Hospital menus have been "limited" in scope because of the construction, the hospital statement added.

Dr. Whitbread said it was impossible at this time to say when a report would be available on the investigation by his department.

No Need Now

The need for strawberry pickers has slackened due to weather conditions slowing down the ripening of berry crops in Saanich.

National Employment Service officials said they have enough pickers for the time being, but more would be needed with the return of warm, sunny days.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the ratio of men and women in B.C. and in Canada?—M.H.B.

A. In B.C. there are 104 men for every 100 women, according to the 1961 census. In Canada, there are 102 men for every 100 women.

Q. What are the duties of the senior medical health officer of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health?—A.D.D.

A. He administers all medical health programs throughout the area.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matter of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

CITY RANKS 21st AVERAGE WAGES

Victoria ranks 21st among Canadian cities in average insome earned by personal taxpayers.

A statistical analysis of 1963 income tax returns just completed by the revenue department shows the average income here was $4,660.

Up-Island points did a little better—Nanaimo was seventh with $4,885 and Alberni eighth with $4,871.

On the mainland, Vancouver ranked 11th with $4,811, New Westminster was 19th at $4,673 and Prince George 24th at $4,559.

No other B.C. cities ranked in the top 25.

The highest average income was recorded by Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., the home of Algoma Steel Co., with $5,314.

Two other Ontario cities, Sarnia, chemicals centre, ($5,300) and Oshawa ($5,260), known for its automotive industry, were second and third. were second and third.

Among major cities, Ottawa was fifth, Toronto ninth, and Montreal 16th.

Navy Postpones Ammo Dumping

The navy's ammunition-dumping program has been postponed because of the near-disaster involving HMCS Laymore, it was announced today.

Navy officials here said the postponement is not the result of the near-foundering of the vessel but because of the time lost in the recovery of the ship.

Laymore was carrying old ammunition to sea last week when mechanical difficulties and heavy seas combined to force the crew to abandon her. She was not returned to port until Sunday.

At the time of her misadventure Laymore still had 700 tons of ammunition ashore waiting her return.

Because of the lost time the vessel will now proceed into a scheduled refit at HMC Dockyard, the navy announced.

The condemned ammunition will now be kept in storage at Rocky Point arsenal until next spring or summer when dumping will begin again.

Laymore will complete her refit in November or December, at a season not suited to the dumping project the navy added. She will be transformed into a research vessel for the Pacific Naval laboratory at HMC Dockyard here.

TOPICS of the DAY

Only 35 seconds separated the first three pigeons in a recent race from Kamloops to Victoria organized by the Capital City Racing Pigeon Association.

First one home, owned by G. Thomas, clocked the distance in three hours, 47 minutes and 20 seconds.

Fifteen seconds later came D. Roe's pigeon followed by W. Gallop, whose pigeon took three hours, 47 minutes and 55 seconds.

Other owners whose pigeons were listed included D. Nellistyn, J. Blackstock, K. Mawdsley, J. Arnaud, C. Woolley, B. Packford and B. McLean.

'SIMPLY SURVEYED THE SCENE'

Car Hors de Combat, Not Dobbin

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A horse which is alleged to have driven a motorist into a ditch was the central figure in a county court action in Victoria Law Courts Tuesday afternoon.

The horse did not appear in court but was described as a three-year-old Welsh pony owned by Robert F. Richardson, 2862 Sooke Road.

"There is no suggestion the horse was an unfriendly beast," said lawyer Brian R. D. Smith, "but it was inadvertently the cause of a serious accident."

$1,141 CLAIMED

Mr. Smith was appearing for Victoria lawyer Louis Lindholm, 2760 Beach Drive. He claimed $1,141 for damages caused to Mr. Lindholm's car when he swerved to avoid the horse and the car crashed into a ditch and rolled over.

The accident occurred on Sept. 12 last at about 9:30 p.m.

Appearing before Judge Montague Drake, Mr. Smith claimed that Mr. Richardson was negligent in failing to keep the horse properly tethered, failing to keep it properly enclosed and omitting to take "all reasonable steps" to ensure that the horse did not wander.

C. O. D. Branson, counsel for Mr. Richardson, denied negligence. He said the horse was tethered with a quarter-inch polyethelene rope. Mr. Smith argued that it was tethered only by a clothes line with a piece of child's plastic skipping rope attached. It was about 20 feet long.

Mr. Smith said Mr. Lindholm was driving west on the Sooke Road, near Mr. Richardson's property, when he suddenly encountered a horse strolling on the public highway.

"He swerved to the left to avoid collision with the horse causing the car to fall into a ditch and roll over."

Mr. Smith said Mr. Lindholm escaped injury but his wife, who was driving with him, sustained slight injuries. The damaged car had to be towed away.

Appearing as a witness, Mr. Richardson said he arrived on the scene soon after the accident.

"What was the horse doing when you got there?" asked Mr. Smith.

"He was simply surveying the scene as anyone else would," Mr. Richardson replied.

ADJOURNED

Mr. Smith claimed that, under the Pound District Act, a horseowner is responsible for keeping his horse properly secured in a pound district.

The hearing adjourned until Friday at 11 a.m. when Mr. Branson will argue that Mr. Richardson was not responsible for the accident.

Reeve Fights Consolidated Court Proposal

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said today the attorney-general's department will be urged to reconsider consolidation of court facilities downtown.

"From an expense, convenience and manpower point of view, we feel this is wrong," he said.

Court facilities now are in centralized in Saanich while the city police station and new courtroom are being completed in Centennial Square.

Saanich has a "beautifully-equipped court" which is ample to serve the needs of the municipality and possibly some outlying centres such as View Royal, Colwood and Central Saanich.

Reeve Curtis said indications from the attorney-general's department have been favorable to consolidation of court facilities downtown.

Referring to complaints of city dwellers who now must journey to Saanich for court, he said:

"If it is inconvenient for the city to come out here, it's going to be just as bad in reverse."

Militia Units Off to Vernon This Weekend

About 1,000 members of B.C. Canadian Army militia units will converge on the city of Vernon this weekend to attend annual summer militia training program at Glenemma Camp.

Among the 10 units taking part in the week-long exercises are the Canadian Scottish Regiment of Victoria, commanded by Lt.-Col. M. W. E. Allan and 155 Company Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, commanded by Major J. F. Rowe..

All units will participate in a series of tactical training field exercises and demonstrations to round out their year's training at local headquarters.

The exercises are designed to illustrate the use of modern weapons and tactics in the ever-changing fighting techniques of today's armies.

The 5th (B.C.) Field Battery of Victoria, commanded by Major T. G. Dalzell, will send about 150 men to Wainwright, Alta., for artillery range firing practice.

Hate Literature Left at Houses

Causeway Prattle Doesn't Rattle; 'Worse Back East'

The Causeway ticket hawkers may be worrying Victoria merchants—but the tourists couldn't care less.

That's how it appeared to a Times crew of two who ran the gauntlet of promoters, boosters and pitchmen who greet summer visitors along the promenade today.

Tuesday it was reported that retail merchants' group, Victoria Chamber of Commerce was undecided whether tourists are being welcomed for themselves or for their money.

Chairman John Cunningham said he found the whole thing "a little offensive."

●

Times staffers Candide Temple and Susan Pelland went to see—and to survey tourist reaction:

"There were quite a few (bus and tally-ho tour salesmen) around. But I guess you just have to ignore them."

"They're just good talkers."

"Nobody twisted our arms."

"We're from Los Angeles. So we're not used to all this nicety."

"It's much worse back east."

"Oh no. We're hunting for tickets instead of being high-pressured."

So said the tourists.

They said also that tour promoters are circulating on the ferries, including the B.C. Ferries, "but you don't have to say yes if you don't want to."

Those who come in with their car don't meet the promoters. But in Black Ball terminal competing tour officials tend to pounce on the visitors—some offering cut rates.

They stand on either side as the passengers come up from the ferry handing out pamphlets and taking names, and shouting information on group rates.

●

Most of the tourists seemed placid about it all.

But the exceptions to the rule were four Washington University girls.

Pam, Gay and Candy Dubigh and Robin Mattson were upset.

"They shoved three or four pamphlets at us and followed us halfway down the street hounding us to take their ride.

"One of the guys offered us a free ride, but we didn't take it.

"Sure, they'd take us out for free, but then we wouldn't get back," said Pam.

Some of those bus operators are real operators, they said.

Pamphlets Called 'Vicious'

Hate literature is being distributed from door to door in Victoria.

Pamphlets viciously attacking the Jehovah's Witness faith have turned up in at least one section of the city.

In a letter to city council Mrs. Violet Cox, 1712 Kings Road, enclosed one of the pamphlets which had been delivered to her door.

She requested city council do something to control the distribution of such literature.

There is nothing in law to control distribution of hate literature from door to door unless it is vulgar or obscene, say city police.

VANCOUVER

The pamphlets are published in Vancouver and give a post office box as an address.

A note on the pamphlet invites readers to send for a supply of more "informative" tracts and also requests the names of Jehovah's Witnesses to whom the tracts could be sent.

The author, the pamphlet informs, is a working man and has sponsored the printing costs.

"But, alas, we cannot begin to keep up with the demand because of lack of funds," says the tract.

The author calls himself a Christian and invites other Christians to pray that the Lord will send in more funds "so that a million copies of this message can go forth."

The pamphlet takes exception to the Jehovah's Witnesses' interpretation of the Bible and suggests that unsuspecting people are being "deluded and deceived by their pernicious teachings."

"The contents of the tracts are vicious and violent," said Mrs. Cox, "and I should think make a lot of people sick."

'Take Over' Natural Gas —Strachan

NDP Leader Robert Strachan today said B.C. Hydro's annual report shows the need for government taking over all natural gas production, transmission and distribution.

He also called on the crown agency to cut its retail rates for natural gas.

Mr. Strachan said the B.C. Hydro financial report released this week shows that public ownership of power utilities can mean lower rates to the consumer but that the B.C. utility is keeping its gas rates higher in order to garner more money for the Peace River construction program.

He said B.C. Hydro power customers are paying $15.62 for the same quantity of gas that is sold to customers in Edmonton for [illegible] and San Francisco for $7.50.

'SOAKED'

The B.C. consumer is being "soaked," he charged:

"First, to force sales of electric power to justify and provide customers for the Peace River development and, secondly, to pay what the traffic will bear to government friend and natural gas monopolist Frank McMahon."

Mr. Strachan said B.C. Hydro has collected $30 million for natural gas that it bought for $10 million.

Freschi Murder

A preliminary hearing into a charge of capital murder against David Robinson will likely be held July 13.

Robinson, a 24-year-old janitor, is charged with the slaying of Susan Freschi, 14, on May 12.

Robinson appeared in Colwood court today and was remanded to next Thursday without a date being set.

The BeEtles Poised to Wage War Against Balsam-Attacking Aphid

Thousands of German beetles will be released within the next few weeks in Thetis Lake Park.

The insects will be used to wage war against a bug which some say could ruin B.C.'s balsam forest reserves.

Forestry officials said the threat comes from an insect one-twentieth of an inch long and known as adelges piceae or the balsam wooly aphid.

It has been in B.C. for some time but in the last few years onutbreaks have been more serious.

The beetle likes to search out the aphid and eat same.

On Vancouver Island, the aphid has spread from Victoria to Courtenay. They have also been found in balsam stands in the Howe Sound area of the lower mainland.

The province's entire inventory of balsam, estimated at 260,000,000 board feet, is in jeopardy unless a solution to the killer aphid is found, forest experts said.

In charge of releasing the German ladybird beetle—pullis implexus—is entomologist Dr. John Harris of the federal research forestry laboratory, Burnside Road.

The B.C. Forestry Service is also co-operating. Two crews, operating in the Duncan and Nanaimo areas, are conducting surveys to determine the extent of damage. Forester Mike Zachary of Victoria is in charge of this program.

Scientists won't know for some time if the beetle will thrive, multiply and become an effective control agent.

The aphid can be controlled by chemicals, but because it tucks itself away in the hidden recesses of the tree it attacks, chemicals are ineffictive when dealing with entire forests.

To break down the fibres of a tree for nourishment, the aphid secretes a fluid directly into the tree, causing malformations in the cell structure.

Sometimes the malformation causes a growth known as "gout," or portions of the tree die through lack of nourishment.

In severe cases, aphids can kill a giant tree in about two years.

Newfoundland and New Brunswick are experiencing serious outbreaks of the insect and over 2,000,000,000 board feet of timber have been killed in Washington and Oregon since 1954.

WATERFRONT

Delightful waterfront at its best on a well-secluded, treed lot. This area abounds in extra large fish. I'm told, and this just isn't another "fish story." Designed for the owners as their final home, every bit of detail was given close scrutiny to make sure this was to be an outstanding property and home — however, sickness has changed their plans. A lovely living room with fireplace greets you from the entrance hall with large view picture windows. Good sized dining room. Knotty pine kitchen with dutch door. 3 good sized bedrooms, 2 full baths. Large finished rumpus with stone fireplace in the full basement. Extra large view sundeck. On a most delightfully landscaped lot with lots of stonework. Double carport. Clear title, this property can be handled with $20,000 down. Full price $36,000. Transit Workers Ask Conciliation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union representing about 150 transit workers has asked the provincial labor department to establish a conciliation board in a contract dispute with Pacific Stage Lines, a subsidiary of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

A spokesman for the Amalgamated Transit Union (CLC) said the major issue involved is the system under which spare rivers are allocated work.

Mining Issues Hit Year Lows on VSE

Mining stocks hit lows for the year during morning trading today on the Vancouver stock exchange. Losses were general in all sections.

Dundee, the morning's most active trader, dropped nine cents to 65 cents on 89,000 shares.

Lows were hit by Cariboo, down two at 48 cents, Copper Soo down five to 36 cents, National Explorations off one to nine cents, New Cronin down three to 27 cents and New Imperial down 16 cents to $1.75.

Peel was down two to 14 cents and Rodstrom down five to 23 cents, Rolling Hills down two to 40 cents, Texore down two to 22 cents and Torwest down four to 64 cents.

AT TORONTO industrials had fractional losses after being on the upside in light mid-afternoon trading today.

In the main list, Royal Bank, Canadian Westinghouse and Consolidated Paper each fell ⅜ to 74½, 72 and 42½, respectively, while Calgary Power dropped 1¼ to 21 and Toronto-Dominion Bank ⅝ to 63⅝.

Dominion Bridge and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce lost ½ apiece to 26¼ and 64. Aluminium fell ⅜ to 29⅝.

Dynamic Petroleum dropped 5 cents to $1.07 among penny oils and traded 112,584 shares.

AT NEW YORK early gains faded and the market headed lower late this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Loses of key issues ran from fractions to about a point.

A handful of volatile issues posted wider moves, either way.

U.S. Smelting was a 3-point loser on news of a proposed merger with Mueller Brass which lost a fraction.

Control Data also dropped about 3 but Eastern Air Lines rallied with a gain exceeding 2. American Airlines slumped more than a point.

AT MONTREAL stocks were generally lower in moderate trading today. Banks were lower with Canadienne Nationale down ½. Papers were also lower with Fraser off ½. In utilities Brinco slipped ⅛.

AT LONDON the market today maintained the slightly better appearance established Tuesday but business remained small and best prices were not always maintained.

Nevertheless, leading industrials, although off the top in places, often showed small rises on the day.

Firm features included Hawkers and Courtaulds. Reed Paper was a particularly good market. Bowater recovered an early small fall. Tobaccos generally were firm.

Dollar stocks reflected the improvement in trans-Atlantic markets overnight.

BRAZIL PAYS $8 MILLIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co. Ltd. has received in full from Brazil arrears payments of more than $8,250,000 due last year, president J. Grant Glassco said Tuesday.

He told the annual meeting that remittances from subsidiary companies to service their debts with the parent firm also are coming forward regularly. This reflects "the great improvement" that has occurred in Brazil's current payments situation, Mr. Glassco said.

Stock Split By Pipeline Under Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation enabling Interprovincial Pipe Line Co. to make a five-for-one stock split was given second reading in the Commons Tuesday and sent to a House committee for detailed study.

The bill, sponsored by Ian G. Wahn (L—Toronto-St. Paul's), had been under debate for several weeks.

It passed second reading — approval in principle — without a recorded vote after Arnold Peters (NDP — Timiskaming) suggested the company should enlarge the split to make it 50 for one.

Mr. Peters said the announced purpose of the stock split is to open the way for more investment in Interprovincial by individual Canadians. This was a commendable motive and a more honest explanation than offered last year when the company suggested the stock split would provide greater participation by its employees.

"That was a lot of eyewash."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye were lower, while feed grains continued steady in light trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Rapeseed fell to new seasonal lows in all futures traded, and new lows were reached in July flax. The October future equalled the seasonal low. Declines were attributed to recessions at Chicago. Soybean rallies at Chicago stimulated occasional rallies locally.

SAANICH FORCE PRAISED

Halt 'Snoopy' Visits, Commissioners Told

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Police commissioners and councillors in Saanich have been warned to cut out snoopy visits to the municipal police force.

In a 58-page report covering all aspects of the force, retired RCMP Supt. John Henry said odd-hour visits in the absence of the chief are a breach of propriety.

This was particularly the case "when the nature and manner of such visits can be construed to be of a surveillance nature."

"Such visits are not calculated to create in the minds of police personnel any respect for those placed in authority over them," said Supt. Henry in his report made public Tuesday night.

Visiting Chief W. A. Pearson on official matters during normal business hours is the prerogative of any citizen, including police commissioners and councillors.

But no subordinate member of the force should be approached without the knowledge of the chief as to the purpose.

Supt. Henry said in 35 years of police work he never experienced such visits.

Improve Morale

He said he made his remarks because he is reluctant to neglect any step that might improve morale.

"The officers and other ranks of the Saanich police force should be trusted to perform their duties without being subjected to questionable methods of overseership," he said.

If police commissioners have no confidence in the chief, "impeachment action should have been taken 'ere to this."

Supt. Henry said there is a correct way for police commissioners to exercise supervision and the rule should never be abrogated without sound justification.

The board, through its chairman, and as a group or by one member if so delegated, may visit or inspect at any time it is deemed necessary for good government of the force.

Observe Standards

A prerequisite to such supervision is to observe "accepted standards" which exist between authority and subordinates.

The Times questioned the three members of the police commission this morning on this aspect of the report.

Lionel Speller said he has no comment.

Stanley Eden said he only visits the police station during business hours and never without seeing the chief.

Reeve Hugh Curtis, commission chairman, said his visits are restricted, almost without exception, first to the chief, or deputy.

His duties since becoming commission chairman after his election as reeve have been limited to when definite business is transacted or to leave material for the fire or police departments.

Act at Fault

Expanding on his remarks, the reeve said perhaps the Municipal Act is basically at fault because it does not spell out in enough detail the actual duties and limitations which should be placed on the police commission.

He hoped the provincial government will seriously consider expanding on these duties and limitations.

From his own observations and what he has been told, "perhaps some members of police commissions have . . . become involved in the day-to-day operation of the department and have in fact paid visits at any time of the day or weekend."

Such visits undoubtedly placed policemen in a "very awkward position" because although responsible to the commission, they are responsible through superior officers and the police chief.

No One Named

"There has been a very great danger that the chain of command has been disturbed," he said.

Supt. Henry does not name any member of the police commission or council in his report.

The report also touched on another controversial subject, the handling of court fines and traffic ticket payments.

At present, the police staff accepts the fines and the sums are delivered daily to the municipal office.

The report recommended these fines be paid directly to the municipal office and Reeve Curtis said this will be done when the new hall next to the police station is opened in the fall.

Force Praised

Supt. Henry praised the Saanich force in general and Chief Pearson in particular.

The force was described as "alert, industrious and conscientious" and it "need not take second place to any other force in appearance and deportment."

Most of the men have backgrounds of training, discipline and experience "that would make them invaluable to any police department."

Tribute must be paid to Chief Pearson for harmony and esprit de corps within the force, said Supt. Henry.

"Certainly his personal qualities of leadership and knowledge of man-management must have contributed in no small way to this sanguine state of affairs," he said.

7-Week Study

Supt. Henry said the most important question in his seven-week study of the force, requested by the police commission, is the number of personnel required.

Saanich didn't stand up too well by comparison with six cities of about the same population.

The municipality has the greatest area, highest aggregate road mileage and, excepting Oshawa, the largest population.

But it has the lowest number of policemen and the least number of vehicles.

To overcome this deficiency, he recommended adding 10 more policemen when the Saanich force, now 43, reaches the authorized strength of 49 at the end of this year.

He also recommended acquisition of four new cars, a motorcyle, an outboard-powered boat and an extra radar unit.

Reeve Curtis said "we will have to have a very good reason for not adopting" the recommended increase in manpower.

Traffic Branch

The report also recomended establishment of an eight-man traffic branch to handle highway violations and reduce accidents.

Reeve Curtis said the report provides the police commission and council with a "graphic outline" of needs and shortcommings.

No decisions have been made on any of the recommendations because the police commission has only had the report one week, he said.

Whether the recommendations are accepted or not will be decided at future meetings.

SAANICH POLICE PROPOSALS

Main recommendations of the Henry report on Saanich police include:

- Increase personnel to 59 from 49;
- Establish a nine-member traffic branch;
- Abolish post of deputy chief when incumbent Joseph Armstrong retires;
- Replace this position with that of inspector;
- Increase number of police cars to 12 from eight and add one motorcycle;
- Acquire a boat with outboard motor;
- Increase radar units to two from one;
- Train one detective in science of fingerprinting and crime scene examination;
- Police department to have its own communications centre rather than fire department handle its calls;
- Increase size of the police force in ration with population increase, using ration of 1.04 personnel per 1,000 residents.

DR Rebels Found Executed

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A team of inter-American criminologists Tuesday reported discovery of the bodies of seven rebel sympathizers alleged to have been executed by junta firing squads in late May.

Team chairman Daniel Schweitzer of Chile said the bodies were dug up on grounds of what was once a Trujillo family property which has since become the state-owned Jockey Club on the city's outskirts.

Schweitzer said his group had evidence at least 11 more rebel victims of junta firing squads could be found buried in an improvised cemetery on a farm 15 miles north of the city. He said eyewitnesses to the executions said they were carried out by police forces loyal to junta chief Maj.-Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera.

The criminologists arrived a week ago at the behest of the OAS investigating complaints by both sides in the Dominican dispute.

PRINCESS BEATRIX

CLAUS VON AMSBERG

Campaign to wed former Nazi officer appears to have been won by The Netherlands crown princess despite public turmoil over her choice. Overnight in The Hague orange swastikas were painted on walls. Anti-German pamphlets have been distributed saying: "Herals Mit Claus" (out with Claus). The engagement is expected to be announced by Queen Juliana on June 28 with a fall wedding.

EYEWITNESSES CHARGE

Prisoners Run Club Gauntlet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eyewitness reports of police brutality to demonstrators jailed in a compound at the State Fairgrounds at Jackson, Miss., were delivered to Congress Tuesday.

Two demonstrators, Maggie Gordon, Lexington, Miss., and Chris Dixon, Holmes County, Miss.; both Negroes, told a group of eight House of Representatives members of beatings.

Dr. David M. French, Washington, vice-president of the medical committee on human rights, urged federal action be taken to assure medical attention to jailed victims of the alleged brutality or at least that his group be given access to the compound.

Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce, who directed operations at the compound, said "99 per cent of those accusations are false."

Pierce said Maggie Gordon "assaulted four police officers and put one of them in the hospital."

She was charged with assault.

Nearly 800 demonstrators were placed in the compound last week after being arrested for attempting to stage protest marches to the Mississippi Capitol. They were charged with parading without a permit.

As of Tuesday, police said 304 remained in the compound, the others having been transferred to regular jails or released on bond.

Three members of the commission on religion and race of the U.S. National Council of Churches who returned from Mississippi earlier Tuesday told of conditions in the compound which they described as a "concentration camp."

In a statement, they reported on interviews with more than 100 prisoners in the compound, listing such cases as these:

—A young man, already wounded, kicked in the head by a guard when medical assistance had been requested.

—Women prisoners subjected to "constant lewd and suggestive" remarks and given medical examinations in the presence of "staring police officers."

—Male prisoners forced to run a gauntlet of club-wielding policemen.

—Prisoners since the first arrests a week ago with no blankets and only a single mattress for every three people.

—Medicine prescribed but not delivered.

—Fumigating sprayers used to dispense choking, eye-smarting gases.

"We are absolutely convinced," the three said, "that the primary purpose of the Jackson concentration camp is not to serve as a place of incarceration but rather to serve as a place to break the spirit, the will, the health and even the body of each individual who dared to assemble peaceably to seek redress of grievances."

Dr. June Finer, Chicago, told the House members and reporters that the medical committee on human rights was denied entrance to the compound even to administer first aid.

'Halting of N-Arms Spread Should Get U.S. Priority'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy called on President Johnson today to give "central priority" to efforts to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Kennedy said in a prepared Senate speech that the United States cannot wait for peace in Southeast Asia or for the solution of any other problem to move against the proliferation of nuclear weapons by at least a dozen countries able to produce them within three years.

"The need to halt the spread of nuclear weapons must be of central priority in American policy," Kennedy said. "Of all our major interests, this now deserves and demands the greatest additional effort."

He said the crisis of the moment often pose urgent questions of grave importance to U.S. security, but these immediate problems, and other like them, "have been with us constantly for 20 years—and will be with us far into the future."

MULTIPLIES EFFECT

"Should nuclear weapons become generally available to the world, however, each such crisis of the moment might well become the last crisis for all mankind."

The New York Democrat said the 1963 limited nuclear test-ban treaty had been hailed as the first of many actions for peace "but we have not yet taken the second step."

Kennedy proposed:

That the United States initiate negotiations with the Soviet Union on a non-proliferation treaty in which all countries—friendly or other-wise — would get a two-power guarantee against nuclear blackmail.

Tigers Protest Working Conditions!

At a recent meeting of the directors of Tigers International, Sales Executive Branch, a resolution was passed protesting excessive work load and lack of fringe benefits. The President pointed out that where tigers were once a relatively leisured class, they now faced a round-the-clock schedule in promoting such diverse products as breakfast foods, gasoline, automobiles and detergents. Many tigers were suffering from stress and exhaustion. It was noted that many humans had discovered "Black Label Beer" to be a pleasant and refreshing beverage which was particularly acceptable after a hard day's work. A committee was set up to investigate the possibility of including an issue of "Black Label Beer" as part of any future working contract.

Nine out of ten working tigers prefer BLACK LABEL BEER!

DUPUIS
. . . appears July 6

VANCOUVER (CP) — Proposed British Columbia legislation restrictin' sale of pesticides is an unnecessary product of mass hysteria a Vancouver chemical manufacturer said Tuesday.

Jack Later, president of Later Chemicals Ltd., made the comment during a panel discussion of the Agricultural Pesticide Technical Society of Canada, one of several affiliated societies of the Agricultural Institute of Canada meeting here this week.

He said the British Columbia government plans to introduce new legislation early next year to amend the Pharmacy Act to provide stricter control of the sale of p'sticides.

"The government has got itself entangled in this mass hysteria," Mr. Later said. "It's been stimulated by newspapers who appeal to the lunatic fringe of people who cause all the trouble."

"A lot of time, money and effort is being expended to fight a problem that doesn't exist," Mr. Later said.

There are no records of deaths or even ill effects from the eating of foodstuffs due to contamination by pesticides, Mr. Later said.

"The purpose of this legislation hasn't been proven yet. The whole chemical industry is disturbed that such legislation could come about for an industry with such a clean record."

The government was willing to implement restrictions on the sale of pesticides while simultaneously building bigger and better liquor stores to sell a product which resulted in death and blight and caused 75 per cent of automobile accidents, he said.

W. O. Keefer of Penticton, regional manager of Niagara Chemicals Ltd., said the public has been overly frightened and confused by sensational publicity.

"Each pesticide incident brings a storm of comment—mostly misinformed," Mr. Keefer said. "The provincial government has moved in this atmosphere."

Quebec MP To Answer Charges

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—Defence lawyers for Yvon Dupuis have served notice that they will resume their efforts July 6 to have influence-peddling charges against the former federal cabinet minister thrown out.

Lawyer Raymond Daoust made the announcement in court Tuesday after Mr. Dupuis was ordered to appear July 6 for voluntary statement, a stage in Quebec legal proceedings at which the defence may attempt to show cause why the case should not go to the trial stage.

In practice, the defence usually waives voluntary statement and proceeds directly to trial. But Mr. Daoust said he will call witnesses and present his case in an attempt to have the charges dismissed.

Mr. Dupuis is charged with having asked for and received $10,000 in 196: to support an application by Roch Deslauriers for a provincial charter to operate a racetrack at nearby St. Luc.

Judge Andre Regnier committed him to voluntary statement on the strength of evidence presented during 10 days of preliminary hearing in March and April.

RESIGNED FROM CABINET

Mr. Dupuis, 38, was the youngest member of Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet when he was appointed minister without portfolio in February, 1964. He resigned from the cabinet last January at the prime minister's request but still represents St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville in the Commons.

The proposed racetrack was to have been built in his riding and Deslauriers has testified he handed Mr. Dupuis $10,000 in cash to use his influence in support of the application.

In a last-ditch bid Tuesday to have the charges dismissed at preliminary hearing, defence laywer Roland Blais argued that Deslauriers' testimony was full of contradictions and that there was no direct evidence to support the assertion that he gave the money to Mr. Dupuis.

Queen Seeks New School For Charles

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, 16, heir to the British throne, may become a student at a school where the uniform is blue jeans and naval sweater.

Sources close to the Royal Family said Tuesday the prince's mother, Queen Elizabeth, soon will visit Atlantic College and if she likes it, the prince may enrol there next fall.

Located near Bridgend overlooking the Bristol Channel, Atlantic College was founded by German-born Dr. Kurt Hahn, who also founded the prince's present school, Gordonstoun.

Atlantic is a junior college which prepares boys for university. Many of the boys at the college are foreigners and from various social levels.

If he passes his examinations, Charles should finish at Gordonstoun in mid-July.

Three Postal Unions Sign Merger Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—The leaders of three national postal unions signed an agreement Tuesday night, which, if accepted by their 19,000 members, will leave the federal government bargaining with one big union.

The presidents and secretaries of the Canadian Postal Employees Association (10,500 members), Federated Association of Letter Carriers (7,800) and Canadian Railway Mail Clerks Fedeartion (500) signed the agreement which calls for the 20-year-old Postal Workers Brotherhood of Canada to:

". . . apply for certification as bargaining agent for the group of employees known as the mail handling group."

The three organizations, all affiliated with the Canadian Labour Congress, have belonged to the brotherhood since 1945 but it served only as a sounding board for common problems.

Leslie Hood, president of the postal employees association, termed the signing a "step forward for all postal employees . . . a major step towards organic unity of all postal workers in Canada."

The three must seek ratification of the agreement at national membership conventions this fall and next spring but all leaders are confident their members would accept the new-look brotherhood.

Behind the signing is the federal government's decision to introduce collective bargaining and arbitration procedures with civil servants early next year.

WITHDRAWAL from further duty in the Jack Ruby case was announced Monday by U.S. district Judge Joe B. Brown in Dallas, Texas. Soundly criticized by the defence in his handling of the Ruby trial last year, and the subject of a dismissal suit, Brown announced his decision in a simple statement with no comment. No successor has been named.

Convicts End Strike

PETROS, Tenn. (UPI) — Seventy-three convicts ended a 20-hour sitdown strike inside a penitentiary-operated coal mine Tuesday and filed out behind four supervisors they had held hostage. Eight guards, armed with pistols and shotguns, watched as the rebellious inmates emerged from the deep shaft that bores about two miles into the rugged Cumberland Mountains.

Lesage Hits Oil Probe Licence

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage expressed indignation in the legislature Tuesday over a federal grant to a Calgary-based company for undersea gas and petroleum exploration rights in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The Quebec premier said his government is "shocked" by the federal government decision awarding the rights to the company.

"It would be difficult to do more to provoke the indignation of the people of Quebec."

The company is Pan-American Petroleum Corp.

Immediate reaction of the provincia' government was to grant a similar licence to the government-owned Hydro-Quebec "to explore for gas and petroleum in the St. Lawrence River and in the whole region which perrtains to it."

Dangerous Beliefs About Tires!

SOVIET REFUSES AUDIENCE TO PEACE MISSION

First Official Reply by Reds

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today rejected a proposal by the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference to send a four-man peace mission to Moscow, the official Tass news agency reported.

The proposal was presented today by British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan and the envoys from Ghana and Nigeria.

Tass said the Soviet government declined the proposal because it had not been authorized by anybody to conduct talks on a settlement in Viet Nam.

The agency, quoting "available information," said the Soviets told them the peace mission should address themselves to the "victims of aggression"—North Viet Nam and the National Front Liberation (Viet Cong).

★ ★ ★

"They should have also addressed, in the opinion of the Soviet government, the government of the United States with an appeal to stop its interference in Viet Nam," Tass said.

Russia is the first of the three Communist states to give an official reply, although both China and North Viet Nam have made clear in public statements that the mission will not be welcome in Peking and Hanoi.

The three envoys presented the appeal to Premier Alexei Kosygin at the Kremlin. It asked that the prime ministers of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago be admitted to discuss a peace move.

The mission, headed by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, originally was to have included Ceylon but Premier Dudley Senanayake declined on grounds he was too busy.

WILSON DECLINES TO STEP DOWN

LONDON (CP)—After conferring with a Chinese diplomat, Kenya's external affairs minister, Joseph Murumbi, asked Prime Minister Wilson to step down as head of the Commonwealth peace mission. There is no indication, however, that Wilson will do so.

Murumbi and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana held separate talks Tuesday with Hsiang Hsiang-hui, China's charge d'affaires in London. It was understood part of the discussions dealt with the peace mission's prospects of visiting Peking and Hanoi and part with Chinese attempts to persuade the 13 Afro-Asian Commonwealth leaders to attend the Afro-Asian summit at Algiers June 29.

There has been widespread reports in the British press that many of the Afro-Asian leaders are dissatisfied with the choice of Wilson as peace mission leader on the grounds that he is too closely associated with the United States position in the Vietnamese war.

PEARSON UNWILLING

A number of published reports claim that Prime Minister Pearson might be more acceptable to China as mission leader, but a spokesman said Pearson has not been approached and would not favor a change in the existing character of the mission.

Government sources in Ottawa expressed doubt that Pearson would agree to join the mission in any capacity. External Minister Martin reminded questioners in the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday that Pearson originally declined to serve on the mission with Wilson because he felt this would give the group too pro-Western a character.

Canadian government informants said substituting Pearson for Wilson would do little to halt the denunciations from Peking and Hanoi be-

Ironically, a light rain was falling on the capital as the debate began.

AFRO-ASIAN

Summit Meet Still Doubtful

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

ALGIERS (UPI)—Continuing demonstrations by students backing ousted president Ahmed Ben Bella and growing opposition by many "moderate" countries today threatened the scheduled opening of an Afro-Asian summit conference next Tuesday.

But Algerian officials insisted the summit conference will take place even if many of the 50 leaders who accepted invitations drop out at the last moment. The final decision is expected Thursday when many of the 50 foreign ministers meet here.

The fate of the conference has been in the balance ever since Col. Houari Boumedienne overthrew Ben Bella in a lightning coup in the pre-dawn hours Saturday. Ben Bella was a personal friend of many of the Afro-Asian leaders.

DEATH SENTENCE

(Algerian sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said Ben Bella was sentenced to death during a three-hour "trial" by all members of the new revolutionary council following the coup; a similar report was carried in the Beirut newspaper An-Nahar which said he would be executed at end of the Afro-Asian conference. The new regime has said only he is under arrest.)

Boumedienne sent personal messages to a number of leaders saying the summit conference would be held, and Algerian officials told delegates to the British Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London the meeting would be held.

Earlier, several said they would not attend—including the leaders of Tanzania, Kenya, India and Uganda.

Also, in London, leaders of the Commonwealth's 13 Afro-Asian nations decided today to stand by their earlier decision to call for a postponement of the summit talks.

ASK POSTPONEMENT

Sources said the leaders also planned to tell the new Algerian regime they felt the preliminary foreign ministers' meeting should also be postponed in view of the situation in Algeria.

In the meantime, many foreign ministers were arriving for Thursday's conference. They included those from the United Arab Republic, Libya, Jordan, Yemen and Nepal. The deputy foreign minister of Indonesia and the secretary of state for foreign affairs of India arrived.

Others present included Chinese Communist foreign minister Chen Yi and the foreign ministers of Communist North Viet Nam, North Korea and a representative of the "National Front for the Liberation of South Viet Nam (the Viet Cong)."

CYRIL SHELFORD . . . shocked

Insurance Hike Rapped

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, today accused car insurance companies of being in contempt of the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Shelford said in an interview he was shocked to read that insurance companies announced rate increases effective July 1 before a government investigation is completed.

"Any increase before this inquiry is complete and a report is issued would in my opinion be showing direct contempt for the members of the legislature and the public in general which elected us," he said.

Insurance companies apparently will take no notice at all of the government investigation or of the legislature, he said.

JAZY BREAKS 2-MILE MARK

MELUN, France (AP)—Michel Jazy of France defeated Ron Clarke of Australia by about 20 yards today as he bettered the world record for two miles with a clocking of 8:22.6.

The old mark of 8 minutes 26.4 seconds was held by Bob Schul of West Milton, Ohio.

This was the second world record for Jazy during the month of June. On June 9 he bettered the world record for the mile with a clocking of 3:53.6.

Dominican Intervention 'Blow To UN'

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin discreetly criticized Tuesday the United States intervention in the Dominican Republic in testimony before the Commons external affairs committee.

Committee members were not so discreet.

Marvin Gelber (L—York South) said the U.S. intervention was a blow to the United Nations and the inter-American system.

The U.S. had turned the Monroe Doctrine inside out. It now wanted to exclude from Latin America not only foreign governments but any domestic government it didn't happen to like.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the U.S. has equated revolution with communism and has reserved to itself the right to intervene when it doesn't agree with the aims of a revolution.

Jack McIntosh (PC—Swift Current—Maple Creek) said he can see no difference between the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and the 1956 Russian intervention in Hungary.

Mr. Martin said the Canadian government believes that unilateral action is not desirable.

The U.S. has been justified, however, in attempting to "clothe its intervention with the international umbrella" of the Organization of American States.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said the dangerous U.S. intervention could not be justified by word-making. The principles of the U.N. charter had been contravened.

UNANIMOUS choice as the British Commonwealth's first secretary-general was Arnold Smith, Canada's 50-year-old assistant deputy external affairs minister. His term of office will run for five years.

Hunger Strike Protests Pact

(Times News Services)

SEOUL—Some 60 opposition members of Parliament today began a 24-hour hunger strike inside the South Korean national assembly.

They are protesting Tuesday's signing in Tokyo of a treaty to establish normal relations between South Korea and Japan.

The hunger strikers, members of the Minjung (masses) party, also decided that after their 24-hour fast they would go to Kimpo Airport Thursday to "block the homecoming" of Foreign Minister Tong Won Lee, who signed the treaty and its associated agreements.

Two top leaders of the party started an indefinite hunger strike Tuesday at the hour of the treaty signing ceremony in Tokyo.

STUDENTS JOIN

About 700 students started hunger strikes against the treaty earlier this week.

The signing came after 14 years of negotiations to establish normal relations for the first time in 60 years between Korea and its pre-war colonial overlord. The treaty must still be ratified by the parliaments of both countries.

The Korean students accuse the government of making "humiliating concessions" to Japan. Leftist opponents of the treaty in Japan contend that it is a step toward a north Asian anti-Communist alliance and a block of unification of North and South Korea.

IT'S C-DAY MINUS THREE FOR SHUTTERBUGS

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

All you shutter clickers . . . get ready. It is C-Day minus three.

Camera Day is Saturday when the Victoria Times opens its National Newspaper Snapshot Award Contest to all its readers who are amateur photographers.

In other words, if you have occasionally sold a picture to a newspaper or have taken pictures for friends and have been reimbursed for your time and materials, you have not lost your amateur standing.

As a matter of fact paradoxically this is one amateur contest where you'll risk making more money in a minute than you'll earn throughout the year. Your entry in the contest will be shooting for a share of $50,000 in luxurious prizes.

BIG PRIZES

Before you can qualify for the big prizes you'll have to win one of the $10 weekly prizes in one of the three categories—The World in Which We Live, People of the World and Animals of the World.

Further, your picture will have to survive the final scramble at the end of the six-week contest, for grand local winner in one of the classes, with a $25 prize.

If you clear these two hurdles—start studying foreign languages—you may be going on a 30-day around-the-world photo safari, with $1,000 spending money in your pocket.

If you are going to win, whether you are a beginner or an advanced amateur photographer, you might do well
